Legion Blanks Moorhead After Loss To Newfolden

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team stands 3-2 in the won-lost column after splitting a pair of games last week with Newfolden and Moorhead.

The local club lost a 7-2 decision to Newfolden in a Northwest Conference game Thursday night but came back for a 2-0 blanking of a strong Moorhead squad Friday evening. Both games were played on the fairground diamond.

Thief River Falls will have a rest until Thursday night when they will travel to Crookston for a conference game. Thief River stands 0-2 in the Northwest standings at the present time.

Newfolden opened up with a quick 2-0 lead after the first inning Thursday night as shortstop Byron Stokke walked, stole second and scored on Ron Oistad's double.

Oistad scored his team's second run on Robert Bjorgaard's double but the latter was tagged out at third trying to stretch his hit into a triple.

Rangy right-hander Morlin Bjornrud sent Thief River Falls down in order in their half of the first as Newfolden raised their lead to 3-0 in the second inning.

Hanson led off Newfolden's second inning with a single and advanced to second on an error. Bjornrud helped his own cause with a double, driving in Hanson for the third run of the game.

Thief River Falls managed to put just one runner on base throughout the third, fourth and fifth innings as center fielder Rob Almquist singled to lead off the third. Bjornrud retired nine straight batters until the sixth inning when shortstop Kim Johnson reached on an error at first base.

A double by second baseman Brian Peterson advanced Johnson to third, but an unassisted double play on a line drive to second helped Newfolden out of the jam.

Newfolden scored three times in the third inning as nine men went to the plate. Three walks and two hits accounted for the runs. The visitors scored a final run in the seventh for the win.

Bjornrud struck out eight and walked just two in going the route for the Newfolden squad which was supported with players from Karlstad. Thief River Falls pitchers Dale Hanson and Pete Sullivan struck out six but walked four men in the seven inning affair.

Thief River Falls received a two hit pitching performance from Brian Peterson against Moorhead Friday night in their 2-0 win. The local club played errorless ball although they were able to collect just one hit, a single by Dale Hanson, off Moorhead pitching.

Next home game for the local legion team will be Tuesday, June 29, against Hallock in a conference game on the fairgrounds diamond.

NEWFOLDEN third baseman Ron Oistad went into foul territory to catch this fly ball in Thursday's American Legion game at Thief River Falls. Shortstop Byron Stokke comes over to give Oistad support during Newfolden's 7-2 win. Next action for the Thief River Falls Legion club will be Thursday at Crookston.

Melvies & VFW Top Softball Standings

Melvies climbed into a first-place tie with VFW Wednesday night in the fast-pitch softball league with an 8-0 blanking of Falls Diesel.

The VFW and Melvies each hold a 2-0 won-lost record for the season and are scheduled to face each other tomorrow night (Tuesday) on the softball diamond.

In other action last week, L. B. Hartz earned their season record at 1-1 with a narrow 4-3 win over Schmidts. It was Schmidts second one-run loss in two games this year.

The standings find Melvies and VFW on top with 2-0 records followed by St. Hilaire and L.B. Hartz, 1-1; while Falls Diesel and Schmidts remain without a win in two games.

The combined pitching of Niebauer and Christiansen held Falls Diesel in check with just two in field hits in seven innings. Christiansen struck out eight batters in four innings for Melvies.

Terry Cardinal supplied the offensive power for Melvies with two hits and four runs batted in out of three trips to the plate.

L. B. Hartz scored four runs in the bottom of the first inning to overcome a 1-0 advantage held by Schmidts. The losers came back to score single runs in the third and sixth innings but Hartz' pitcher Dahl struck out the game's final out with the bases loaded to preserve the 4-3 win. Dahl helped his own cause at the plate with a two for three performance and an rbi.

St. Hilaire and L.B. Hartz will tangle in a 7 p.m. game tonight (Monday) on the fairgrounds diamond while Falls Diesel and Melvies go at it Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Geving Is Elected To RRV History Board

Mrs. Inga Geving, president of the Pennington County Historical society, was elected to the board of directors of the Red River Valley Historical society at its annual meeting held Saturday at the 100-year-old Huot store near the Old Crossing Treaty state park. Mrs. Geving succeeds Mrs. T. I. Tweet of Roseau and will serve a three-year term.

Others elected to the board were J. H. McFadden, Fessenden, N. D., president of the North Dakota Historical society; Lionel Dorge, president of the St. Boniface, Man., Historical society; and Lawrence Hanson, president of the Grand Forks County Historical society.

One of the main concerns at the meeting was preservation of the park site for historical purposes. Consideration is now being given to build a dam which would flood part of the area. Next meeting was tentatively set for August 22 at Pembina, N. D., at the invitation of the Pembina Historical society.

Albany Capistran, who has farmed in the area of the Huot park and along the Pembina Trail for many years, spoke at the Red River Valley meeting. The annual meeting was in the form of a family picnic from noon to 2:30 p.m.

Red River Valley Historical society was formed in 1963 and has grown rapidly since that time. Pennington county is in the central region of the society together with Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater and Beltrami counties in Minnesota and Nelson, Grand Forks, Griggs, Steele and Traill in North Dakota.

Representing Pennington county on the central region's council of advisors are Ernest Swanson, Goodridge; Mrs. K. E. Lindberg, Thief River Falls; and Frank Sweet, St. Hilaire. Pennington County Historical society was cited for work being done this year.

The board of directors and membership present of the society by unanimous vote voiced its total opposition to any water control program, dam, etc., which would in any way destroy this vital and most historic and significant site in the American Red River Valley. "Destruction of this site where the Treaty ceding the major part of the North Dakota and Minnesota Red River Valley to the United States would be a tragedy of the first magnitude," the motion continued.

This motion, made by Mrs. Geving and seconded by E. Neil Mattson, president of the Minnesota Historical society, Warren, also strongly urged and recommended that the state of

Kenneth Ose To Head Sheltered Workshop Here

Kenneth J. Ose, Eagle Lake, has been selected as the director for the new Minnesota Northwest Area Sheltered Workshop, Inc., in Thief River Falls. Ose will assume his position full time July 15 and will serve as a consultant now.

Ose was educated in Thief River Falls and graduated from Moorhead state college with a B.S. degree in industrial arts education. He spent four years in the United States Navy as a signalman and farmed for several years in the Thief River Falls area. He has been an industrial arts teacher at Oak Grove high school in Fargo, N.D., and recently resigned as supervisor of the St. Peter auto reconditioning center in St. Peter. Mr. and Mrs. Ose have three children and will move to Thief River Falls as soon as housing is available.

The Red River Valley Medical society requested a planning grant from the division of vocational rehabilitation in 1970 for a sheltered workshop and assumed responsibility as the sponsoring agency with Dr. Robert Schnabel and Dr. Mersey as co-chairmen. The Association for Retarded Children took a survey of the handicapped and retarded in the seven county area to document the need for a sheltered workshop.

Kenneth Ose as director will have the assistance of a 17-member board selected from the seven counties. The first sheltered workshop will open in Thief River Falls this fall with the next one in Crookston soon after. Satellites are proposed for other counties in the area. Ose will be seeking sub-contracts from local industry. Financial support is also being sought from the seven county area.

Council Airs Range Of Topics Tuesday

In a regular Tuesday night meeting the Thief River Falls city council covered a wide range of topics including positions in the police department, construction of a second municipal liquor store, and doubling water storage for the city.

The council approved a resolution ratifying H. F. 1805, which authorizes the position of special investigator on the city police force and provides that the investigator be drawn from the ranks of city policemen. The law also provides that the police chief be hired for a five year term and that be be allowed successive terms.

The council also heard an opinion by city attorney Robert Wurst that it was legal for the city to lease the land on which to build a second liquor store. Rough plans now under consideration call for a 36 by 30 foot building. The opinion and plans were taken under advisement by the council and the city liquor committee was ordered to meet in the near future for further discussion.

The city engineer and city manager told the council that because of delays with the Minnesota Pollution Control agency, it would be some time yet before plans could be approved for new sewage treatment facilities.

Plans to double the size of water storage capabilities were also discussed, and it was stated that doubling the size would lead not only to a supply of water lasting for longer than one or one and one-half days, but would also save labor and chemical costs.

It was pointed out that workers at the water plant are currently treating water for six hours and then must stop work for three hours or more because capacity storage has been reached. It was also reported that in short water-making sessions of three hours,

Certification Of Set-Aside Acres Early Is Advised

Producers have to certify their compliance under the 1971 set-aside farm programs. Deadline for certification in Marshall county is July 15, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

In most cases, it will be to a producer's advantage to certify his program acres as early as possible. Many producers in Marshall county have completed their certification. Dahl wishes to remind those who have not that they must do so before they can receive any set-aside payments.

To certify, a producer signs a statement at the county ASCS office showing the acreages devoted to various crops under the 1971 farm programs. At the same time, he designates the amount and location of his set-aside acres.

The Marshall county ASCS office is ready to give farmers all possible help in correctly certifying their acres and will be glad to answer any questions or help with problems. They do request, however, that producers have with them their aerial photocopies with the fields outlined.

Producers who certify in time for data to be processed will get checks for their preliminary set-aside program payments as soon after July 1 as possible.

While it's considered wiser not to thaw frozen vegetables prior to cooking (to prevent possible loss of vitamin content and spoilage) . . . there are a few exceptions. For example, corn on the cob, if not thawed before cooking, will be either overcooked or icy in the center. Leafy vegetables will be more uniform if thawed just enough to separate the leaves. If a commercially frozen vegetable is being used, directions on the package [illegible] to follow.

Mrs. N. Hanson At Conference On Elderly

Mrs. Norma Hanson of Goodridge was a delegate to the Minnesota State White House conference on aging held at Gustavus Adolphus college recently. The conference is sponsored by the Governor's citizens council on aging.

The conference represents one of the basic steps in the development of national policy on aging—the goal of the November 1971 White House conference on aging to be held in Washington, D. C.

The Minnesota conference brought together representatives of the older population, providers of services, specialists in the field of aging, key decision makers and youth.

Delegates to the conference were assigned to specific workshops to consider the draft policy proposals which included income, health, housing, nutrition, education, employment, retirement roles and activities, and transportation. The policies developed at the state conference will be forwarded to the National White House conference on aging.

Governor Wendell Anderson delivered the banquet address which concluded the two-day session.

Gov. Anderson Reviews Troops At Guard Camp

Gov. Wendell R. Anderson Sunday reviewed the 3,000 men of the Minnesota National Guard's 47th "Viking" Infantry division at Camp Ripley as the troops conducted their annual summer training parade ceremony.

The governor, on first visit to Camp Ripley as the guard's commander-in-chief, was greeted by a 19-gun artillery salute. He then told the guardsmen that his own "seven to eight" years of Army Reserve service gave him an appreciation of the sacrifices they were making to be available to the state in case of natural disaster, tragedy or civil danger.

He then watched as the troops presented a demonstration of artillery firing, an aircraft flyby and their review parade. He was joined on the reviewing stand by Maj. Gen. Ward S. Ryan, deputy commanding general of the 4th U.S. Army Reserve Northern Area, headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

He also presented the Eisenhower Trophy for the unit judged best last year in the Minnesota Army National Guard to Company D, 747th Maintenance Battalion, Princeton.

The national guardsmen are in the midst of their two-week training period at Camp Ripley. They will return home Sunday.

Dr. MacLean Named Director Of Laboratory

Agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald today announced the appointment of Dr. David B. MacLean, 36, of St. Peter, as director of the laboratory services division of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

The appointment fills a vacancy created through earlier administrative reorganization promotions for two career veterans who have a combined total of over 71 years service in the department, deputy commissioner Ralph J. Godin and administrative supervisor Ragnar E. Bergman.

An Illinois native, Dr. MacLean has been associate professor of chemistry at Gustavus Adolphus college in St. Peter for the past four of his ten years as a teacher of chemistry. He and his wife Carol have three sons.

Dr. MacLean is a graduate of Yale University, New Haven, Conn., and earned his doctor of philosophy degree in organic chemistry at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. in 1962.

His appointment, through the competitive state civil service examination process, boosts the number of Ph. D.'s on the Minnesota department of agriculture staff to five. The others are commissioner Wefald, plant and environmental concerns administrator Rollin M. Denistoun, and laboratory chemists Robert T. MacDonald and Herbert E. Struss.

Prior to his service at Gustavus Adolphus, Dr. MacLean was assistant chemistry professor at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., for three years and at Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Vir., for two years, and research associate in inorganic chemistry at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. for one year. He also served two summers as visiting assistant professor of chemistry at Northwestern University and last summer participated in the National Science Foundation summer research participating program for college teachers at the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.

He is co-author of five major technical publications on chemistry, including a current one titled "A Unified General Chemistry Laboratory," that parallels his new state responsibility.

The officers of the society also were instructed to contact all county historical societies and other heritage groups in the Red River Valley concerning the motion, to consider and pass on it and forward the results of this consideration to all appropriate authorities and agencies.

the chemicals are not fully utilized in the full hour of the cycle and the water produced is of less quality than water handled during a longer purification cycle. The city already owns the land on which the new storage complex would be built.

Northwestern hospital administrator Norman Peterson discussed parking problems with the council, especially in relation to the heavy flow of traffic in front of the convalescent nursing care unit, which the city engineer said has recently been counted at as many as 6,000 cars per day. Peterson will meet with the city traffic committee soon to discuss suggestions, one of which was that a parking lot at the hospital be restricted mainly to staff members from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and be open for public use after that time.

In another topic the council decided to contact the township boards of Rocksbury and North townships concerning vacating rights to County Ditch No. 70 through which effluent from a new waste disposal system west of the city would be channeled to the Red Lake river.

Aldermen Rambeck and Frolland, city engineer D. H. Stewart, and city clerk Bill Fahey were instructed by the council to meet with the town boards to determine their position on the matter.

May Employment Gains Over April In Minnesota

Minnesota nonfarm wage and salary employment rose moderately to 1,298,200 in May, a gain of 1.6 per cent over the 1,276,100 employed in April, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the state department of manpower services said today.

The 20,100 increase is slightly above the average April to May increase during the previous five years, Cushing said.

At the same time the number of unemployed in May reached 92,500, the highest level for the month since 1961, he said. In May, 1961, the number of persons in the labor force who were without jobs was 92,700.

Cushing noted that this year 6,600 fewer persons were unemployed in May than in April. Unemployment usually declines from April to May.

While the actual unemployment rate at 5.4 per cent was down one-half of a percentage point from April, the seasonally adjusted rate rose to 5.6 per cent. The seasonally adjusted April rate was 5.3 per cent. The seasonally adjusted rate a year ago, when 69,200 Minnesotans were unemployed, was 4.4 per cent.

Cushing said the seasonally adjusted figures remove seasonal influences and permit comparisons of unemployment conditions in Minnesota with those of other states and the nation as a whole. The bureau of labor statistics has used seasonally adjusted data for several years.

The adjustment also makes it possible to determine whether unemployment rate changes are due to economic rather than seasonal factors.

Compared with a year ago, nonfarm wage and salary employment was down 6,200, while the net decrease was relatively small. May was the fifteenth consecutive month in which the number of workers was fewer than in the same month of the previous year.

Cushing pointed out that an increase of 11,700 in nonmanufacturing workers helped counter a sharp decrease of 21,000 in manufacturing employment. Approximately 85 per cent of the over-the-year drop was in the production of durable goods, with nonelectrical machinery down 7,400, electrical machinery down 6,400, and the category which includes ordnance and scientific instruments and miscellaneous industries down 3,500.

The rise in nonmanufacturing employment was primarily the result of increases in government, up 6,800, and construction, up 5,700.

Production workers in manufacturing industries earned an average of $148.10 in May for working 39.5 hours at $3.75 per hour. In April, average weekly earnings were $147.26 for working 39.3 hours at $3.74 per hour. Despite an over-the-month decrease of 24 minutes in the average workweek, weekly earnings rose $7.41 from the corresponding month of a year earlier. May marks the ninth consecutive month the average workweek was below 40 hours.

New Minimum Wage Order Signed For Housekeeping Group

Minnesota department of labor and industry under the direction of Commissioner E. I. "Bud" Malone, has announced the issuance of a new minimum wage order for the public housekeeping industry.

"Public Housekeeping Industry" means any industry, business, or establishment, either of a profit or a non-profit making character, providing housing, food, or maintenance services whether operated as a primary business or when incidental to other operations in an establishment not covered by an industry order of the department, and includes, but is not limited to, the following:

Restaurants, night clubs, taverns, bars, cocktail lounges, lunch counters, cafeterias, boarding houses, clubs, and all similar establishments where food in either solid or liquid form is prepared and served to be consumed on the premises; Catering, banquet, box lunch service, drive-ins, and similar establishments which prepare food for consumption on or off the premises.

Also hotels, motels, apartment houses, rooming houses, resorts, camps, clubs, trailer parks, office or loft buildings, and similar establishments offering rental of living, business, or commercial quarters; Hospitals, sanitariums, rest homes, child nurseries, child care institutions, homes for the aged, and similar establishments offering board or lodging in addition to medical, surgical, nursing, convalescent, aged, or child care;

Also schools, colleges, or universities, and similar establishments which provide board or lodging in addition to educational facilities, Establishments contracting for maintenance or cleaning of commercial quarters or living quarters, and establishments providing veterinary or other animal care service.

"Resort" means any establishment providing, offering or selling to the public for the purpose of recreational activities sleeping accommodations with or without meals.

Service employees are any of the following: those whose primary duty is the serving of food and or beverage to patrons and who customarily receive gratuities directly from such patrons or those whose duties are that of a bell-hop and who customarily receive gratuities directly from the patrons they serve. Service employee does not include persons whose primary duties are the preparation or cooking of food or beverage, washing dishes, maintaining or cleaning premises.

The wage order, to be known as Wage Order No. 32, was issued on May 28, 1971, and will become effective in 30 days from the date of issuance. The new wage order provides for minimum wage rates for experienced workers of $1.60 an hour in communities of more than 25,000 population; $1.50 an hour in communities of 3,000 to 25,000 population; $1.45 an hour in communities of less than 3,000 population and in resorts.

The rates for learners during the first 300 hours of employment are $1.40 an hour in communities of more than 25,000 population; $1.30 an hour in communities of 3,000 to 25,000 population; $1.25 an hour in communities of less than 3,000 population and in resorts.

The wage order allows an employer to deduct for meals furnished to his employees at the rate of 85 cents per meal in the largest population classification, 75 cents per meal in the intermediate classification, and 70 cents per meal in the smallest classification and in resorts. An allowance is also made of $1 for each night's lodging furnished by the employer. A tip credit is allowed up to an amount not exceeding 25 per cent of the minimum wage for service employees, providing the employer has signed statements from the employees stating they received in tips an amount equal to or greater than the amount deducted.

The previous wage order for this industry was issued in 1959. The commissioner held a public hearing on the wage order on March 17, 1971, at which time representatives from organizations and interested individuals appeared to furnish testimony concerning the need for and effect of the revised minimums. Commissioner Malone intends to seek an Attorney General's opinion which would create an exclusion for non-profit children's camps. At the present time, they are covered within the newly constructed wage order.

Minnesota's minimum wage law was amended during the regular legislative session to extend coverage to males 21 years of age and over. Prior to these amendments, Minnesota's minimum wage orders applied to females of all ages and males under 21 years of age only. Minnesota's minimum wage orders will now apply to all employees.

Other Minnesota statutes providing for equal pay for equal work and prohibiting discrimination based on sex in the area of employment made it necessary to provide minimum wage protection to all workers regardless of age or sex. The department estimates that at least 50,000 workers in the public housekeeping industry will be affected by the issuance of Wage Order No. 32.

Air Force Will Take Enlistment Of 17-Year-Olds

The Air Force has announced that during the rest of June it will consider enlistment of 17-year-olds who have not completed high school.

While the action lowers the age limit for enlistment by one year, it does not alter established policy of encouraging students to graduate before applying, a spokesman emphasized.

When the 17-year-old—still enrolled in high school or a dropout—indicates a desire to enlist, the Air Force will follow normal procedure to notify his high school counselor and parents, who may wish to persuade him to complete school first.

If he still wishes to join and is qualified, he will be accepted, with parental approval. He could subsequently receive his high school diploma while on active duty, if he continues his schooling. Technical training courses in scores of vocations are also available to all.

High school graduates only 17 years old have been enlisted in the past, but until this month age 18 was the earliest at which non-grads were considered by the Air Force.

Other armed services have long accepted the 17-year-old non high school graduate, observing the same "stay in school" policy.

Horse Shows At State Fair Set

"Gunsmoke" comes to the 1971 Minnesota state fair English horse shows, August 28 through September 1.

Ken Curtis, "Festus" of the long-running television series, will be the featured star of evening performances from Friday, Preparation Day at the fair, through Wednesday. He also will perform at matinees on Saturday and Sunday, August 28 and 29.

A popular attraction returns to the fairgrounds Thursday and Friday, September 2 and 3. RCA championship rodeo action will be presented at a matinee and evening show on Thursday and a matinee on Friday.

Western horse exhibitors take over the Hippodrome Friday evening, September 3. Owners of Quarter Horses, Appaloosas, Arabians, Morgans and Palominos will compete for a part of $45,000 in premiums offered in the fair's horse department. Final performance is a Labor Day matinee.

In addition to fair time action, this year's horse schedule includes a junior show on Thursday, August 26. Both 4-H and Future Farmers of America youngsters will show their animals in this new event.

Monthly Social Security Totals $206,800 In Co.

Social security benefits were going to Pennington county residents at a rate of $206,800 a month at the close of 1970, Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security, said today.

The benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raised the monthly rate of payment by 10 per cent. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits got a five per cent increase.

About one resident out of every [illegible] gets a monthly social security check.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to Jan. 1, 1971. First checks in the new monthly rate reached beneficiaries on June 3. Separate checks representing the amount of the increase for the months of January through April were in the mail on June [illegible].

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Pennington county, 1,810 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 427 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died; 117 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

To illustrate the broad protection of the social security program, Kittelson explained that one beneficiary of every four nationally is under age 60. In Pennington county 398 under 60 are getting social security payments each month.

In this group 222 are children under age 18. They get benefits because a working father or mother is deceased or is getting retirement or disability benefits.

Most of the 54 beneficiaries between 18 and 22 are getting students' benefits. This provision in the law permits benefits to continue up to age 22 if the son or daughter is unmarried and attending school full time. A few in the age 18 to 22 group are getting disability on the parents' records because they became disabled before age 18.

Reference Work Details State's Elected Officials

A new reference work listing Minnesota's elected officials from territorial times to the present will be published June 28 by the Minnesota Historical society. It is "Minnesota Congressmen, Legislators, and Other Elected Officials: An Alphabetical Check List, 1849-1971" compiled by W. F. Toensing of the society's library staff.

"Here, from Aaker to Zwach are the names of the 4,628 men and women who made, administered and judged Minnesota territorial and state laws from 1849—when Minnesota Territory was established—to 1971," wrote Toensing in the introduction.

The entries are arranged alphabetically by surname, followed by years of birth and death, if known, county and post office address, office to which elected and term of service. Two indexes list officials by their positions and by the county from which they were elected.

Members of the Minnesota legislature, 4,359 to be exact, make up the bulk of the list. It also includes all known state and territorial elected officials above the county and municipal level as well as Minnesota members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives. The state offices covered are: governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney general, justices and clerks of the Supreme Court, and elected members of the Railroad and Warehouse commission, now the public service commission.

The framers of the state's constitution, who were members of the 1857 Democratic and Republican constitutional conventions, are also included in the list.

Since the list was limited to elected officials, no appointed officials or district court judges were included.

The new publication is expected to become a handy reference tool for schools, libraries, newspapers and local historical groups, according to June D. Holmquist, managing editor of the Historical Society's Publications department. The price is $3.75.

SYMBOLIC of the decline of Indian culture and loss of traditions is this painting by Harold Graves, student at Red Lake high school at Redlake.

MEA Head Advises Against Preparing For Teaching Jobs

Top elected leader in Minnesota education today urged parents to caution their children against preparing for careers in teaching "because the demand for skilled teachers has reached a new low in our history."

President Robert F. Arnold of the more-than-42,000-member Minnesota Education association (MEA), who's a sixth grade teacher in Richfield's Lincoln Hills elementary school, cites facts and figures on teacher supply and demand to support his contention:

Because of the low level of activity in business and industry, teaching ranks are not being raided as they once were "with these raids draining the top 20 per cent of teaching talent in many areas."

Because birth rates have dropped and remain down, enrollments are down, a drop of 15 per cent in enrollments means that between 5,000 and 7,000 fewer teachers will be needed by 1981 in Minnesota.

A state education department survey of 25 private and public colleges and universities that prepare teachers (conducted this spring) shows that only 940 of 5,828 anticipated graduates have been placed—27 per cent.

Private school sources have pointed out that "excessively high" tuition rates are being criticized by parents who become concerned "because there's no job at graduation".

These are just a few of the points that have been and are being hammered home to us," Arnold continues. "What's the answer?"

The answer, Arnold emphasizes, is a change in basic attitudes—especially on the part of the taxpaying public.

"When people say that there's an oversupply of teachers," Arnold asks, "what are they using for standards?

"Is it oversupply when a classroom teacher faces more than 30 children every day when most teachers should be working with no more than 15?

"Is it oversupply when nearly one-third of our school districts have no counselors for their students?

"Is it oversupply when desperately needed remedial teachers—in reading, speech and other subjects—are not being employed to serve the thousands of students in need?"

These are just a few of the areas that are understaffed in Minnesota's public schools, Arnold continues.

This lack, Arnold points out, not only deprives teacher graduates of the opportunity to employ their hard-won—and expensive—skills, it deprives students in public schools of what they most need: the necessary number of professionally prepared and fully qualified teachers who can assist them in developing their innate abilities as well as preparing them for a productive role in our fast-changing society.

The taxpaying public is calling for economy, Arnold reminds.

There are certain functions, he points out, that cannot be shortchanged in the drive to cut spending.

"A longer school year with greater utilization of staff has been widely heralded as a way to save money and at the same time, improve school curricular opportunities," Arnold explains. "It would also utilize more teachers. We believe it merits consideration and study."

The profession itself must play a more significant role in determining the extent to which colleges and universities prepare teachers who might be incapable of practicing the profession for which they prepare, Arnold adds.

No one concerned with students and education and its processes, Arnold contends, should in any way consider the current situation as being one of an oversupply of teachers.

"It is, in fact," Arnold concludes, "a golden opportunity for bringing up-to-date the staffing of our schools so that our children who have been deprived of needed services will get them and to guarantee that in the future the taxpaying public will continue to receive the kind of public school graduate we'll have to have if our way of life is to be continued and improved."

Craft Shop Now Is Open At St. Hilaire

St. Hilaire Community Action committee has opened a craft shop in what was once the St. Hilaire skating rink warming house to sell items made by area residents, many of whom are elderly or handicapped persons who need the supplemental income or the therapeutic aid of craft-making.

Anyone is welcome to bring craft articles in for sale, with each person setting the sales price on the articles he makes. There is no charge for the service of selling the items, but a ten per cent charge is added to the price to cover costs of operation of the shop.

After the 12 by 16 foot building was obtained it was dragged on skids to its present location on St. Hilaire's main street. Men from Operation Mainstream repaired the building and painted it, as well as constructing display shelves inside and laying the used carpeting, which was donated by Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

Women enrolled in Operation Mainstream painted the inside and will staff the shop with the assistance of Mrs. Shirley Drury, who was instrumental in the development of the shop. Mrs. Drury or Mrs. Mary Lou Lindahl will assist those who are physically unable to bring in their crafts. All labor and materials were donated without cost, and a grand opening is planned in the near future.

Hartz Wins 4-2 In TRF Softball Action

Standings in the men's fast-pitch softball league tightened up a bit more Monday night as L. B. Hartz clipped St. Hilaire 4-2 to move within a half game of the league leaders.

VFW and Melvies, both holding 2-0 loop marks, top the league standings, but they were scheduled to face each other Tuesday evening. Hartz moved up with a 2-1 record as St. Hilaire dropped to 1-2 while Schmidt and Falls Diesel remain on the bottom with 0-2 records.

St. Hilaire took an early 1-0 lead but found themselves behind 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth. Dalager singled home the tying run for St. Hilaire in the home half of the fifth before Harts pushed across single runs in the fifth and sixth innings for the win.

St. Hilaire had many opportunities to score, but their inability to come through with hits at the right time found them stranding ten base runners, including five in the last three innings.

Schmidt and Falls Diesel will face each other tonight (Wednesday) on the softball diamond with each team looking for their first win while VFW and Schmidt meet Friday, June 25. Both games have 7 p.m. starting times.

Applications For Minn. Moose Hunt Are Now Accepted

Postcard applications for Minnesota's 1971 moose season are now being accepted at the Department of Natural Resources in St. Paul. The cards must be filled out correctly and mailed with a postmark of no later than July 10.

A separate drawing will be held to insure that up to 20 per cent of the licenses issued for zones one and three will go to persons residing on agricultural or grazing lands in those zones, as provided in the bill authorizing the season.

Hunters must apply in parties of four and each person can apply only once. All four hunters must apply for the same zone, which must be the area they reside in, for the separate drawing.

Each application must consist of four U.S. Government post cards obtainable at any U.S. Post Office. One post card must be completed by each person giving his name, address, county of residence, social security number and the legal description of the land on which he lives. Each applicant completes his card by placing his address on the stamped side of the card.

After all the cards are completed on both sides, place all the cards in one envelope. Place the word "Resident" in the lower right hand corner on the front of the envelope and address to: Moose Hunt, Department of Natural Resources, Post Office Box 3630, St. Paul, Minnesota 55165.

The drawings for the 400 parties of four hunters will be held the first week in August and applicants will be notified by August 14 whether their name was drawn or not.

The split season hunt will be held October 2-17 and December 4-18, 1971 with one moose of any age or sex per party of four persons being the limit. The license fee is $100 per party and the license is good during either or both parts of the season, but only one moose is allowed for the entire season.

Those applying for the moose license should note that they are not to send in their payment with the applications. Hunters whose names are drawn will be advised by mail on how to make payment and receive their license along with regulations and instructions for the hunt.

Sportsmen who want to take part in the limited moose hunt season who do not live in zones one and three can find out how to apply for a license at county auditors, most hunting and fishing license agents and the Department of Natural Resources.

PLAY BY PLAY ON SPORTS

with Mike Lundgren

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball coach Rocco Wilson has guided his club to a respectable 3-2 record thus far on the campaign in his first season as head coach of the team.

Wilson's biggest problem to overcome is the lack of experienced players on this year's roster. Only two players, Brian Peterson and Dale Hanson, played as seniors for Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school squad this spring. The remaining players on the Legion squad were underclassmen on the Prowler team this spring and there are a few Legion team members who were not on the high school team.

Just two of the infield spots are held by players who saw starting action in the same position this spring. Second base is held down by Peterson while Tom Hanson was the Prowlers' third sacker. Shortstop Kim Johnson did see starting duty at tournament time for the high school squad when Mike Hamilton was forced out of action with a sore back.

Dale Hanson saw starting action for the high school squad but not at first base where he now plays.

Centerfielder Rob Almquist is the only outfielder who saw extensive starting duty in the same position he now holds while all three outfielders were sophomores on the high school team.

Six of the eight positions, excluding pitcher, are held by sophomores while two of the four pitchers Wilson has used are also sophomores.

Although the Legion squad will lose a few games due to mistakes during the season the team should be a contender by the time the tournament action begins during the last week in July.

Former Middle River prepster Kirk Holmes posted a 1-2 won-lost record while pitching for the Moorhead state college varsity baseball team in the 1971 season.

The 6-4 junior compiled an earned run average of 7.07 while appearing in nine games for the Dragons who finished their season with a 13-16 record.

Les Dreschsel has been named the new head football coach at Crookston Central high school, replacing Willard Jantzen.

Drechsel, a former head coach at Ada high school for a number of years, was approached for the job at Detroit Lakes but Crookston offered $12,000 while Detroit Lakes came up with a $9,700 offer.

We've just mailed in our voting ballot for the 1971 major league All-Star team and, although a few selections have a very slim chance of making the squad, it was fun picking the line-up.

Our selections in the American League were: 1b, Norm Cash, Detroit; 2b, Dave Johnson, Baltimore; 3b, Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; ss, Leo Cardenas, Minnesota; and catcher Bill Freehan, Detroit. The outfield was Tony Oliva, Minnesota; Al Kaline, Detroit; and Bobby Murcer, New York.

National League picks were: 1b, Lee May, Cincinnati; 2b, Glenn Beckert, Chicago; 3b, Joe Torre, St. Louis; ss, Maury Wills, Los Angeles; and catcher Manny Sanguillen, Pittsburgh. The outfield consisted of Hank Aaron, Atlanta; Willie Davis, Los Angeles; and Willie Mays, San Francisco.

We left out such notable names as Harmon Killebrew, Boog Powell, Rod Carew, Carl Yastrzemski, Ralph Garr and Johnny Bench because there were men in their positions who were batting with higher percentages this season.

If you haven't voted yet you can pick up a ballot where Gillette products are sold and mail the votes in before June 30.

Deer Eat Selves Out Of Home At St. Croix Park

Park managers at Minnesota's St. Croix state park hope to restore the declining acreage of pine forests there while maintaining a large deer herd that has eaten and destroyed the young pine during winter for many years.

Deer have badly over browsed portions of the approximately 32,000 acre park and have totally eliminated any young pine started through natural regeneration or planting, according to University of Minnesota foresters, A. Fedkenheuer and Henry Hansen.

The problem has been especially perplexing to park managers because park visitors enjoy both deer and the virgin pine forests.

No Fireworks Are Safe, Blindness Society Insists

As Independence Day draws near, ophthalmologists and other physicians around the nation once again face the grim yearly task of treating the hundreds of persons—many of them children—who will be injured by fireworks in the holiday's attendant festivities.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, in what has become its annual appeal to the American public, strongly urges the elimination of all varieties of fireworks from private July Fourth celebrations. All fireworks are dangerous, the society states, from the smallest firecracker to the seemingly-benign sparkler—and there is ample evidence to support this contention.

"Year after year, we continue to receive hundreds of reports of blindness or serious eye damage and other injuries caused by fireworks," reports Wilfred D. David, M. D., the society's executive director. "The so-called common or Class C fireworks are responsible for a tremendous number of injuries, with the 'innocent' little sparkler accounting for more property damage from fire than any other type. The fact that these items can be obtained legally in half of the United States makes the problem a severe one."

Among those fireworks identified as Class C are small firecrackers (1½ inches long or smaller), sparklers, fountains, roman candles, small rockets and similar articles. For many years, the society has been urging legislation to ban fireworks completely from the country, except for use in supervised public displays.

"To date, although the larger Class B fireworks have been declared illegal," Dr. David says, "we have been unable to convince the U. S. Food and Drug Administration that those in the Class C category are sufficiently dangerous to justify their ban. So the decision still rests largely with the public."

The society makes a special appeal to parents to see to it that children are not permitted the use of any form of fireworks, and to see that their children are kept away from anyone who is using them. It is difficult for children to conceptualize the dangers inherent in anything they view as "fun", so it is up to adults to take the complete responsibility. And innocent bystanders frequently become victims.

Celebrate the Fourth of July, by all means, says the society, but celebrate it safely—without fireworks.

Check Capacity Of Camper And Trailer Tires

Travelers with campers and house, boat and utility trailers were advised today by Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund to check their load limits against the capacity of their tires before starting the season.

"A recent survey on a Wisconsin segment of I-94 revealed that one out of five such vehicles was running on overloaded tires," Heaglund said. He explained that the tires were checked against the vehicle weight limits recommended by the yearbook of the tire and rim association.

Various categories of vehicles were found to be overloaded by averages of 32 to 28 per cent. "Overloading not only seriously increases tire wear, it also increases the danger of structural failure, especially at freeway speeds.

"The most common overloading," he said, "occurs on trucks with camper bodies mounted on them. In some cases, the wheels are also overloaded.

"The camper buyer or owner can protect himself against overloaded tires by taking his fully loaded and equipped vehicle to a highway patrol weigh station, which will weigh it without charge, or to a commercial scale house where a small charge will be made.

"Most tires for pickup trucks are labeled as to their load rating and ply strength. The total load rating of all four tires should be at least 10 per cent greater than the actual weight of the fully-loaded vehicle. Tires with two-ply walls, and those with insufficient load rating should be replaced. The owner cannot assume that the original tires are adequate when the vehicle or trailer is fully loaded."

Parents Can Help Children Learn, Specialist Says

An understanding parent is essential to create an atmosphere for learning in the home.

The key to preparing a child to learn is love on the part of parents. Children who grow up in a loving family face the world with an assurance that the world is worth learning about.

Ronald Pitzer, extension family life specialist at the University of Minnesota, lists some ways parents can generate a desire for learning as well as provide the proper atmosphere:

Gain the child's trust. Trust is the greatest ally parents can have. A friendly smile, a reassuring hug or just five minutes' time to listen will help develop a close bond between parent and child and pay off in a happy, receptive, eager-to-learn child.

Provide an atmosphere for learning. Show the child that learning is fun. Allow him freedom to explore with all his senses. Provide him with toys and materials he needs in order to find out about all sorts of things, then encourage him by appreciating his efforts.

Be a good example. Children learn so many things by imitating grownups they love that parents can help merely by being the kind of persons they would like the children to be. If parents want children to be honest, they must be honest. If parents display a real love of learning, the children will sense it and try to copy it.

Talk but listen, too. Because development of language is so important for the child, parents should make opportunities to talk with—not to—the children. Just as important is to listen to them. A walk in the park can lead to talk about nature. Story readings can lead to conversations about many subjects.

Make the child feel important. A child needs to feel that he is important and that what he has learned is important. When he finally learns how to tie his shoes right, praise him, don't say "I thought you'd never learn." A human being does not respond to degradation.

Johnny's questions may be bothersome, but they should tell you he is just eager to learn. It's time to worry if he never asks questions. Simply paying attention to your child, talking to him will make him feel important. When Sue comes home from school with something she has written or drawn, praise it.

For the child the learning process is a journey into an unknown world. The parent can make that world attractive enough so the child wants to make the trip, the university family life specialist says.

Mother of the bride

In a few minutes she will be walking down the aisle. Bruce will be at the altar to meet her, and when they walk out of the church, they will be man and wife.

Even though we have been planning the wedding for weeks, it is hard to believe the time is really here. It seems like only yesterday — though actually it was twenty years ago—that our little girl was christened right in this same church.

What an all-important part of our lives this church has been! I have turned to it both in times of joy and times of sorrow. So has our daughter.

Now, as I slip into my place in the first pew on the left side of the aisle, it is with the wonderful feeling that this church is a part of her, too, and that its teachings will stay with her forever. I could not ask for more.

A world wide total of 1600 transocean SST flights a day would put about as much water into the stratosphere as a single large thunderstorm, and there are 3000 to 6000 such storms around the world every day. The lightning associated with one good thunderstorm will put into the atmosphere more nitrogen oxides (the real polluters) than a fleet of SST transport aircraft in its lifetime.

"This then is determinism: to learn to understand the causes of evil, so that we may induce the causes of reform. Not to be a fatalist, or a slave, a slave of oneself, or a slave of one's surroundings. Wherever we are, not to act and work blindly, but freely and consciously, to anticipate and plan like a worker and collaborator of God." —Thomas G. Masaryk

Tornado Information

Each day with hot, sticky weather brings to mind thoughts of possible severe weather to come—including tornadoes which happen in this area from March through September. In case we should forget, weather advisory reports on radio or television are an almost daily occurrence when hot weather is present.

We have mixed emotions about the "weather watch" released when conditions could produce severe weather. These watches cause undue anxiety to some people. In their frequency and repetition, they tend to become commonplace and ignored by others. In both cases they do more harm than good. We recognize, however, that it is better to be warned than taken by surprise, but few are the people who don't take heed of ominous skies.

While tornadoes do not occur frequently, the destruction which they can create and the uncertainty with which they strike make them a cause for concern. The following information is provided through the office of civil defense:

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A TORNADO: Usually observed as a funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly, and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When close by, it sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes.

TORNADO "WEATHER": Hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. However, many such days occur without tornadoes, and destructive tornadoes have occurred on what started out as a clear, cloudless day.

CLOUDS: Usually familiar thunderstorm clouds are present. An hour or two before a tornado, topsy-turvy clouds appear sometimes bulging down instead of up. The clouds often have a greenish-black color.

PRECIPITATION: Rain, frequently hail, preceding the tornado, with a heavy downpour after it has passed.

TIME OF DAY: Mostly between 3 and 7 p.m., but they have occurred at all hours.

DIRECTION OF TRAVEL: In most cases they move from a westerly direction, usually from the southwest.

LENGTH OF PATH: Usually 10 to 40 miles (the average length is 16 miles), but they may move forward for 300 miles.

WIDTH OF PATH: The average width is about 400 yards, but they have cut swaths over a mile in width.

SPEED OF TRAVEL: 25 to 40 miles per hour average, but they have varied from stotionary to 70 miles per hour.

WIND SPEED: Estimated as high as 300 miles per hour within the tornado.

CAUSES OF DESTRUCTION: (1) Violent winds which uproot trees, destroy buildings, and which create a serious hazard from objects blown through the air. (2) Differences in air pressure which can lift automobiles and can cause buildings to collapse.

"Don't Print That!"

Following editorial from the Burlington Standard Press gives a capsule summary of a newspaperman's thoughts regarding requests for suppression of news happenings:

Newspaper publishers and editors are bombarded constantly by requests to have something "kept out of the paper." Scarcely a day passes that does not find us asked to suppress some item of news, in whole or part."

Often these requests are in the form of appeals from relatives and friends, or the individual involved in a happening of public record and public interest.

Again, the request takes the form of a demand on the part of a subscriber or advertiser, who threatens that, if the editor does not accede to his wishes, the paper will suffer loss of patronage in some form or other.

Many appear to have a mis-conception of the duties and privileges of a newspaper. The primary function of the press is the publication of news. A real newspaper is a mirror of events, chronicled fairly and impartially.

For years this newspaper has endeavored to build and maintain this reader - confidence through absolute fairness in the handling of news. There is nothing fair in the publication of an item regarding so-and-so because he lacks prestige, friends or business connections and then to suppress or alter similar facts when they involve somebody of influence.

Every undersirable happening has its innocent sufferers, friends and relatives of those involved. Before an offense is committed is the time for consideration of the consequences, rather then attaching blame on a newspaper for giving a disinterested report of the incident.

An honest editor does not attempt to act as both judge and jury in his news columns, but seeks to present the facts uncolored and undistorted, regardless of his personal views of outside influences.

Suppression of news is never practical. There is nothing to be gained for those involved to have the truth hidden. Far better to have it out in a straightforward fashion, than to have the exaggerations of gossips enlarge the story to weird proportions.

The Standard Press pledges to its subscribers: Continuation of the policy of publishing the news in a truthful, fair and impartial manner.

Case Of Tax Inequity

Social security tax increases are the subject of this editorial from the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

At long last the evils and inquities of the payroll tax system are being brought out into the light, and a good exposure to sunshine this issue certainly deserves.

Most recently, studies conducted by the Brookings Institute resulted in editorial comment in the International Falls Daily Journal. Columnist David Broder of the Washington Post has been conducting his own personal crusade, pointing out that "Democrats, champions of the average man, are insensitive to the system's injustices.'

Not receiving much public attention is a bill introduced in the congress by Rep. Richard Mills, D-Ark. It is generally referred to as the Welfare Reform and Social Security Bill—and it is going to cost the man with the least ability to pay by far the most money for he has no recourse.

Under this bill the wage base for social security will be boosted from the current $7,800 to $10,200. Broder claims that as a result the payroll tax for a man making slightly less than $200 per week will increase from $405 to $755 per year. And he has no way out.

Unfortunately, this measure will probably zip through congress, as the Democrat-controlled group usually doesn't question to much extent what Mr. Mills seems to want. The so-called "champions of the poor" seem to have slipped a cog someplace along the line and we regret to say that the loyal opposition, the Republicans, do not seem to be doing much about it either—or at least so one would assume from the media reports that have been made available across the nation.

Too many wage earners reply to criticism of the increases in social security by pointing out that half of the increase will be carried by the employer. This is an outmoded and untrue argument. Certainly, the employer pays half of the tax—but the half that the employer pays would under normal circumstances go directly into the workers paycheck if it didn't go to the government. In short, "Employee X" costs so much money per week for what he produces and the guy signing the check could care less whether it goes directly into the employees picket or into the federal welfare or social security fund. He's part of the overhead, no matter how you cut it.

The inequtities in this tax are so glaring they hardly need explanation. The people with the least ability to pay, pay the most. On top of that, the way the system operates today a man and wife, both working, pay a much higher totol social security tax by the end of the year than does a man alone who is fortunate enough to make the same total amount of money in a year as the afore mentioned couple did.

We can well remember just four years ago when the DFL in Minnesota was labelling the tax reform bill of 1967, which included a sales tax, as highly "regressive." Lack of public exposure and pressure, and perhaps lack of courage on the part of the people in congress, has now permitted a major part of the federal tax stucture to become the most regressive in American history. The Democrats, with their whopping majority, are in excellent position to do something about it but apparently have no burning desire to do so. We join Broder, the International Falls newspaper and undoubtedly a growing list of others in hoping that there are men in congress bold enough to expose this charade for what it is—a tax that hits hardest the men and women in the low and middle-income brackets.

There must be a way to bring equity to the social security tax system. To say that it is now getting out of hand has to be the understotement of the year—but the biggest puzzle to us continues to be the apathetic attitude directed toward this travesty by the media, the people and the members of congress.

Borrowed Nonsense

The little boy rushed home from school and excitedly told his father, "Daddy, daddy! We're having a school play and the teacher gave me the part of the husband. I play a man who's been married for 25 years!" The lad's father did not bother to look up from the sports page to offer his comment on the exciting news. "I'll hold off on the congratulations until you get a speaking part."

Birch Coulee—Site of Storybook Battle

Countless western movies have included the stock sequence whereby U.S. Cavalry troops, ambushed and surrounded by Indians, fight valiantly from behind their fallen horses. Outnumbered, the men are down to their last bullets when reinforcements from the fort arrive to save the day.

Although romanticists may not like to hear it, such incidents did not occur during the Indian wars of the 19th century.

Except for one time—in Minnesota, at the battle of Birch Coulee.

On September 2, 1862, troops were sent from Fort Ridgely to bury the casualties from previous Indian Attacks on the Lower Sioux Agency and at Redwood Ferry.

That evening the inexperienced soldiers chose the worst possible campsite—on high ground surrounded by woods and ravines which enabled the Sioux to approach within rifle range while still under cover.

At dawn, 200 warriors opened fire on the camp, killing most of the horses and wounding thirty men in the first few minutes. The soldiers held their position by using tipped wagons and dead horses for barricades, digging trenches with anything they could find—bayonets, knives and tin plates.

With virtually no food or water, they staved off repeated Indian attacks for 31 hours. So fierce was the fighting, that the shouts and clatter of battle were heard at Fort Ridgely more than 14 miles away.

When reinforcements from the fort arrived to lift the siege and drive off the attackers, they found 30 men and 90 horses dead. Forty-seven men were severely wounded, the remainder sustaining wounds of serious degree almost to a man.

Today, granite monuments outline the action on the battlefield which has become Birch Coulee State Park just north of Morton.

During the course of the 1862 war, the Indians were ultimately driven west from Minnesota onto the plains, where the battles took on an entirely different character. The drama of the Birch Coulee conflict was never duplicated.

Except, in those western movies.

notes from the governor

Does our system work?

In recent speeches, at Boys State in St. Peter and at the state VFW convention in Bemidji, I tried to explain why I think it can, even though it now often falls short of the mark.

In 1958, while still a student at the University of Minnesota Law School, I attended my first precinct caucus. To my surprise, I was elected precinct captain. I was elected not because I was the best candidate. I was the only candidate.

That almost accidental launching pad led in 1958 to my endorsement for the State House of Representatives, and to my election that fall from the East Side of St. Paul.

The success was gratifying. But it bothered me that people showed so little interest and so much apathy toward our political processes. It frightened me to think that in such a very short time, a person could be in a position of responsibility, where he could do a great deal of good or a great deal of harm.

I know it is difficult to have faith in our political parties, in our government, at a time when our cities are crumbling, when we continue our involvement in a war that is a tragedy unlike any other in our history, when the water we drink and the air we breathe are being poisoned more each day.

Many politicians, many voters, have failed our system, but my own experience shows me there is no issue we cannot resolve if we have faith in our system and participate in it.

Edmund Burke once said "that the only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."

Think of Burke's words when the question is asked, "Does our system work?"

Onion Popovers

Popovers are popping up in new flavors.

Some foods never lose their appeal, and some recipes change little over the centuries — like popovers, once hawked on the streets of merrie old London and still a favorite. Today, a package of onion soup mix transforms this classic into a bread with real 21st century taste and convenience.

Serve Onion Popovers anytime a ho hum meal needs rescue. Try this trick: split popovers and fill the hollow centers with creamed vegetables, seafood salads or scrambled eggs.

There is no danger of overmixing this steam leavened bread, so let your mixer go to work on that thin batter. A vigorous beating develops the gluten in flour and creates the elasticity necessary for "popping over."

Popovers have another old fashioned but up-to-date virtue — nutrition. Thanks to the modern enrichment process of flour, all homemade bread contains essential B vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

ONION POPOVERS

8 large or 11 small popovers

3 eggs, well beaten	1 tablespoon oil
1 cup milk	1 cup enriched flour*
2 tablespoons dry onion soup mix

Combine eggs, milk, onion soup mix and oil. Blend in flour until smooth. Beat 1 minute with electric mixer on medium speed or 3 minutes with rotary beater. Fill greased popover pans or custard cups half full. Bake in preheated 425° oven 40 to 45 minutes, or until brown and firm to touch. For crisper popovers prick sides to release steam and reduce oven temperature to 350°. Bake 20 minutes longer.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup, level. Do not scoop

It's Fried Chicken For A Fun Fourth

HOLIDAY TIME IS CHICKEN TIME . . . Picnic Fried Chicken celebrates the Fourth of July in splendid fashion. Serve with crisp greens, follow with succulent watermelon slices, and you have the best possible festive fare.

Summer just isn't summer without fried chicken picnics filled with fun. Since the Fourth of July is traditional family picnic time, gather your group together, toss in balls and frisbies, pack the chicken dinner and head for the sun.

Here's how to make the best fried chicken you ever tasted. The National Broiler Council reminds you that chicken is high in protein so your picnic meal will be nourishing as well as delectable. Refrigerate the cooked chicken well before leaving for the picnic site. Tote it wrapped in foil or in plastic containers. If you have a long drive ahead and the day is hot, carry the chicken in an insulated bag packed with ice.

Best Ever Picnic Fried Chicken

- 2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
- 1½ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Vegetable oil or shortening

Wash chicken; do not dry. Combine flour, Ac'cent, salt, thyme and paprika in pie plate. Beat egg in another pie plate; add milk and lemon juice and mix well. Roll chicken pieces in seasoned flour, dip in egg mixture, and then roll again in seasoned flour. Let chicken stand at least 30 minutes for the coating to dry; roll in flour again if coating is moist. Have fat ¼ inch deep in 1 very large or 2 medium skillets. Heat fat (if thermometer is used, heat to 375°F. for oil or 365° for shortening). Add chicken pieces, skin side down. Cook until golden brown on one side, about 10 minutes. Turn and brown other side, 5 to 10 minutes. Reduce heat, cover skillet, and cook 25 minutes, or until done. Drain on absorbent paper. Chill immediately. Take to picnic in insulated cooler.
YIELD: 8 servings

MODERN LIVING THE CAREFREE WAY

BY BETSY PARKES

A new radio, which tells a tale of bicycles and megacycles has just been introduced on a wave of enthusiasm and received an excellent reception. It signals a new era in compatibility between bicycling and broadcasting.

It's a sound decision to tone up the handle bars of a bike with an Arvin solid state Bike/Table/Portable radio that will really turn you on. It can be used on children's bicycles, on an exercycle at home or in the gym, and on a small motorcycle. These uses encompass all age groups.

Playing anywhere, anytime, it's easy to install. A mounting bracket and unique locking lever keep the radio solidly attached to a bicycle handlebar. To remove the radio from the bicycle you simply slide the locking lever.

Think of the fun you can have taking the radio to parties, to the beach or as a companion while doing homework. The instant play chassis coupled with a big Velvet Voice waterproof speaker, gives you a radio that's long in life and big in sound.

To amplify on its other advantages, the radio features instant play, easy direct drive tuning, an internal ferrite rod antenna, an amber safety reflector, a push-button horn, "C" cell battery, and a red and white impact-resistant case of molded plastic.

Bicyclists all over the country are now being carried away with it.

Offer New Program At Junior College

New program offered next fall at Northland state junior college at Thief River Falls and at junior colleges throughout Minnesota is "Cooperative Education in Human Services", offering up to 12 credit hours in lab-supervised work experience in political science, sociology and psychology.

Cooperative education, in its first official year after an experimental project at Northland during the last school year, is a program in which employers and the college "cooperate" in providing integrated quality education to the students. The program currently is limited to those students whose career goal would lead them into the field of human services.

The junior college will offer the classroom experience, and the

Arctic To Sell 350,000 Shares Of Common Stock

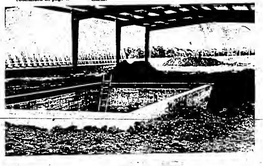
Arctic Enterprises, Inc., has announced it has filed with the securities and exchange commission, a registration statement covering a proposed offering of 350,000 shares of common stock. The underwriting syndicate will be managed by Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, Incorporated and Dain, Kalman and Quail, Incorporated.

Of the shares being offered, the company intends to sell 340,000 shares while certain stockholders will offer the remaining 10,000 shares. As of May 31, 1971, there were 2,647,631 shares of common stock outstanding.

The net proceeds to be received by the company will be used to reduce short term bank borrowings of the company which were incurred primarily for increased receivables, inventory and other working capital purposes.

The Thief River Falls corporation manufactures and distributes snowmobiles, boats, lawn mowers and other recreational products.

Upon completion of the offering, the company intends to file an application for the listing of its stock on the New York stock exchange. Arctic's common stock is currently traded on the American stock exchange.



NEW EQUIPMENT is being added to the alfalfa pelleting plant north of Thief River Falls on highway 32. Installed late last week was a forage tub grinder, shown on the truck as it was being hauled into place preparatory to unloading. The grinder will permit baled and loose hay to be pushed into the tub with a tractor and loader, eliminating the conveyor belt previously used. Since the grinder cuts hay into shorter lengths than the shredder previously used, it is expected to improve efficiency of the hammermill and increase the per-hour capacity of the plant. In the photo at left is the poured concrete pit into which the tub grinder was installed. Steel decking covers the pit area and the ground hay is carried by air pressure to the remainder of the pelleting operation. Cutting of the first crop of hay is now underway in the area and the plant is taking delivery for processing.

Approximately 350 persons from five states attended the Minnesota Polled Hereford field day Friday at the Don Knutson farm eight miles east of Thief River Falls. The Knutsons were co-hosts to the event with Stauning Bros. of Beltrami.

Mark Simpson totaled 236 points in the judging rounds held Friday morning, eight points above the top Future Farmers of America judge and only one point below the men's division champion.

Simpson's high total helped his East Valley 4-H club team win the 4-H team championship. Other team members were Ronnie and David McBride, ages 15 and 14 respectively. The team totaled 625 points.

Steve Winter of Hallock was the high individual judge in FFA competition with 228 points but the Goodridge team won the FFA division team title with 601 points. Members of the team were Fred Parnow, Bob Halvorson and Lynn Vad.

Sawmill, Threshing Planned For Jubilee

Operating sawmill and steam threshing rig will be part of the emphasis on agriculture at the Diamond Jubilee celebration in Thief River Falls September 16-17-18-19. Approximately eight hours of sawing lumber, eight hours of threshing grain and four hours of sawing wood are being planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the jubilee.

Vernon Nelson, chairman of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce and head of the agricultural aspects of the Diamond Jubilee, said that a display of antique farm machinery is also being planned. Nelson's committee includes Leonard Furuseth, Louis Stenseth, Art Stenberg, Ernest Swanson, Alfred Longren, Henry Johnson, Eugene Rondorf, Wallace Wiskow and Delmar Hagen.

"We are planning for a steam threshing bee, a sawmill to saw lumber, a miniature steam threshing rig also operating and a display of antique farm implements, many to be furnished through the courtesy of local implement dealers," Nelson said. "We also plan to have a saw rig operating to saw up the slabs as we saw lumber. These will be given away for fireplace wood."

The wood thresher to be used for the steam-powered threshing is owned by Henry Johnson. Eugene Rondorf will furnish the sawmill which will be powered by a Rumley Oil Pull tractor. Oats for the threshing bee is being raised by Art Stenberg and will be cut with Henry Johnson's horse-drawn binder.

"We plan to have a shocking bee with merchants shocking the oats and also a stacking bee with merchants hauling the bundles," Nelson said. "Oats bundles will be hauled with horses from the stacks on the Stenberg farm to the threshing site. Grain will be hauled to the elevator with horses. We do plan to have a baler on hand to bale straw from the threshing bee."

The threshing operations will start at 2 p.m. Thursday, September 16, with miniature threshing running from 2:30 to 3 p.m. and the sawmill from 3 to 3:30. Wood sawing will be done from 3:30 to 4 p.m., when the threshing will start again. The same hours will be observed on September 17. The schedule will start at 10 a.m. Saturday, with operations closing down for the parade and starting again for the evening.

Site for all of the activity will be in the area west of the Red Lake river and south of highway 1 at the Eighth street bridge. Much of the area was filled when the river was dredged several years ago.

Nelson has invited anyone with antique farm equipment who would be willing to place it on display to contact him so that arrangements can be made.

Following last week's article, regarding dieting, someone contributed a recipe for diet cake. This cake is especially suited for those with an excess weight problem. Even husbands, who pay the bills, will enjoy the frosting.

Diet Delight cake

2 cups honest desire to lose weight

3½ tablespoons disgust for failure to lose in the past

1½ cups solid determination to stick to the diet

Sift together and set aside.

Method: Combine all excuses for weight gain, discarding all desserts. Cover with one cup boiling shame and pour over a weakened backbone. Let stand until bone stiffens. Combine the two mixtures and season with honesty in recording calories. Beat 10 minutes for exercise. Bake until desired weight is attained. When goal is reached, cool and frost with a new wardrobe of stylish clothes.

Today's recipe comes from Mrs. Keith Maidment of this city. We are grateful to her for providing us with a recipe on such short notice.

Pumpkin Bread

3 and one-third cups flour
2 and two-thirds cups sugar
½ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves

Combine above ingredients and sift together.

In large bowl combine:
2 cups pumpkin (18 oz., can)
Two-third cups shortening
Two-third cups water

Beat well and add dry ingredients. Beat two minutes. Add 4 beaten eggs. Mix one minute and stir in ½ cup chopped nuts.

Bake in two large, greased loaf pans for 60 to 70 minutes in a 350 degree oven. This bread freezes well.

The Maidments have lived in this city since November. Although they attended school and grew up in this area, they worked in Minneapolis before their marriage and also lived there for a time afterwards. They have one daughter, Kristy, who is three years old.

Mrs. Maidment is employed in the office at Arctic Enterprises and her husband is employed by Prichard Bros., Inc.

The radiation at 60 to 65,000 feet where the SST will fly generally is about the same as it is in New York City at ground level. Radiation dosage is a product of level of dosage multiplied by time of exposure. Therefore, the passengers on a 2.5 hour transatlantic SST flight probably would absorb less radiation than the passenger would during a 6.75 hour flight on the jets of today.

LOCAL NEWS

Following the wedding, all motored to California to their former home at Manhattan Beach. They also made a trip into Mexico. Returning with them to Thief River Falls was Mrs. V. C. Berg of Los Angeles, Calif., and formerly of this city. She has been a houseguest at the Seramstad home along with Mrs. Signe Sunsdahl of East Grand Forks.

Visitors at the home of H. B. Rafteseth the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Becker and daughter, Bonnie of Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada. The Beckers are longtime friends of Mr. Rafteseth and he has visited them many times in the past 15 years. The couple lives on a 2,200 acre farm which is devoted to raising 200 head of beef and 450 acres of grain.

Mr. and Mrs. Belore Bersed accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoefer to Minneapolis last week. There the Berseds visited their son and family and a great-granddaughter who had just arrived from Italy with her parents. They also attended the wedding of their great niece, Yvonne Morin. Before returning home, they also visited with a number of friends and relatives in that area.

Mrs. Richard Seramstad, the former Elizabeth Kamp, left by plane Thursday morning for New York City to attend funeral services for her grandmother.

FHA Workers Honored For Emergency Aid

Lynn R. Peterson, Albert H. Mattson, Connie R. Ferber, Sue Charles and Rudolph Hanson, Farmers Home Administration employees at Thief River Falls, were honored at an awards ceremony recently for their work in administering the major disaster emergency loan program brought about by flooding and excessive rains in May and June of 1970.

Pennington and Red Lake counties made 888 loans amounting to $3,255,271 to enable local farmers to continue their normal farming operations. Direct cancellations, given as compensation for crop losses, totaled $2,119,640 for farmers in the two counties.

Altogether there were 11 counties in the major disaster area. The nine counties in the Seventh Congressional district of northwestern Minnesota loaned out approximately $26.5 million and loans are still being made.

It is estimated that $27 million will be borrowed by farmers through the end of June, when the program ends. Approximately $11 million in direct cancellations will have been given to area farmers.

FHA offices involved in the seventh district were at Ada, Baudette, Bemidji, Crookston, Hallock, McIntosh, Roseau, Thief River Falls and Warren. Daerel A. Bunn, assistant administrator of farmer programs for the FHA, of Washington, D.C., presented the awards to the FHA workers.

Symbols Replace Wording On Signs

Sign painters, in time, may not have to read—that is, if the European trend of wordless signing catches on in this country.

Europeans were driven to symbols over 20 years ago by language difficulties. On the continent a motorist could be in several different countries, each with its own language and laws, on a short trip. Therefore, uniformity and wordlessness were needed for efficient traffic control.

Britain replaced 1.6 million signs with the new symbols type for a cost of $40 million in 1964. No immediate, wholesale switch is likely in this country, but new signs are made and installed all the time.

Recently, the Federal Highway Administration recommended to state and local traffic authorities a set of traffic signs without words—just symbols.

Already this fall, four National Park Service (NPS) areas will use the internationally accepted symbols. Colonial National Historical Park, Va.; Herbert Hoover National Historic Site, Ia.; Minute Man National Historical Park, Mass., and Yosemite National Park, Calif., will all be equipped with the new signs.

The goal of the park service is have all NPS areas installed with the symbol-type signs by July, 1973. The 77 symbols used by the NPS were developed by the park service in conjunction with U.S. designers and United Nations communications experts.

An example of one of the new signs would be the white silhouette of a gasoline pump on a background of brown, gray-blue or green means a service station. The symbol might also include a number, indicating mileage to the station, and a directional arrow to show where the station is.

Another new symbol in the parks, a fish with a hook dangling overhead, tells the sportsman all he wants to know—except whether they're biting. A red slash through the fish will advise that no fishing is allowed and if there is no hook in the symbol with the fish it means "fish hatchery."

But the symbols are not all that is new in the overhaul of signs in the National Park System. All aspects—design, size, color and construction have been meticulously researched. Even a special type face, National Park Service Modified Clarendon, has been adopted for use where lettering is absolutely necessary such as on parkway informational signs.

Wherever necessary, breakaway posts will be used along parkways to minimize personal injury in the event vehicles collide with signs.

And even these supporting posts will be made of materials that blend into park features. Stanchions will be of weathering steel rectangular tubing that never requires paint.

Background colors, for the symbols will be selected according to how they blend or contrast with the natural features of the area. For instance, a brown background might not be easily spotted in a desert area, but a gray blue or green sign would stand out.

National Park Service sign-experts are convinced that the symbols will communicate more effectively with park visitors. Even pre-school age children get a message from symbols that words could not relay to them. And a symbol along a highway provides information that might be missed by a family in a car moving past a printed sign at 45 miles an hour.

Communication is only one objective of the new sign symbol program. Another is to have signs in harmony with environment. As NPS Director George Hartzog put it, "Our signs must reflect the quality of the areas we administer."

Already in Minnesota a large part of the driver's license examination is focused on the applicant knowing what signs mean by their shape, as seen long before he gets close enough to read the message. The "Do Not Pass" and "Stop" shapes are particularly distinctive, and need to be.

New Service For Post Office Begins Thursday

Inauguration of the new United States postal service on July 1 will be celebrated in Washington, D.C., and in every post office across the country, the postmasters in Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire have announced.

Postmasters R.J. Dryden of Thief River Falls and Ragnvald Asker of St. Hilaire said that all members of the community are invited to visit the local post office on July 1. Visitors to the post office will be given a souvenir envelope imprinted with the old and new insignia of the postal service.

The same envelope will also be made available in limited numbers as a first day cancelation by stamping half the souvenir envelopes in advance. These envelopes will cost eight cents each. This is the first time that first day covers have been available in all U.S. post offices.

Photographic displays at the Thief River Falls post office showing model postal service jobs and functions will help visitors learn more about the men and women of the postal service and how each mail user can help them to serve the community better, Dryden said.

Dedication ceremonies in Washington will be hosted by Postmaster General William M. Blount. Honored guests at the dedication will include members of Congress, former postmasters general, and the board of governors of the new postal service and their wives, as well as assistant postmasters general, headquarters personnel, and other dignitaries.

State Inspects School Buses

Under a new law enacted by the legislature, all school buses must be inspected annually, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund announced today.

Within 13 months from January 1 next year, the effective date of the act, owners and drivers of all school buses operating in the state must display a certificate stating that the bus complies with the applicable provisions of state law relating to construction, design, equipment and color. Thereafter, the vehicle must be inspected at least once each school year.

The new law also requires that the Minnesota highway patrol conduct the inspections.

Inspection of school buses by the patrol is not new, since these checks have been conducted annually for several years. This is the first time, however, that inspection is required by law.

Rules and regulations for the inspections and for issuance and display of distinctive inspection certificates will be provided by the commissioner of public safety.

Forest Fires Aid Growth Of Forests

by Bill Hafling
University of Minnesota
Science Writer

"Fire should be prevented at all costs," says Smokey the Bear.

"Not so," argues Herb Wright. "Fire has clearly been as much a part of the natural scene as flood and windstorm," observes Professor Wright, head of the limnological research center at the University of Minnesota.

"To preserve a virgin forest in its natural condition—and this is certainly an objective of wilderness management—one might better simulate the pattern of nature by providing relatively low intensity fires to reduce the ground cover and clean out the brush and low story trees. At the same time the forest would be opened for the regeneration of pine—which, in fact, requires fire for widespread natural seeding."

The recent fire in and near the Boundary Waters Canoe Area, covering an area of about 25 square miles east of the Little Indian Sioux River of Minnesota, did much more good than harm, according to Professor Wright.

"The fire raised in our minds thoughts of catastrophe, waste and terrible destruction," Wright said. "But recent studies show that the magnificent forests of the BWCA, with pine trees 190 to 200 years old, can be traced by tree ring studies back to specific fires of the past.

Too Much Fire Protection

"Jack pine, for example, reseeds naturally when the heat of a fire opens the cones that persist on the tree, releasing the seed to scatter on the ground, which at the same time has been prepared for seeding by the release of nutrients from the ash. White and red pine are also adapted to the fire, but natural reseeding requires the survival of a few trees to supply the seed. In the Little Sioux fire, the intensity was so great that the seed sources were locally destroyed."

Professor Wright believes the nearly complete fire protection provided by the U. S. forest service for the last 60 years has been overdone. "In an effort to preserve the big pine trees, we have excluded all fire," Wright said.

"In the process we have allowed the forest floor to build up and the understory trees to reach ever higher.

"Understory trees like spruce and fir, which under natural conditions are removed by fire, are prone to insect infestation in the absence of fire. In fact, where the virgin forest burned in the BWCA fire, the fuel was supplied primarily by the dead timber of such infected trees.

"The fuel thus builds up so that, when a fire occurs, the flames are carried to the crowns of the very big pines that we want to protect. Such crown fires may be uncontrollable and can spread for miles until the weather changes. Fortunately the BWCA fire trapped no towns or people."

Controlled Burning Recommended

Controlled burning, under prescribed weather conditions, is within the technology of foresters and has been practiced for many years in forest management.

"Controlled burning can be organized in the BWCA as well," Wright said. "It is certainly preferable to cutting out the old trees and the understory with chainsaw and bulldozer, for this action severely disrupts the natural ecosystem that we wish to preserve.

Agreeing with Smokey, Wright warns "no one suggests that campers should be careless with fire or take it upon themselves to open up the forest."

Explaining that fires prescribed and controlled by forest managers can simulate natural conditions, Wright noted however that "one of the greatest deterrents to a policy of fire management in wilderness areas is the fear of public reaction.

He said the idea of controlled burning represents "a delicate challenge to the forest service, to expand the message of Smokey the Bear.

"Actually what is good for the bear is good for the long-range preservation of the wilderness—for bears need blueberries, and blueberries need fires."

Auto Ownership Economics Are Noted In Report

Minnesota highway department recently received a communication which outlined the economics of auto ownership. The report was made by E. L. Cope of the federal highway administration. This Washington official points out these facts:

Assuming a car runs 13.8 miles per gallon (national average), for a car costing $3,200 new and runs 10,000 miles a year for 10 years, the automatic transmission alone cost him seven cents a gallon (in first price and lost power efficiency over stick shift). Air-conditioning with heavy-duty battery and tinted windshield cost over eight and one-half cents a gallon, allowing for effect of the conditioner's weight.

The $11,600 that the car costs in 10 years to own and operate, not counting interest and financing, represents also 44 cents per gallon for depreciation, 21 cents for repairs and maintenance, 25 cents for garage and parking and tolls. Total $1.65 per gallon. For power brakes and white sidewall tires, add another two cents. Add still more for other luxuries the car buyer often demands today.

Ninety per cent of his car costs go for the car. Only 10 per cent goes for the taxes that help build his roads. His car insurance alone costs up to twice what he pays in gasoline taxes and license fees in most states.

Car Safety For Children Is Stressed

With traffic accidents the leading cause of death among children, the Minnesota department of health reminds families with young children that special car safety is needed to protect them. Dr. Warren R. Lawson, executive officer of the state health department, said that in the United States about 1,000 children under the age of four are killed each year as passengers in automobiles, with many more permanently disabled. In Minnesota, of the 1,032 motor vehicle deaths in 1970, 42 were under the age of five.

It has been shown, the doctor said, that the inside of a car is safer than outside in a crash, since those who are ejected from cars have only pavement or hard ground on which to impact, and risk having a car roll over them. Consequently, seat belts provide a safety factor in at least keeping passengers inside a car.

For children, however, seat belts may not be appropriate. A child's size may make it impossible to adjust belts properly across his hips. He can slide under a belt, causing it to be around his neck or abdomen, giving rise to a dangerous condition in the event of sudden stops.

Mother's lap is also not considered a safe place during a crash, said Dr. Lawson. A child can be crushed between his mother and the inside of the car. Should she be wearing a seat restraint, a child could be torn from her arms during a collision. And, the doctor pointed out, a seat belt should not be used to restrain both mother and child since the weight of an adult pressing against a child from behind could cause extremely serious injuries.

Dr. Lawson recommends that a special car seat be obtained that meets new federal motor vehicle safety standards which came into effect April 1, 1971. The doctor pointed out there are still some seats on the market which do not meet the requirements, and he urged parents to discuss the purchase with knowledgeable sales people before buying.

Some of the things to look for in a child's car seat include a head restraint to prevent whiplash-type neck injuries, a harness that restrains the child over several parts of the body, such as shoulders and lap, and a means of securely attaching a seat to the car. It was emphasized that because of the various types of seats and harnesses available, parents must be sure they know how to properly use the types they buy for maximum safety.

Dr. Lawson also listed additional safety tips. He recommends older children sit on a firm cushion and have a standard lap belt positioned across hips so that it does not ride up. He also pointed out that children should not be allowed to travel unrestrained in the cargo area of a station wagon or truck, or have luggage or other items close to where they are riding.

He recommends that all doors be locked to help keep them from coming open in the event of a crash, and that windows be lowered no more than absolutely necessary, pointing out that an open tailgate window on a station wagon could admit dangerous carbon monoxide fumes.

Dr. Lawson reminded parents that it takes only seconds to secure their children safely in an automobile, probably less time than it takes to put on snow suits and boots. While no device can guarantee 100 per cent protection, he said, children who are safely secured to the car structure stand the best chance of surviving a collision with minimal injury.

Credit Greatly Accepted As Way To Do Business

Using credit as a means in transacting business is here to stay, but its effectiveness depends on how it is used.

Careless use can have damaging results on the family's economy for many years, says Edna Jordahl, extension home management specialist at the University of Minnesota.

However, if you plan your use of credit wisely, these advantages are evident:

Early use of goods may help increase income, although goods are not paid for.

Consumption can be increased to meet greater family satisfaction.

Payments on several debts can be simplified to one payment.

Other resources may be used to better advantage through the use of credit.

Credit is a way of accumulating goods and increasing net worth when cash is short.

But credit costs money. Often the cost is greater than the buyer realizes. Overspending is also a danger when credit is readily available. Future income is committed to payments. If these cannot be met, you may lose merchandise.

Being forearmed with information about where to get credit and what it costs may save frustrations when it is needed, Mrs. Jordahl says. One necessary precaution is to protect your credit rating. However, it's important to remember that credit is available to you in time of emergency.

Women Suffer More Whiplash Hurts Than Men

Women are twice as likely as men to suffer whiplash in an auto crash, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund said today.

"A Cornell aeronautical laboratory research team has found that women incur this type of injury more often because their neck muscles are weaker than men's.

The team also found that tall persons suffer whiplashes more frequently than short persons, and that front seat passengers are 50 per cent more vulnerable to this type of injury than those in the rear seat. The explanation is that the window deck behind the rear seat limits backward movement of the head.

Interestingly, risk of whiplash is greater in slower speed impacts. In more severe crashes, the seat tends to bend backward or break loose entirely, allowing the upper body to move back with the head.

"Head restraints are required for front seat passengers in all cars manufactured since Jan. 1, 1969. However, we note that there are many who either remove them or push them all the way down, thereby greatly reducing their effectiveness.

"If you drive a car with head restraints, please adjust them to the proper height and become accustomed to them. If it means driving without a hat, do so. Those who have suffered whiplash will testify that it is to be avoided if at all possible."

New Program Is Offered By Junior College

off-campus employers will offer the work experience. Officials says this integration of academic classes and outside experience enriches the total education program by allowing the student an elevated method of sampling careers in the student's field of interest, increasing personal development, and increasing chances for employment at the end of the college program.

Thief River Falls Independent School District 564 will cooperate in the program next fall, assigning eight Northland students to schools in the district. Gloria Carlson and Cheryl Knott will be working at Washington elementary school; Donna Keck will be at Northrop and Jeanne Hanson at Knox; Tim Olson and Greg Hafdahl will be assigned to Franklin Junior high school; Debby Langer will work at Mark Twain school, and Mike Swenson will be at Lincoln high school.

In the pilot program last school year, Jay Forney worked in the psychiatric unit at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, and Nathan Langager and DeWayne Sjostrand were assigned to Pine Point elementary school at White Earth Indian reservation at Ponsford, Minn.

Motor Vehicle Crashes Decline During Past Year

Motor vehicle crashes during 1970 dropped almost 6,000 below the 1969 figure, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund announced today. Last year in Minnesota there 99,404 crashes, compared with 105,235 during the previous year.

Deaths were also down, but just one under the 1969 total of 988.

But because of increased miles traveled each year, the fatality rate dropped from 5 in 1969 to 4.4 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles in 1970.

However, severity of the crashes during 1970 was greater, accounting for 38,538 personal injuries compared with 35,760 during 1969. The highest year in the last 10 for personal injuries was in 1966, when almost 53,000 were recorded.

Lund Reelected To Head Rural Letter Carriers

Orval Lund of Lancaster was reelected president of the Minnesota rural letter carriers association at the closing session of the association Wednesday in Thief River Falls.

Dale Peterson of Big Lake was elected vice president with Lee Sorteberg of Anoka elected secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Marvin Mantha of Pemberton, District Two, and Lyle Cain of Brainerd, District Six. Bernard Lehna of Royalton was announced as carrier of the year for Minnesota.

Blue ribbon award for membership was presented to the Northern Minnesota association which includes Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson, Lake of the Woods and Roseau counties. All 55 rural carriers in these counties are members of the association. Ron Krogstad of Kennedy is secretary-treasurer.

Attendance of 190 people at the convention banquet was 40 higher than any previous convention banquet, according to local officials. Registration of 177 rural carriers was another high mark.

Convention delegates expressed extreme satisfaction with facilities and service at the American Legion club rooms and the Thief River Golf club where convention sessions were held. They also appreciated tours of several local industries, cooperation of businessmen in providing banquet favors and other community courtesies extended to the visitors. Making a special impression were members of the American Legion auxiliary chorus who appeared at the banquet as the Diamond Jubilee Singers.

Travel By Car Can Be Serious Health Problem

Many summer vacationers who travel by car, end up with discomfort, pain and sometimes serious health problems, according to Dr. John F. Beaty, president of the Minnesota chiropractic association.

"Every year, thousands of American rush to the highways. The object: to cram as much as possible into a short period of time. In doing so, they do not use good judgment or plan their trip for maximum driving comfort, safety and health," said Dr. Beaty.

While automobile accidents are a vacation concern, and while speed has been blamed as a major cause of highway mishaps, fatigue and heat must not be overlooked as an important cause. Fatigue dulls reflexes, slows reactions, and often causes erratic response to a situation.

"Accidents, of course, are serious health hazards. But we mustn't forget the residual illnesses that result from misalignment of the spine due to fatigue, over-activity, poor posture and strain—conditions that may not draw attention until long after the pleasures of a vacation are forgotten," he said.

When planning an auto trip, Dr. Beaty says map out rest stops along with route and overnight stops. He said most people drive too hard and too long, and as a result they become excessively tired. Fatigue makes the traveler stiff and achey, subjects him to illness, and makes him prone to accidents.

"When traveling by car, shift positions often. Stop frequently along the way—at least once every two hours. Keep a window open for ventilation and, if you become sleepy, stop immediately for rest and nourishment," Dr. Beaty concluded.

County 4-H Members Show Involvement

"I Care" is the theme 4-H'ers are putting into action in Pennington county and throughout the state.

Delegates from Pennington county attending the recent statewide 4-H junior leadership conference in St. Paul reported that the theme of the conference, "I Care", was put into action as well as carried out in discussions.

Showing that they care about people, many of the 4-H'ers visited hospitals and nursing homes in the Twin Cities, entertaining patients with talent numbers. Other delegates, showing their concern for the environment, organized clean-up crews to pick up trash in city parks.

These same concerns for people and for the environment are evident in the project of Pennington county 4-H'ers as well as other 4-H'ers throughout the state. Regular visits to nursing homes and to hospitals are part of the program of many clubs. 4-H'ers enrolled in the Youth for Natural Beauty program, the conservation project and the wildlife habitat improvement program have indicated in many ways their involvement in improving the appearance of local neighborhoods and towns.

They have cleaned up neglected town parks, lakeshores and abandoned lots, have planted flowers around town halls, have developed and helped to maintain wayside picnic sites and have beautified their own yards. In their conservation projects they plant trees, provide cover for pheasants and deer and other wildlife and in many other ways try to preserve the natural environment.

HUSKY TWO-YEAR-OLD is this bull shown by Stauning Bros. of Beltrami, co-hosts for the Minnesota Polled Hereford field day held Friday at the Don Knutson farm east of Thief River Falls. Morris (left), Fred and Wallace (not pictured) Stauning brought a number of their animals to the show for exhibit and use in judging contests.

EXECUTIVE SUITE for the board of directors meeting of the Minnesota Polled Hereford association was the farmyard of the Don Knutson farm east of Thief River Falls. The board met as part of the annual field day hosted by the Knutsons and Stauning Bros. of Beltrami. Left to right are Lawrence Heikes, Adrian, secretary; Fred Stauning, Beltrami, director, Gerhard Mitteness, Benson, president; and Harold Gilman, Woodstock, director. Meetings were also held for the women's organization of the association and by the junior group.

SPECIAL GUESTS at the Minnesota Polled Hereford field day Friday were Terresa Mjelde, Minnesota Polled Hereford queen, and Jay Nixon, vice president in charge of public relations for the American Polled Hereford association.

OBJECT OF ATTENTION for a number of the approximately 350 people attending the Minnesota Polled Hereford association field day Friday at the Don Knutson farm was this two-year-old bull exhibited by Stauning Bros. of Beltrami. This bull and another two-year-old were objects of a weight-guessing contest, with the combined weight of the two being 2,654 pounds. J.P. Kulseth of Goodridge won the weight-guessing event.

field day and at the farm. They also thanked local businessmen who came to the farm during the day to view the cattle on exhibit and visit with other people in attendance.

John Liebel of Brookings, S.D., opened the show with discussion of type selection of Polled Herefords. Judging continued throughout the morning with comments by Jim Shirley, Kansas City, Mo., fieldman for the American Polled Hereford association; Dr. Christian, University of Minnesota; Gerhard Mitteness, Benson, president of the Minnesota Polled Hereford association, and Terry Courneya, Pennington county agricultural agent.

Promotion of Polled Herefords was discussed by Jay Nixon, vice president in charge of public relations for the American Polled Hereford association. The former south Texas cowboy emphasized the importance of promotion to increase sales of breeding stock in the United States and foreign countries. He mentioned sales to South America and negotiations underway for substantial sales of breeding stock to European nations.

Comments were made by other officials in attendance and the awards were presented by Miss Terresa Mjelde, Minnesota Polled Hereford queen. Meetings of the MPHA board of directors, women's auxiliary and junior organizations were also held during the afternoon.

What can a major airport mean to a community? The annual payroll for Washington National Airport near the nation's capital is $78 million. Some $54 million of this goes to residents of the state of Virginia. As Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer points out, the 11,000 employee Westinghouse Aerospace Center was located adjacent to Friendship International Airport outside of Baltimore, Md., essentially because the airport is there.

30 Millionth Visitor To State Fair Expected

Sometime during the 1971 Minnesota state fair, the 30-millionth visitor of the exposition's modern era will step onto the fairgrounds. Fair officials plan appropriate ceremonies to mark the event which is predicted for Sunday, August 29, second day of this year's pageant.

In 1939, the first 10-day fair was held. Since then, 29,752,247 admissions have been counted. There were no fairs in 1945 and 1946, so average attendance at each of the 30 pageants figures out to be just under one million.

Based on past figures for preparation day and opening Saturday, officials expect an attendance of approximately 156,213 by Saturday's closing. This would leave the fair 91,540 away from 30,000,000.

Attendance on the first Sunday has averaged 183.385 persons per minute during the last five years. When this average is divided into the total needed to reach the 30 million mark, officials are able to predict that the record admission will take place at 18 minutes and 12 seconds after 2 p.m. Sunday.

The fair's new East Commonwealth avenue gate has been designated as the site for ceremonies honoring the symbolic 30-millionth admission. Unless attendance figures change drastically for preparation day and opening day, the person entering the grounds at approximately 2:20 p.m. Aug. 29 will be named as representative of the millions who have come to the exposition since 1939. He or she will receive a handsome cup commemorating the event and will be the fair's guest at the evening grandstand show.

Tuition Fees At Minnesota Tech Do Not Increase

Tuition fees at the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston have not been raised for the next academic year, Dr. Stanley D. Sahlstrom, provost, said today. Costs will remain the same at this campus of the university.

The Crookston branch tuition rate of $133 per quarter is applicable to all majors in the Associate in Applied Science degree programs. There are six major agricultural fields in which students may concentrate, five business areas; and three hotel, restaurant and institutional management major areas, as well as a curriculum in general education.

The board of regents approved an increase in fees for resident and non-resident students on the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Duluth, and Morris campuses at their June meeting. Two technical college branches, Crookston and Waseca, were exempted from the hike.

"The chief stress of Jesus' teaching was not laid upon poverty and humility, though they have a high place in the Beatitudes. The thing he taught mainly, first and last, was simple good will between man and man—simple friendliness, simple decency." —H. L. Mencken

Super Secret Stuff

The New York Times caused some frantic scurrying in Washington when it began publication of its series of articles from a "secret" government report on the United States' involvement in Vietnam. We imagine a number of former government officials also winced when the first installment hit print.

Through the justice department and the courts, the government has attempted to halt publication of the study because of the "classified" nature of the material—saying its publication would be detrimental to national security. In other words, although the report is some six years old, it is still super secret stuff which could be of value to the enemy.

Well, now, it doesn't seem that the report is all that important to the national security, nor will its publication cause undue danger to our servicemen serving in Vietnam. It may unlock a few closets and uncover a few skeletons, but that wouldn't be of any particular danger to the country. A greater danger would be for the nation to have hidden from it information which it has a right to know.

The war in Vietnam is not Kennedy's war nor Johnson's war nor Nixon's war on a personal basis—it involves the sons and brothers and husbands of our entire nation. As such, background information about it should be available to the entire nation.

It was wrong for whatever government official "leaked" the report to violate his sworn security, regardless of his motives. It brings to mind a question of how strong our nation's security actually is. If the report had not reached print, who would have known it was missing? How many other articles of "classified" nature float in and out of the government's top secret files—articles of a much more critical nature than a six-year-old study?

In preserving the public's right to know what its government is doing, the Times has provided a service by bringing the report to light. Under the law of the land, however, it perhaps must pay the penalty for providing that service. We don't believe the New York newspaper desires to jeopardize the lives of our servicemen nor impair the security of our country. More likely, the New York Times wants to disclose the situation involving our participation in the Vietnam war to allow a more learned evaluation of that participation.

It is too easy for government to put the wraps on its own blunders by stomping the reports of them "secret" and filing them away where the public will never find them. As an example of the ridiculous policy of keeping material classified, files on the Civil War are still closed for "security" reasons.

How it is possible to "leak" a 47-volume study is beyond our comprehension. A full disclosure of that study seems to be in the public interest.

Something Bugs Us!

Following editorial from the Kittson County Enterprise can be applied to almost any community with equal vigor by changing a few names and situations:

In the past year, almost from the day we arrived on the scene here, there has been one thing happening that has us completely baffled. It is this dire need of people with purchasing power to ignore their friends, their neighbors and even their own well-being by spending those dollars away from home.

It came to a head for us several weeks ago when we had to tell a young married man with a family that we no longer had work for him. Have you ever been in that position? Let us tell you, it's no picnic.

Several months ago we approached people we though were large consumers of printed products. We explained that changes were coming as far as newspaper production is concerned and that we had one man we would very much like to retrain in commercial printing. We invested several thousand dollars in offset printing equipment to handle our present business and the foreseeable future business. We explained to these buyers that with just a small increase in order we could retain all employees.

Did we bomb out on that one! The response was nil. But we can still look over the official proceedings of our governing bodies and see where they buy their printing and office supply needs from Thief River Falls, St. Cloud, Minneapolis and Tim Buc Too.

Now that venture is over and done with. We use the above just as an example. But what about all the other suppliers of products and services that are offered locally but purchased from the traveling salesman. Food for our hospitals, schools and other institutions. Fuel for many of our public buildings. Maintenance supplies and automotive parts. Where is this business going?—In many cases, not all, to people who don't give a hoot in hell about us.

We're not talking about just here in Hallock. This is going on all over the county—with the possible exception of Karlstad. People there seem to have a great deal of community pride. They first try to buy at home and if they can't do that they at least make an attempt to seek out a neighboring community that might offer the product or service they seek.

And the handwriting is on the wall. Next time you're in Karlstad take a look at that Main Street. Many of the buildings are new and those that are not have been recently remodeled or are under good repair. The sign of a community with pride.

All of the blame shouldn't be placed on the shoulders of our elected officials. Here in Hallock we have businessmen on Main Street who buy their groceries in Grand Forks and their automobiles in Minneapolis. If that isn't a sad situation let us know what could be worse.

In other towns around the county we see businessmen continually buying merchandise and services they could buy locally, in Kittson County, but won't because it might mean saying hello to a guy that went with his wife many years ago before they were married. This is the attitude that children take, not grown adults who have one common goal—survival.

Our schools and churches are half full. Our hospitals are hurting for business. Many of our homes stand empty—but what do we do—we buy from the guy who lives in that nice prosperous community of Thief River Falls, Crookston, etc., etc., etc.

But where are those guys when your club is trying to raise funds for the swimming pool? Where are they when you are out making solicitations for the cancer or heart fund? Where are they when you need volunteer labor to paint the church?

We'll tell you where they are—at home where they belong. They're buying building materials from the local dealer to remodel a room. They're out with their fellow Lions to clean up the park. They're having the neighbors in for barbecued steaks and a few drinks, while they tell of the big sales gain they had last month.

But what are we doing here. We're telling young people to sell their homes and go elsewhere to make a living. We're writing checks for taxes to support institutions and services designed for a population of twice that of Kittson County. We watch our brothers go out of business and think nothing of it—he wasn't much of a go-getter.

Yup! It's a sad situation. We don't know if there's time to reverse it or not. But we hope you people who are buying from the suitcase salesman, can find another job that pays as well as the one you've got. And we hope you get a decent price for your home when there's darn few buyers around. And we hope you will like the big city with all its filth and confusion.

Objectives At Conflict

Following editorial is from the East Grand Forks Record:

In recent years, concern for environmental quality has become something of a mania. Earth Days, clean-up campaigns, legislation drives, community education programs, and a host of other activities indicate that Americans are becoming increasingly aware of their abuse of their environment.

And well they should.

But by the same token, we must remain alerted to the consequences of our actions lest we find that we are paralyzing the very instruments that would make our efforts successful.

For example, the owners of large fleets of motor vehicles in the metropolitan areas of California are converting their trucks and cars to run on clean-burning natural gas and liquefied petroleum gas, or propane. Not only does such conversion pay for itself within a year and allows for lower maintenance costs, but it also cuts engine pollution by 60 to 90 per cent.

The success of such conversions has been witnessed by other operators around the country and several natural gas firms are planning expansion programs in anticipation of the predicted demand for such facilities.

On the other hand, it must be remembered that it is the tax on gasoline that has made our extensive highway system possible, and should it come to pass that other fuels will replace gasoline, it will become necessary to find other means of financing the construction and maintenance of highways.

The issue of environmental protection is ripe with such problems where solutions to pollution only serve to create even more problems. Careful planning and sharp foresight are going to be required to insure that all contingencies are considered and anticipated.

The onus of this responsibility falls upon our legislators at both the state and federal levels of government, and the time has come for them to act not only quickly but wisely. The problems are too immediate and solutions too difficult to sit and do nothing.

SPEED TRAP! Have you ever heard this term used, or perhaps used the phrase yourself at some time or other? Every time I hear this statement I am a little amused but a little more irritated. It indicates to me that the person using this phrase is of the opinion that traffic is a game. If you don't get caught it is all right and means nothing.

On the other hand, if you do get caught driving your car faster than the posted limit and the officer used a speed detection device to get the clock, he isn't playing the game fairly ... he took unfair advantage of you ... he didn't give you a "sporting chance."

These speed detection devices are several in nature. There is the type where the car rides over tapes and a reading is taken on the time and distance and given in miles per hour. There is the radar which uses radio waves to and from the speeding car back to the sending set for the reading in miles per hour. Then there is another time and distance device that is mounted in the squad car called VASCAR. This machine [illegible] if you knew how accurately it can measure the speed of a car whether coming toward the squad car, or going away, or at an angle to the squad car.

All of these devices measure the speed of a car without the driver being aware of it and this is what makes it unethical—not playing the game. Most of us have a rear view mirror and use it often. We look for that "red gum ball machine" on the top of the squad car or we look for the white door so we can quickly step on the brake to slow down. We just cannot understand an officer that might hide behind a billboard or sit down a dark street to catch us off guard.

The thing we forget is that we never have to worry about that squad car behind the wall, down the dark street, or any "speed traps" if we would always drive at the posted speed limit.

Folks, I submit to you that traffic is not a game. The mangled bodies that are taken from cars involved in serious accidents (and speed is the most frequent accident factor) are most often far more battered and lacerated than those shot, stabbed or hit with a weapon. There are also many more persons involved in this type of injury than in the assault cases. Yet people get very uptight about an assault and [illegible] off an auto accident as just one of those unfortunate things.

The officer who has had to pick up the victims of an unnecessary speed accident gets very angry when he hears the phrase SPEED TRAP or unethical hiding place used in his presence. He knows these same persons will be the angry ones if the next victim happens to be a friend or a loved one of theirs.

I noted in a letter to the editor that the question was raised as to why snowmobiles were not classified as motor vehicles and why age restrictions as to operation were not the same as for other motor vehicles. This is an action on the part of the legislature. I would assume that the main reason snowmobiles are not called motor vehicles is that they are constructed for use on other than streets or highways.

The City of Thief River Falls has an ordinance restricting the operation of snowmobiles and the age of the operators. We, in the Police Department, are much in favor of extending the classification, operation and licensing of operators to conform with the requirements of all motor vehicles.

I will be happy to answer any and all questions to the best of my ability. I can't pass judgment on individual situations, but I can answer on policy and general interpretations. Call me or send a letter to my office or The Times.

Serve A Different Cheese Cake

Next time you're entertaining and don't mind fussing a little in order to come up with a great dessert, make this delicious new recipe for cheese cake. It's as different in flavor as its marbled appearance. In fact your guests will all agree that "it is really marbleous."

Marble Cheese Cake

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons Parkay Margarine, melted
3 tablespoons sugar
3 pkgs 8-oz. Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs
1 1-oz. square unsweetened chocolate, melted

Combine crumbs, margarine and sugar. Press onto bottom of 9-inch spring pan. Bake at 325°, 10 minutes.

Combine softened cream cheese, sugar, flour and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Reserve 1 cup of batter; pour remaining batter over crust. Add chocolate to reserved batter; mix well. Spoon chocolate batter into pan; cut through batter several times for marble effect. Herb Jung Recalls Early Days In TRF

I wandered today to the hill,
Maggie
To watch the scene below,
The creek and the Old Rusty
Mill, Maggie
[illegible] the long, long ago.

The green grove is gone from the hill, Maggie,
Where first the daisies sprung;
The Old Rusty Mill is still,
Maggie,
Since you and I were young.
—J. A. Butterfield,
"When You and I were Young, Maggie."

It is now June 1971 and I have just returned from a visit to my old stamping grounds known as Thief River Falls. The changes during the past decade are wonderful.

Of course I cannot hark back to the year 1895—I was only recently out of dresses at the time—but I can remember my first look at the exciting little community which had sprung up on the Red Lake River after Carl J. Kretzschmar built the dam and his grist mill on that stream.

By the time I arrived on the scene, navigation had about vanished except for a small scow piloted by Hank Draper. The "Dan Patch" was already beached alongside the ice house on what is now the City Park. Well, we could still rent a rowboat from Ed Durbin down behind the fire hall! Rate ten cents per hour!

On October 13th, 1915, brother Walt and I arrived in Thief River Falls to take over a little bakery and lunch counter at 219 North Main Avenue. The City Fire Department was called to welcome us; "Oops" my mistake, it was for our neighbor Mrs. Vignes. It seems Mr. Vignes was rendering lard in his workshop in the rear of his meat market. Accidentally a kettle of lard caught fire and threatened all the frame buildings in the block. However, quick and efficient work by Chief Paul Mederich and his men brought the fire under control, and the day was saved. I'll never forget how that fine team of "bays" came tearing up the alley with the fire engine and hose-cart! All in all, it was an exciting day, highlighted by the near panic and confusion of the tenants living in the apartments nearby.

However, order was soon restored, and Walt and I went to work starting our doughs for our first day's run of the "staff of life" which at that time was dominated by Fred Roth, operator of the Vienna Bakery and Carl Hilliard's City Bakery, both on LaBree Avenue. As I look back over those early days of the present century, many interesting and some sad events have taken place. The sad ones are best forgotten, so let us reminisce a little on some of the former.

The ice going out of the river and the near loss of the dam in the spring of 1916. It seems I remember Ole Ihle dynamiting the ice jam lodged behind the Great Northern bridge just above the dam. It was thought that this action had saved the dam and the Hanson and Barzen flour mill.

The spring break-up was always the "opening gun" for the fishing season, and the banks of the river from Squaw Point to Lovers Lane became a veritable scene of activity for all who could hold a line. The river was teeming with fish of all kinds, and the "flexible" state laws quoted eight walleye pike per day and 16 as the possession limit. Game wardens Forder and Munch were busy men reminding the fishermen of these facts.

Early almost any day one would see Orlando Bishop and his pal Bill LaFave headed for the river, cane poles in one hand and a can of worms in the other. Thursdays were their busiest days and their biggest customer was Joe Strubek, owner of the Soo Cafe, corner of Third Street and Horace Avenue.

Pollution had not yet scratched the surfaces of the environment. Transportation was no problem. You could hire a fine team of horses from Fishers or A.B. [illegible] per day. Cars were very few and mostly used. I remember Mr. Vignes owned a two-seater (back to back) Buick, I believe it was. He would leave it behind the meat market. No starter, of course, so you used a crank which you inserted over the running board and between the seats. After about eight or ten twists it took hold.

Of course there were also a few new cars, such as F.J. Stevens' Cross-Country Rambler. Walt and I acquired this monstrosity in 1918. It was a right-hand drive affair and had a windshield held rigid by leather straps to the front fenders. It was great for going to Mud Lake during duck season in 1919.

Then several of the doctors and bankers also got into the act. Not to be out-done by these gentlemen Mr. Hanson (Owner of Hanson's Gravel Pit) blossomed out with a new Overland.

But let us not get ahead of our theme, the 75th Anniversary. Time marches on, and as we "look down, look down that lonesome road", we seem to sense bright flashes in the dim past of the men who broke trail for us. Yes, but where are the Zens, [illegible]; the Jens LaBrees, the Rasmus Oens, the Kretzschmars, Evensons, Andersons, Kroxes, just to mention a few of those hardy pioneers. And what is the message they left to those of the "Now Generation"? To the Lees, the Bjorkmans, the Larsons, Grovums, Stenbergs, Aasebys, Prichards, Tunbergs, Carlsons, et al. It is this:

"We did it. So can you."

A LITTLE SOFT would be a mild term to describe field conditions in this particular area on the Tom Matson farm several miles east of Thief River Falls. The tractor sank to its axles as the driver attempted to cross an area of the field where pipeline installation had left the ground soft, and unless the driver could fly, he undoubtedly got his feet wet in abandoning the machine. Getting stuck is one of the unpleasant aspects of farming, but in general field conditions have been good this year and crops are in excellent condition.

Harvey Hammergren of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce sends this excellent report: "Fishing in our Alexandria area has been good this past week. Almost all of our lakes have been having good luck with fishing of all types.

Many limits of walleyes are coming in, too. The best crappie catch was made by Clyde Holm and a party from LaSalle, Illinois. They had 18 crappies weighing from 1½ to 2 pounds.

New Fly Casting Booklet

"Fly casting is defined as a method of angling with artificial flies, streamers, nymphs or bugs combined with the art called 'fly casting'. "Fly casting is a skillful physical exertion of rolling a fly line and leader backward and forward through the air so to carry the artifical fly to an approximate predetermined position on the water"... so explains Jim Green in a little booklet describing fly fishing about which you may wish to "inquire". Write Jim Green Book, Box 729, Westminster, California 92683. It is a Fenwick publication. (Clare Conley, Editor, Field and Stream, wrote the "Foreword" to this very fine booklet.) The book is small enough to "tote" along while casting in your fishing stream. You will be happy to refer to its illustrations beautifully drawn by Al Pratt, the book was edited by Steve Raymond.

DAVID WECKWERTH appears to be balancing on his toes, but actually the Times camera happened to catch him on his downward motion just as he touched the trampoline. David, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Weckwerth, was one of many youngsters in the Franklin junior high school gym for part of the summer recreation program Wednesday afternoon. Gene Jurgens is the instructor for the gyms while Peggy Almquist supervises the playground activities.

MANY DIFFERENT forms were employed by the youngsters Wednesday afternoon when their turn came up for a four minute stunt on the tramp. Kurt Kiestermon, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kiesterman, had a bit of a problem keeping his balance during his turn on the tramp as he, and most other boys, worked more on height than form.

Wildlife Society In Washington Supports Hunting

Sport of hunting has been cited as a desirable and necessary part of conservation in America by more than 5,600 wildlife experts.

"Concerned over increasing anti-hunting sentiment, the Wildlife Society has gone on record in strong support of hunting in the United States," reported Fred G. Evenden, executive director of the professional conservation organization.

Recent criticisms of hunting have centered around the beliefs that hunting has a detrimental effect on wildlife populations and that killing of wild animals is not necessary in the United States today. The professional conservationist knows that these accusations are untrue. More than anyone, the conservationist is aware that the hunter plays a vital role in today's wildlife management programs.

The hunting fraternity pays more than $200 million for wildlife restoration each year. Hunting license fees are the backbone of the 50 state fish and game departments. An excise tax on hunting equipment provides over $40 million a year, earmarked solely for wildlife. No other group can match these contributions.

As for the moral question of the killing of wild animals, many people fail to comprehend that these animals will die whether they are hunted or not, and in nearly all cases they will die a much more slow and painful death. In the wild, death rates must match birth rates because no population can expand indefinitely. If animals are overprotected, overpopulation results and starvation is the inevitable result.

"Sport hunting is regulated to maintain healthy balances in wildlife populations," Evenden said. "Seasons are opened only when there is a genuine abundance of wildlife and hunting is needed to bring the population into balance with available food. This regulated hunting insures healthy populations of wildlife for the future while providing recreation for 17 million Americans each year.".

The professional conservationist knows that sport hunting poses absolutely no threat to the well-being of any game species. in fact, without the hunter there would be little, if any, wildlife left in America.

For these reasons, and in the interest of wildlife management and conservation. The Wildlife Society supports hunting and urges education of the public regarding the significance of hunting.

The University of Minnesota's 1971 baseball team posted a 28-13 won-lost record and was 12-6 in the Big Ten good for second place.

Dave Haberle, University of Minnesota golf co-captain from Edina, won two tournaments for the Gophers in 1971: the Kepler Invitational and the Big Ten meet, both held on the Ohio State University Golf Course.

Dave Winfield, sophomore baseball pitcher for the University of Minnesota Gophers, recorded 90 strike outs in 67 innings pitched during 1971, his first varsity season, which is two short of the school record of 92 set by All American Paul Giel in 1954.

TRF Drops Crookston 3-1 In Northwest Legion Play

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team shaded Crookston 3-1 Thursday night to gain their first conference win of the season in Northwest Legion action.

Rocco Wilson's club upped its over-all season mark to 4-2 with the win behind the five-hit pitching performance by left-hander Pete Sullivan. The young southpaw walked just one and struck out two in the seven-inning contest at Crookston.

Thief River Falls will travel to Red Lake Falls for a non-conference contest tonight (Monday) before hosting Hallock Tuesday evening on the fairgrounds diamond beginning at 7 p.m. East Grand Forks will invade Thief River Falls for a 7 o'clock contest Thursday night.

Thief River Falls scored all three of their runs in the first inning Thursday off two Crookston hurlers.

Centerfielder Rob Almquist started the game with a full-count walk and went to second on an error by the pitcher. Almquist advanced to third on Sullivan's sacrifice and scored on Dale Hanson's single after a walk to shortstop Tom Hanson.

Third baseman Mike Drury drove in both Hanson's with a single for a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning.

Sullivan gave up just a second-inning walk through the first two frames before centerfielder Scott Wheelhouse singled to lead-off the third for Crookston.

Wheelhouse advanced on a walk and an error and scored on a fielder's choice for a 3-1 contest. Crookston was able to advance a runner as far as second only twice the rest of the way with the Thief River club wiping out two runners on a double play in the fourth inning.

Thief River Falls threatened to score in the top of the third inning when Tom Hanson and Dale Hanson singled and Tom Wurst walked to load the bases with no outs.

Crookston managed to cut down both runners at home on ground balls to the infield before retiring the final out with a pop fly to short.

Detroit Lakes high school hired James B. Dew as the new head football coach for the 1971 season last week, replacing Del Mollberg who had resigned.

Dew is a 26-year-old graduate of Mayville (N.D.) state college and spent last season as an assistant at Bemidji state college.

Prior to going to Bemidji, Dew played three years with the Racine Raiders of the Central States Professional league. Dew reports he will go with a varied offense, using the pro-I and some triple option.

Detroit Lakes also named Bruce Douglas as its head basketball coach for the 1971-72 season, replacing Orin Schueler who moved on to Cloquet as head cage mentor.

The Lakers are on both the football and basketball schedule for the Lincoln high school Prowlers.

With the golfers in full swing in the area we couldn't pass up this little item from a local paper:

Left thumb remedy—A weekend golfer, having four-putted the last hole, threw his clubs into the golf cart and drove toward the clubhouse. Arriving there, he saw a squad car parked by the entrance and a couple of policemen stopped him as he walked toward the locker room. "Did you drive from the fifteenth tee about a half hour ago?" one officer asked. "Yes." "Did you hook your ball over those trees and off the course?" "Yes, as a matter of fact, I did," replied the puzzled golfer. With anger in his voice, the policemen continued, "Your ball sailed out on the highway, cracked the windshield of a woman's car, she couldn't see where she was going and ran into a fire truck, the fire truck couldn't get to the fire, and a house burned down! What are you going to do about it?" The golfer pondered a moment, picked up his driver, and said: "Well, I think I'm going to open my stance a little and move my thumb further toward my right side."

TRF Recreation Program Schedule

Thief River Falls summer recreation program is in its third week of activities for the youngsters in the city.

Gene Jurgens and Peggy Almquist are the supervisors for the gym and playground activities which are offered Monday-Thursday each week.

The two playgrounds, East Side and Northrop, are open Monday and Wednesday respectively with the schedule as follows: 9-12 noon, arts and crafts and low games; 1-2:15, small fry activities; 2:15-3:30, girls T ball; and 3:30-5 p.m., boys T ball.

The schedules for the gyms are: Monday, Franklin junior high, 1-5 p.m. and 6:30-8:30; Tuesday, Northrop, 1-5 p.m. and Lincoln, 6:30-8:30; Wednesday, Franklin, 1-5:00 and 6:30-8:30; Thursday, Northrop, 1-5 p.m. and Lincoln, 6:30-8:30.

Franklin junior high offers basketball, volleyball, trampoline, gym hockey and ping pong. The high school gym is open for basketball, volleyball and the weight machine while Northrop makes use of basketball, volleyball and gym hockey.

MARK STORHAUG, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Storhaug, is about to try a front drop on the trampoline in the Franklin junior high school gym. Mark was taking part in one of the activities offered in the Thief River Falls summer recreation program. The trampoline is one of the favorite pastimes offered, although the youngsters can also play basketball, ping pong, volleyball and gym hockey.

A PERSON doesn't always land the way he or she would like to, as nine-year-old Elizabeth Brodin found out Wednesday afternoon when her turn came up for the trampoline in the junior high gym. A number of youngsters await their turns on the tramp along the edges as they act as "spotters" in case of a slip or a fall.

Christiansen Hurls Softball No-Hitter

Melvies blanked the VFW 3-0 Tuesday night to take over sole possession of first place in the men's fast-pitch softball standings with a 3-0 record.

Right-hander Leroy Christiansen of Melvies tossed a perfect no-hit, no-run game for the win. Christiansen went to a three-ball count on a batter just once, in the sixth inning, as he retired all 21 men to face him. In addition, Christiansen struck out seven batters to raise his league leading total to 28 strike-outs in 28 innings.

VFW's Harlie Drees was tagged with the loss although he allowed just two hits in the seven innings he worked. Drees was a victim of his own wildness when he walked the first six batters in the third inning. The walks and a bunt single gave Melvies their three runs for the win.

In other action last week, Schmidts won their first game of the year with a 6-2 drubbing of winless Falls Diesel Wednesday night.

Earl Graham of Falls Diesel allowed only two hits, but fell to two costly errors and eight walks in surrendering six runs.

Falls Diesel jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning but the advantage was short-lived as Schmidts came up with three runs in the third and fourth innings for the victory. Tom Shetler made his first appearance on the mound for Schmidts in picking up the win.

The standings now find Melvies in front with a 3-0 mark, followed by the VFW and L.B. Hartz with 2-1 records, Schmidt and St. Hilaire stand 1-2 while Falls Diesel brings up the rear with a 0-3 record.

St. Hilaire and Schmidt will square off for a 7 p.m. game tonight (Monday) on the softball diamond while Hartz and Melvies go at it Tuesday night and VFW will play Falls Diesel Wednesday evening.

Hospital Operation Shows 70-71 Profit

Northwestern Hospital association elected three trustees to its board and heard reports from several hospital departments Monday evening at its annual meeting held at the hospital in Thief River Falls. A net excess of revenue over expenses of $119,501 was indicated in the annual audit report.

Elected trustees for three-year terms were Robert Kinsman, Rufus Olson and Robert Wurst. Kinsman and Olson succeed G. A. Beito and Clyde Christensen who were ineligible for reelection under by-laws of the association, having each served three terms. Wurst was reelected. Stuart McLeod presented the report of the nominating committee.

Dr. A. F. Scheuneman, chief of the medical staff at the hospital, gave the medical report with Miss Lydia Dahlen, director of nursing services, giving the report for that department. Hospital volunteer services were reviewed by Mrs. Betty Waldera, and Les Vigness, chief engineer, reported on the ambulance service and emergency service drill held earlier this month.

James Winjum, treasurer, and Douglas Drazen, controller, presented the financial report. Fiscal year of the association ended April 30.

Statement of operations for the hospital for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1971, showed a net excess of revenue over expenses of $119,501 on total operating revenues (less deductions) of $2,423,825. A year ago the hospital had operating revenue of $1,839,807 and a net loss of $51,695. The excess of $119,501 for 1971 includes an adjustment of about $76,000 applicable to prior year contract settlements (1968-1970) with third-party payors.

The report showed that operating revenues last year included $1,354,759 from room and board, $1,050,837 from ancillary services and $151,896 from the cafeteria and a federal grant, with $133,667 deducted for contractual allowances and provision for doubtful accounts.

Operating expenses included $691,450 for acute patient care and $186,918 for convalescent and nursing patient care services (up in total $156,856 from the previous year); $453,878 for ancillary services; $270,434 for general and administrative; $415,595 for household and property, and $204,283 for dietary. Interest expense was $75,960 for the year.

Total operating revenue (less deductions) was up $584,016 while operating expenses were up only $361,380.

Breakdown of the ancillary service charges included: Drugs and intravenous solutions,

Lincoln High Class Of 1951 Reunion Here

Lincoln high school class of 1951 will hold a 20-year reunion Friday and Saturday in Thief River Falls. Included in the schedule of events will be a social hour, lunch, and a get-acquainted session Friday evening at the Thief River golf club.

On Saturday there will be a morning tour of Lincoln high school, the area vocational-technical school, and Northland state junior college. A social hour and banquet will be held Saturday evening.

Members of the local reunion planning committee reported they have received a good response from former classmates and many of them plan to attend the reunion.

Summer School Program Draws 518 Enrollment

Enrollment in the summer school program for Thief River Falls public schools totals 518 this year with 237 in the high school program and 281 in the elementary program, according to school officials in charge of the summer session.

The high school enrollment is down from last year in both junior and senior high levels while the elementary enrollment shows an increase.

There were 88 senior high school students enrolled last year and only 70 this year, while junior high school students numbered 188 a year ago and only 167 this year. The 281 elementary students include 36 from St. Hilaire and are enrolled in 489 classes.

Summer school started June 18 and will continue through July 30. No school will be held Monday, July 5, due to the Independence day holiday. Nearly all the classes are being held at Franklin junior high and Mark Twain elementary schools.

School Board To Reorganize At Meet Thursday

Organization of the Thief River Falls board of education for the coming year will take place at a special meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school building. Three new members will be joining the board at the organizational meeting.

To be seated at the session will be Edgar Naplin of St. Hilaire and Curtis L. Charlson and Rev. Paul Biegner of Thief River Falls. They succeed Dr. George Martin, Mervin Prestebak and Charles Samuelson.

Prestebak, present board chairman, will preside at the opening of the meeting Thursday. Supt. William Corliss will be assigned control of the meeting to solicit nominations for board chairman. When the chairman is named, he will preside for the election of vice chairman, clerk and treasurer.

Setting of officers' salaries (presently $300 for director, $800 each for clerk and treasurer annually), official depositories for district funds, official newspaper, regular meeting date, school attorney and other matters will also take place.

JHS Flexible Schedule Aired By School Board

Report on the status of flexible scheduling at Franklin junior high school for the 1971-72 term—including an 8 a.m. starting time for about 246 students—was heard Monday evening by the Thief River Falls board of education. Contracts were also awarded for milk, bakery products, gasoline and fuel oil, and lease agreement was approved for rental of the National Guard armory for elementary classes.

The board also reviewed the preliminary expense budget for 1971-72 which shows a total budgeted expense of $4,381,559, and heard a report on preliminary negotiations with the union representing bus drivers and custodians. It was the last board meeting for Dr. George Martin, Mervin Prestebak and Charles Samuelson and Supt. Lloyd M. Johnson.

Upon resolution adopted by the board Monday evening, students within walking distance of the junior high school on the east side of the river will start school at 8 a.m. and be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. for the 1971-72 term. These students, approximately 248 in number, will be scheduled by the principal into physical education, art, shop and home economics classes.

The "Early Bird" program is projected to involve 81 seventh graders, 97 eighth graders and 80 freshmen. There will be 132 boys including 43 from grade seven, 46 from grade eight and 43 from grade nine and 116 girls including 38 from grade seven, 41 from grade eight and 37 from grade nine.

Discuss Scheduling

Neil Taverna, junior high school principal, informed the board that the second run on computer scheduling for the modular program at Franklin had been sent in and return was expected in mid-July.

Taverna also listed additional teachers needed to operate the program. This included full-time art instructor, two-fifths shop and home economics instructors, and one-fifth instructors for algebra and eighth grade English, social studies and mathematics. The latter three would be needed only if enrollment increases sufficiently, he said, and all but the art course could be covered by present staff "provided overload pay is available."

The principal's report also indicated that "some modification to the program will be necessary due to the change in the teacher aide program. Asked by board chairman Mervin Prestebak to explain the modification, he said that aides had previously been assigned to classroom areas not in use for classes to provide accountability for students. Students reported to these rooms during non-scheduled mods and signed out to various areas. The number of aides for Franklin has been substantially reduced for the coming year.

Board member-elect Curtis Charlson asked about the definition full-time teaching and was told it represented pupil contact for ten 25-minute mods. He asked if the board's direction that teachers be employed for an eight hour day had been taken into consideration in the scheduling and was informed by the principal that it had not.

Bid Openings

Only one bid was received for the school milk supply, that being from Bridgeman Creameries at a price of 82 cents per gallon for white milk and 96 cents for chocolate. The bid, which was accepted, was the same as the contract for 1970-71.

Council Discusses Bar, Club Situation

Thief River Falls city council Tuesday night completed its agenda from the meeting of the previous week and took action on other matters concerning the city.

Early discussion in the meeting concerned violations in local 3.2 beer establishments, including drinking by minors and alleged sale of beer after hours. City Police Chief R. E. Waller said that 13 minors have been arrested for drinking at the Eighth Street bar since January, and that there have been several incidents at the Covered Wagon.

Licenses for both establishments expire July 31, and the council's license committee last night recommended that at least one of the licenses not be renewed. The council instructed the city clerk to inform the owners of the Eighth Street bar of a meeting at 7:30 next Tuesday night at which they are to show cause why their beer license should not be revoked. The council will meet with the owners of the Covered Wagon later in the month.

In later action in the meeting, the city council passed a resolution to reject $67,500 in state and federal funds for constructing a park on a 26-acre parcel of land between Greenwood cemetery and the Red Lake river.

Costs to the city would be $22,500, and the council members felt the expense was not justified. Costs included a road through the park, construction of a parking lot and sewer and water facilities, a canoe launching area, picnic tables, barbecue pits and a park building.

The council also took final action in officially establishing positions in the police department, officially appointing Raymond Bren deputy chief and juvenile officer, and Elton C. Cummings as special investigator in the department.

In other action the council decided to have its license committee and the chief of police

HOME ON THE HOME was vacated by the young robin in the top photo as it and three other fledglings fled the nest recently. They had been hatched and nurtured in the nest shown in the bottom photo—built on the front light at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Larson at 806 Kendall av. S. The robin parents built the nest and raised the young with little attention to the Larsons as they used the front door many times a day. Much of the neighborhood shared in the excitement of hatching and first flight of the young birds. The youngster above made it to the branches of a nearby tree on its first fluttering trip from the nest—accompanied by the frantic chirping of the excited parent birds.

United Fund Votes Money To Child Center

In an effort to retain more of the community's charitable dollar locally for needs of area people, the Thief River Falls United Fund board recently voted to give $2,000 to the board of directors of the child day care center to be established next fall.

According to local United Fund secretary Donna Carlson, the number of children with working mothers increased sharply in the last ten years. Across the United States nearly 26 million children under 18 years of age had mothers who were working or looking for work in 1970, according to the U. S. Department of Labor bureau of labor statistics.

She said that information showed that almost six million of these children were less than six years old and required some kind of care when their working mothers were away from home.

Thief River Falls child care center will be open to pre-school children of working mothers and will be supported by fees for care of the children enrolled.

Fuller And Buck Vows Are Spoken At St. John

Candles graced the chancel and pews at St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls on Saturday evening, June 5, for the wedding of Miss Margaret Fuller and Sheldon Buck, both of this city.

Forming the chancel setting for the bridal party were baskets of pink and white carnations and gladioli. Ribbon bows marked the candles on the pews.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Thomas Fuller of this city and the late Thomas Fuller. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buck, also of this city, are the parents of the groom.

Rev. Paul R. Biegner officiated at the double ring ceremony. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. Max Jensen. For the processional, she played Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and for the recessional, "Aire" from "Water Suite." Soloists were David Morken, who sang, "Song of God's Presence," and Terry Dunham, who sang, "Put Your Hand In The Hand." The assembled guests participated by singing, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Roger Fuller of Jackson, Mich. She was attired in a floor-length, empire fashioned gown, designed and made by her mother. The empire bodice of heavy white lace was styled with full sleeves of silk organza featuring a lace cap and wide lace cuffs. Enhancing the gown was a full circular skirt of white satin topped by silk organza. A wide lace trim outlined the high neckline. Matching trim encircled the double tiered, chapel-length veil of silk organza held by a lace headpiece, tied with satin ribbons under her chin. The veil and headpiece were designed and made by the bride. She carried an arrangement of pink roses and white daisies.

Kathy Brown of this city, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Robert (Faye) Thompson of Scandia, sister of the bride, Mrs. Joel (Deborah) Fuller of Sacremento, Calif., sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Gail Fuller of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride. All wore identical floor-length gowns of printed jersy featuring a floral design in cerise and hot pink on a delicate pink background. Their gowns were fashioned with a fitted empire bodice, long puffed sleeves and a full, gathered skirt. To complete their attire, they wore pink pearl chockers, gifts from the bride, pink picture hats and each carried a wicker basket filled with pink carnations and white daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Alan Swenson of Thief River Falls, a friend. Groomsmen were Robert Thompson of Scandia, brother-in-law of the bride, Frank Hazard of Thief River Falls and Mike Anderson of Middle River, friends of the groom. Serving as ushers were Jon Pream and John Vic, friends of the families. The acolytes were cousins of the bride, Marti and Mike Semanko, of rural Thief River Falls.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fuller wore a long-sleeve, light orchid dress with lace trim. The mother of the groom was attired in a peach colored dress featuring short sleeves. Both wore identical corsages of pink roses and white carnations.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. To correspond with the bride's chosen colors, the tables featured pink candles with fresh pink and white carnations, intermingled with daisies. Similar arrangements graced the serving table highlighted by a five tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by the mother of the bride. Pink roses decorated the tiers and topping the cake was a satin bell ornament featuring fresh carnations and daisies.

Many Farm Trucks

WASHINGTON — Nearly one out of every five trucks in the Nation today is used on the farm — a total of nearly 3.5 million farm trucks.

It's a fact—two out of every three adult Americans have inefficient vision . . . which may handicap them in their jobs and daily activities! This may also expose them to dangers on the job or at home that might otherwise have been avoided!

Nursing Class To Train Here In Day-Nite Unit

Annual meeting of the advisory board of the practical nursing program at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school took place last Wednesday at Northwestern hospital here.

One of the major changes for the 1971-72 practical nursing class which the board discussed was the discontinuing of the program's affiliation with the Fergus Falls state hospital. Training there is to be replaced with training at the Day-Nite unit at Northwestern hospital here.

Board members attending were Arnt M. Aune, director of the vocational-technical school; Robert Reeve, vocational counselor at the school, Norman Peterson, hospital administrator; and Lydia Dohlen, director of nursing services at Northwestern hospital.

Faculty instructors at the meeting were Mrs. Ila Flesche, Mrs. Fran Stromberg, Mrs. Betty Roadfeldt, and Mrs. Sylvia Jensen. New board members at the meeting included Mrs. Yvonne Pederson, a graduate of the practical nursing school, and Mrs. Sylvia Olson, who is in charge of public relations.

Graduation ceremonies for the 1971 practical nursing class were set by the board for August 6 in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The public is invited to the graduation.

Social Security Checks Reduced Due To Medicare

Monthly social security checks for beneficiaries 65 and over who have signed up for medicare's doctor bill insurance will be reduced by 20 cents in July, Clifford Kittelson, social security manager in Grand Forks, N.D., said today.

The checks scheduled for delivery on July 3 will have $2.80 deducted for each beneficiary to pay the increased monthly voluntary medical insurance premium. The rate for the past year was $5.30 for each beneficiary.

The increase was announced by the department of health, education and welfare in December in accordance with a requirement in the medicare law that makes an annual review of the costs of the medical insurance program mandatory. The law requires that the monthly premium rate be set at a point estimated to be sufficient to cover all expenses incurred during each premium period, with an allowance for contingencies.

Kittelson said that the medical insurance program supplements the basic hospital insurance part of medicare by helping to pay doctor bills and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital. About 19.5 million people 65 and over have enrolled for this supplementary medical insurance protection. Their monthly premiums cover half the cost of their protection. The other half comes from general federal revenues.

There was $250 damage to the car and $60 damage to the tree and garden.

The matter is being investigated.

The district uses approximately 60,000 gallons of gas per year. Other bidders were Standard Oil company, Perry's Service, Farmers Union Oil company and Mobil Oil company.

The same five firms bid on the number two fuel oil contract with Standard Oil company low at 12.48 cents per gallon. Gustafson was second low at 12.54 cents.

Labor Negotiations

Frank Hamerlinek, administrative assistant, reviewed preliminary negotiations with the union representative for bus drivers and janitors. He said that 31 janitors and 26 bus drivers were involved. An increase of 15 per cent in salaries in all fields had been requested by the union, he noted, and no counter offer had been made.

Janitors presently start at $2.88 per hour, work up to $2.94 after a six-month probationary period and then go to $2 per hour after one year. Lead man at Lincoln school receives an additional $50 per month, at Mark Twain and Franklin $35, and at the other elementary schools and vocational school $15. Bus drivers start at $2.73 and reach $2.90 with three or more years of service. The kindergarten noon route pays $95 per month.

A portion of the discussion centered on availability of applicants for janitorial or bus driver positions, and particularly the possible employment of women as bus drivers. It was noted that the district has no overall transportation policy and that one should be developed.

Budget up $200,000

In presenting the preliminary expenditure budget of $4,381,569, Supt. L. M. Johnson noted that it was up about $200,000 from the budget considered in April. He also said that it appears the 1970-71 expenditure will be about $25,000 over the budget set for last year.

Lease approved for the National Guard armory called for payment of $2,800 in rent plus $2 per day for janitorial service. The district is to furnish soaps, waxes and other janitorial and restroom supplies.

New teaching contracts were approved for Jim A. Kotz, Minneapolis, to teach speech, drama and debate at Lincoln senior high school, and Patricia Tesauro, whose home is in Pennsylvania, to instruct in a new program for the deaf. Kotz has a BA degree from the University of Minnesota, is in his first year of teaching, and will replace Michael Tillmann. Miss Tesauro has a BA degree from Kent State university in Ohio and an MA from the University of Colorado.

Resolutions were adopted to place nurses, cooks, bus drivers, secretaries and aides on summer "lay-off" for purposes of qualification for Public Employers Retirement association benefits, to commend board members Dr. George Martin, Mervin Prestebak and Charles Samuelson for service to local education, and to express appreciation for service to Supt. Lloyd M. Johnson. It was the last meeting for the three board members and Supt. Johnson.

City Council Discusses Bar, Club Situation

meet with the club managers and chairmen of club committees of the various private clubs in town to discuss revisions in the hours they could remain open.

It was suggested that the clubs be allowed to remain open until 1 a.m., possibly locking the doors 15 minutes before that time, and have all patrons out by 1:20 a.m., with only the owner and clean-up personnel allowed on the premises after that time. These hours also would probably be applied to the municipal liquor store. It was also suggested that the proposed ordinance be written so as to allow the private clubs to remain open later during special occasions and conventions.

The council also hired Gerard DeHaan as city building inspector effective immediately in order to comply with the Minnesota state building code which takes effect tomorrow and supersedes local codes of the type presently in effect in Thief River Falls.

It was also decided to rent the first floor of the old city library to the local school district for $75 per month, with the school district to supply maintenance costs and custodial services, as well as paying for any remodeling. The school had wanted the entire library building, but there is currently a nursery school in the basement and the council earlier had promised the nursery school management that they would not be evicted.

'Pest Strips' May Be Harmful To Human Health

Improperly used "pest strips" may be more harmful to human health than the nuisance household insects they are intended to kill, agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald warned Minnesota consumers.

Pest strips, commonly called vaponettes, are the modern replacement for fly paper, made of plastic impregnated with a pesticide called DDVP, for control of flies, mosquitoes, gnats, other small-flying insects, and to reduce the infestation of silverfish.

Commissioner Wefald said Minnesota department of agriculture inspectors have ordered removal of the pest strips from food handling facilities, because of the label warning.

"Consumers should be aware of that warning against use of DDVP pest strips in kitchens, areas where food is prepared or served, or in nurseries or sleeping rooms where infants, aged or ill persons may be confined," commissioner Wefald cautioned.

He said the warning is intensified by the fact that the pest strip, designed primarily for indoor use, is long-lasting and capable of effectively controlling the selected insects in 100 square feet of floor space for a period of three months.

"Consistent with the use policy for all pesticides, consumers must follow exactly all label directions and warnings for effective control of pests with minimal danger to the user, other humans, and household pets," Wefald said.

Cars Multiply Twice As Fast As Population

"Every time the census bureau's clock ticks off a net gain of one in the population of the United States there are two more motor vehicles added to the nation's roads," says secretary of transportation John A. Volpe.

"The population growth rate," says the secretary, "is about 8,000 persons daily while motor vehicles are increasing at a rate of nearly 12,000 per day." Figures released September 18, 1970, by the federal highway administration indicate that motor vehicle registrations in the U.S. will total 108,977,000 by the end of this year. These vehicles have 3,684,065 miles of roads and streets on which to travel, of which 1,573,726 miles are paved.

Building Permits Thru May Total Only $184,000

Five building permits valued at $92,000 were issued in May to Thief River Falls, according to the Federal Reserve bank in Minneapolis. This was a decrease from the $194,000 for permits issued during May, 1970.

Cumulative valuation from January through May of this year is $184,000, as compared with $363,000 over the same period in 1970. All five permits issued in May were for residential housing. Ten permits for housing were issued in May, 1970.

For the entire state of Minnesota the May valuation increased from $74,651,000 in 1970 to $97,032,000 in 1971. The cumulative total for the first five months of 1971 was $334,949,000 compared with $321,878,000 recorded during the same time in 1970.

For the entire Ninth Federal Reserve district, which includes Montana, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, northwest Wisconsin and upper Michigan, the total valuation of building permits issued for new buildings and repairs and alterations during May, 1971, in 313 permit issuing centers was $133,278,000 for 7,795 permits.

In May, 1970, there were 7,061 permits issued with a valuation of $100,818,000. The report from the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis also stated that the cumulative total for the first five months of 1971 showed an increase from $401,850,000 for 19,759 permits in 1970 to $431,954,000 for 22,303 permits in 1971.

Minnesota butter is the highest quality and best buy in the nation. It contains 80 to 82 per cent pure butterfat. Minnesota farmers last year received 74 cents a pound for butterfat.

Mercury, a liquid metal, is about 18% heavier than lead and about 13 times heavier than water. It readily forms mixtures with other metals, and these mixtures are called amalgams. Silver amalgam is the commonest dental cavity-filling material in use in the USA.

Ag Commissioner Suggests Change In Meat Program

Agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald suggested that federal authorities take a second look at and consider adopting one of the significant advantages of the Minnesota meat inspection program taken over May 17 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Utilization of practicing veterinarians established in communities throughout the state was one of the unique strengths and major economies of the Minnesota department of agriculture program. It offers equally substantial savings and advantage to taxpayers, consumers and the rural community in the federal program," commissioner Wefald said.

He stated that a review of the 21-month state program revealed the average cost for the 89 contract veterinarians was only $768.29 on a 12-month basis, compared to a minimum cost of $15,000 annually for full-time veterinary meat inspectors.

Commissioner Wefald reported the cost experience for veterinary inspection of the 93,582 animals slaughtered and processed in 64 Minnesota plants during the 21-month state program was only $1.28 per animal, or barely one-third of one cent per pound.

"Contract veterinarians were utilized in the state program for several reasons. Funding by the 1969 legislature dictated maximum economy. Resident veterinarians are experienced professionals and were readily available on a part-time basis. Our program strengthened their community service and economic ability to remain in the rural areas where they are still needed.

"There is a vast difference in inspection work load," commissioner Wefald said, "between the low volume and widely scattered state licensed plants, and the high volume assembly line slaughtering and processing in the typical federally inspected plants. Many of our plants don't have the volume in a year that some federal plants do in a day."

He pointed out that the $119,660 actually expended for contract veterinarians meat inspection during the 21 months would have hired only eight full time professionals for one year. The 89 veterinarians averaged 1,051.5 animals inspected each in the program.

The meat industries division program summary by director Bernard Steffen revealed the inspections were performed on 45,168 beef animals, 37,008 hogs, 10,173 calves, 1,147 sheep, 20 goats, 67 rabbits and one buffalo. Inspectors condemned 179,738 pounds of meat of the total of 34,663,991 pounds inspected.

Northland Milk Producers Form New Voting Unit

Greenbush and Badger area milk producers of Land O'Lakes, Inc., met and organized the Northland Milk Producers voting unit at a dinner meeting held in the Greenbush high school auditorium on June 22. This voting unit will allow the new producer stockholders of Land O'Lakes, Inc., to be represented by officers and delegates of their choosing.

Ernest Mekash of Greenbush, Lloyd Froasker of Badger and Mrs. Daniel Wange of Greenbush were elected president, vice president and secretary, respectively. Orville Anderson, Karlstad and John W. Stanislowski, Greenbush, were elected as delegate and alternate delegate. The delegate and other officers will represent these member producers of Land O'Lakes, Inc., at membership functions, including the district annual meeting this fall and the Land O'Lakes annual stockholders meeting to be held in Minneapolis in February of 1972.

Frank Randall, local Land O'Lakes manager, welcomed the group and introduced the program. Ervin Vorgert, area manager from Perham, reviewed the changes in the dairy industry in Northwestern Minnesota. George Hildre, supervisor of producer relations, reported on some of the important changes that Land O'Lakes has gone through in the past year. He also explained the functions of the newly organized voting unit.

The members of this voting unit are direct member stockholders of Land O'Lakes, Inc., regional farmers cooperative with general offices in Minneapolis.

Two Canadians In One-Car Smashup Sat.

Two Canadian men were treated and released at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls Saturday morning after a single car accident on Highway 59 ten miles east of the city.

Driver Leva Pietro, of Thompson, Manitoba, and his passenger, Gerald B. Fedchum, of Windsor, Ontario, were driving south at 5:45 a.m. when their 1971 Toyota ran off the right shoulder, came back on the roadway and crossed over into the opposite lane of traffic and then slid sideways, rolling a number of times before returning to its own lane and finally coming to rest in the ditch on the west side of the road. The car was a total wreck.

Minnesota's dairy industry in 1970 produced 45-million more pounds of milk and 2-million more pounds of butterfat than in 1969, with 24,000 less milk cows.

New Postal Service To Start Thursday

New United States postal service beginning tomorrow (Thursday) "carries with it the promise of a really excellent postal service—modern and efficient, but still dedicated to the idea of full public service" according to information received by Thief River Falls postmaster R. J. Dryden.

Most local postal customers should already have received a circular from the new postal service department explaining its new and expanded services, Dryden said. The pamphlet includes information on improved air mail service, addressing methods, the importance of ZIP codes, tips for mail to servicemen, and proper packaging of items for mailing.

According to information released by the postal service, new air mail standards of service have already been set. These goals now provide for next day delivery for a minimum of 95 per cent of all airmail letters destined for principal cities within a 600-mile radius of their point of origin.

Air mail second-day delivery will be provided for a minimum of 95 per cent of airmail letters outside a 600-mile radius but within the continental United States. These letters must be properly ZIP coded and deposited in specially marked airmail boxes or collection points before 4 p.m.

In addition to the airmail collection boxes that have been appearing along busy streets and in front of post offices, many smaller post offices and self service units are also getting airmail boxes, providing collection service on Sundays and holidays, according to Dryden.

This increased service is the result of programs designed to keep air mail separate so that it can move ahead of ordinary mail and get on earlier flights. (Ordinary mail traveling long distances is also airlifted, but only when space is available after air mail, passengers, and air freight.)

Many other programs and ways of improving service are now either underway or being studied. This includes a bulk mail network with facilities for processing parcel post already under construction outside the congested downtown areas of large cities. This network should enable the postal service to deliver packages more quickly and efficiently.

To be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, self-service postal units will provide a new convenience to customers. These units are being installed in shopping centers, apartment complexes, in the lobbies of all new post offices, and in many older ones. More than 500 have been installed, and hundreds more will be added.

Postal officials also urge that customers use ZIP codes. With the increasing use of modern mail handling equipment there is an increasing reliance on ZIP codes to move the mail rapidly and accurately, officials say. ZIP code mail can be scanned by sophisticated electronic sensors and processed at a rate of up to 42,000 letters per hour. Mail that is not ZIP coded must wait for the slower methods of manual processing.

Mailing early is another way that customers can help to speed up mail delivery. Congestion develops in post offices when the great bulk of mail arrives after 5 p.m. All customers, and particularly those in business, can relieve the congestion and insure better service by depositing mail early and often during the day, rather than all at once at the close of each day's business.

Land O'Lakes, Inc., Minneapolis, paid out more than $2 million in cash as patronage dividends to member cooperatives and direct members the week of June 20. The disbursement is 20 per cent of Land O'Lakes member and patron earnings for the year 1970. Allocations were based on the applicable volume of business each member cooperative and member transacted with Land O'Lakes during the year.

Following past practices, the remaining 80 per cent of earnings was allocated proportionately in reserve equities for redemption at a later date.

Nearly 300,000 farmers owned Land O'Lakes, either through direct membership or membership in approximately 1,000 affiliated local cooperatives located throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Land O'Lakes earnings are obtained by marketing its members' milk, turkey and eggs as processed and branded foods for the grocery, foodservice and food processing industries, and from the sale of feed, seed, fertilizers, chemicals, petroleum products, automotive supplies and general merchandise, and the marketing of soybean oil and meal.

Dairy Farmers In Two Counties Form Voting Unit

Dairy farmers in Roseau and Lake-of-the-Woods counties elected Alan Magnuson and Jerry Miller of Roseau and Sheldon Erickson of Badger, as voting unit president, vice president and secretary, respectively, at a dinner meeting held in the Roseau city auditorium on June 23. The group also elected Andy Streiff of Warroad and Robert Brinkman of Roseau as delegate and alternate delegate.

The delegate and other officers will represent the stockholder members of the Roseau—Lake-of-the-Woods Producers voting unit at the Land O'Lakes district meeting this fall and the Land O'Lakes annual stockholders meeting to be held in Minneapolis in February of 1972.

Clifford Skime, Land O'Lakes manager at Roseau, welcomed the group and remarked briefly on the changes taking place at the Roseau, Warroad and Baudette milk procurement areas. Also participating from Land O'Lakes were Ervin Vorgert, area manager from Perham, and George Hildre, supervisor of producer relations. Hildre conducted the meeting and explained the functions of the voting unit in representing the member stockholders of Land O'Lakes in this area.

Members of the Roseau—Lake-of-the-Woods voting unit are all direct member stockholders of Land O'Lakes, Inc.

Speeds Too Great For Brakes Says Safety Official

Many drivers on the highways are dangerously overdriving their brakes, public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

Pointing out that for many vehicles on the roads today the limit for legal braking is as low as 45 miles per hour, Hoaglund said it is obvious that nearly all cars have speed capacities in excess of their braking capabilities.

"Our studies indicate that braking capabilities of some new car lines actually decreased between 1940 and 1968, while the average braking improvement failed to keep pace with the increase in speeds." He said the department's study is based in part on the Department of Transportation publications on the braking ability of new cars.

In 1968, he pointed out, average car speed on rural highways was 60.4 miles per hour compared with 48 in 1940. "In 1948, the maximum speed at which all cars could meet the requirements for a panic stop was 48.5 miles per hour, and in 1958 it had dropped to 45.8 miles per hour, according to our studies. For the legal braking standard of 17 feet per second the speeds were 56 miles per hour in 1948 and 53 in 1968. But at the same time, highway speeds had increased by more than 12 miles per hour and they are continuing to increase. In 1968, two-thirds of all vehicles were exceeding 55 miles per hour, 45 per cent were exceeding 60, and 12 per cent were exceeding 70.

"At 70 miles per hour only one new car model is capable of meeting the legal braking standard of 27 feet per second and none can meet the standard for a panic stop. It is clear that in an emergency, many drivers on our highways would have little or no chance of survival.

"At 60 miles per hour, your car is traveling 88 feet per second. The average driver reacting to an emergency will travel 83 feet before applying the brakes, and will travel another 130 to 200 feet or so before bringing the car to a stop. In a situation like this, the driver is called on for split-second decisions where few, if any, options exist."

Two From Area Participate In Summer Mission

Geraldine Peterson

Geraldine Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Peterson of Thief River Falls, and Sandra Dahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Engvald Dahl of Newfolden, will participate in the sixth annual Assemblies of God "Ambassadors in Mission" (AIM) program.

Approximately 350 high school and college students will travel to Germany, Panama, Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia, Jamaica, Haiti, the Bahamas and the Virgin Islands as well as Hawaii and Alaska for summer evangelistic efforts.

Both girls are members of the Thief River Falls Assemblies of God church pastored by the Rev. Robert Leen. Basic activities for the summer include daily house-to-house witnessing in cooperation with the youth of various countries, as well as mass evangelistic efforts and conducting vacation Bible schools and other types of children's services.

After completing basic training he will undergo training as a Pershing missile crewman and will then spend a two-year tour of duty in Europe.

Douglas P. Martell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frances A. Martell of Red Lake Falls, enlisted in the U.S. Army June 25. He is a 1970 graduate of Plummer high school and was named to the Minnesota all-state football team two years running.

Safety Council Gives Rules For Holiday Driving

Automobile crashes may claim the lives of 25 persons and seven may drown over the three-day Fourth of July weekend, according to the Minnesota Safety council.

In 1970, over a two-day weekend, 21 died in traffic and five persons were drowned. A major accident claimed the lives of nine persons in a railroad crossing crash near Anoka.

With the tremendous increase in traffic over the entire state during the three-day weekend, the safety council suggests that "watch out for the other guy" is the best defensive driving technique.

1. Allow at least three car lengths between you and the car ahead.
2. Watch for the car behind you, avoid sudden stops and flash your brake lights as a warning in advance of your decision to stop, if possible.
3. Watch for merging cars on freeways; move to the left lane to avoid sideswipes.
4. Be sure that you have plenty of room to pass; when in doubt, don't pass.
5. Turn on your lights at sunset; don't forget to lower your high beam for approaching cars.
6. Start your trip early so you don't have to rush.
7. Wear those seat belts and be sure that all other occupants do, too.
8. Don't drive until you've allowed an hour per drink for the effects of alcohol to wear off.

Drug Treatment Center To Open At VA Hospital

Veteran administration hospital in Minneapolis is one of three VA hospitals in the midwest scheduled to open specialized drug treatment centers this year.

VA hospitals in Minneapolis and Iowa City, Ia., plan to formally open their drug treatment units by the end of next month.

Another unit is set for VA Hospital, Omaha, Neb., by October 1.

The three are part of plans for a six-fold increase in the number of VA drug treatment centers reported recently by Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs.

President Nixon, in his June 17 drug control message to Congress, called for "the immediate development and emplacement of VA drug rehabilitation centers which will permit both inpatient and outpatient care of addicts in a community setting."

Five of the specialized VA drug treatment centers have been placed in operation since October of 1970. Johnson said VA planning provides for the opening of 14 more centers by the end of next month, and the creation of still another 13 centers by approximately October 1.

He said this 1971 total of 32 specialized treatment centers will provide capacity for the annual care of an estimated 0,000 veteran-addicts in addition to veterans already receiving drug treatment in a regular VA hospital setting.

The VA Administrator noted that 781 veterans manifesting drug abuse or dependence (including [illegible] narcotics users) were discharged from VA hospitals in the last nine months of fiscal year 1969. The number of such veterans treated and discharged increased to 3,148 (including 1,374 narcotics users) for the entire fiscal year of 1970.

For just the first six months of the current fiscal year 1971, which includes the operation of the five VA pilot drug treatment centers, the number of veteran drug discharges totaled 2,460 (including 1,188 narcotics users).

No Passing Law Is Amended For Two-Lane Roads

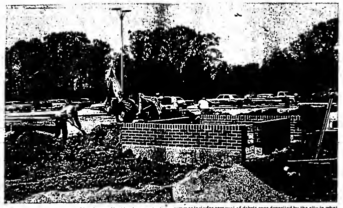
Effective immediately, it is unlawful to pass another vehicle proceeding in the same direction on two-lane streets, roads and highways at all intersections within cities, villages or boroughs, and at all rural intersections that are marked, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. H. Hoaglund announced today.

"Though all railroad crossings on the state's trunk highway system are now striped with no passing lines, this is not true on all other highway systems. It is not contemplated to so mark all intersections."

Hoaglund also clarified the phrase, "all rural intersections that are marked." "This means," he said, "the sign on the highway that calls attention to the intersection roadway. Under this new amendment, no passing will be allowed within 100 feet of or through these intersections. The same 100 foot rule will apply to rail crossings.

"However, as with all new laws, we will not be overstrict and will issue warning citations until the driving public becomes familiar with the new law."

The no passing law does not apply to multiple-lane or one-way streets and highways.



FLAGPOLE AREA on the parking lot at Northland state junior college in Thief River Falls has been constructed of concrete and brick prior to surfacing of the parking lot area. The area will include walkways through the openings shown to permit access to the school's main entrance from the parking lot. Other work being done this summer includes removal of debris once deposited by the city in what will be the college's outdoor classroom and ecological area and preparation of the athletic field to the north of the campus buildings. Work also continues on completion of the fine arts and physical education buildings which are to be ready for use this fall.

House Ups Funds For Water And Sewer Grants

U.S. House of Representatives has increased—to $800 million—federal funds for improving water and sewage facilities throughout the country, it was announced by Congressman Bob Bergland.

As part of an omnibus appropriations bill for agriculture, consumer and environmental programs, the House doubled, to $700 million, funds for water and sewage programs administered by the department of housing and urban development (HUD), and added "44 million to similar programs administered by the Farmers Home administration (FHA). According to Bergland, the FHA funds, which now total $100 million, must be used for projects in communities of less than 10,000 population.

Also included in the bill was $545 million to improve, through the REA, electrical service in rural areas. This amount was $10 million less than Bergland had requested but $218 million more than the funds suggested by the Nixon administration and includes money which the Administration refused to spend last year.

Bergland did not support a successful effort to limit farm subsidies to $20,000 saying "I do support this limitation but amending an appropriations bill is not the way to do it. The $55,000 limitation, passed last year, was not effective because there are too many loopholes in the agricultural act of 1970" he said. "Until we close these loopholes any attempt to limit subsidies will be meaningless," Bergland added. He expressed the fear that this action would "lull Congress into believing they have done their job and make attempts to gain real limitations difficult."

In total, the bill provides $12.1 billion for programs during fiscal year 1972.

CCC Regulations On Grain Loans Are Amended

U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced amendments to Commodity Credit Corporation loan regulations on grain and similarly handled commodities which will permit producers to enter into contracts to sell these commodities without loss of eligibility for loans.

The amendments provide that a producer shall be eligible for loans if he enters into a contract to sell, or gives an option to sell his commodity, if under the contract or option he retains control, risk of loss and title to the commodity.

Loan regulations previously provided that commodities which producers agreed to sell were ineligible for loans even though the producer still retained title, risk of loss and control. This restriction has tended to hold down marketing and has limited the producer's freedom to agree to sell his commodity at the best price obtainable, USDA officials explained.

The manner in which loan collateral is released to the buyer remains unchanged under the new regulations. In the case of grains and, similarly handled commodities, loan collateral will be released only upon the written request of the producer and written authorization by the county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service at the time of the release. The county office as in the past, will not release CCC's security interest on the loan collateral until the loan has been repaid.

Rosasco Heads MEA; Succeeds Robert Arnold

James J. Rosasco, Red Wing Central high school counselor, is the new president of the Minnesota Education association (MEA). He succeeds Richfield elementary teacher Robert F. Arnold.

Rosasco was selected by a statewide election conducted within the association by mail ballot over John Urseth, a counselor at Elk River senior high, and officially assumes the role of president at the 109th representative assembly of the National Education association (NEA) in Detroit, Mich.

Discussing education in the 70's, Rosasco says "I believe teachers must become challengers for change rather than custodians of the present. They must," he emphasizes, "search themselves for the courage and initiative that will underline their desire to improve the quality of education in Minnesota."

An Air Force veteran of World War II, Rosasco is a graduate of Augustana college, Sioux Falls, S.D., and has a master's degree from Winona state college. He worked in business and industry for six years before becoming a teacher. Since then he spent five years as a teacher-counselor in Kenyon and 12 years in Red Wing where he is presently guidance director.

Active at the local, state and national association levels, Rosasco is a past state chairman of the MEA legislative commission, a past president of the Minnesota chapter of association of college admissions counselors and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Exercise Can Be Enjoyable Way To Keep In Trim

If you want to be in top form this summer, at your physical and mental best, take yourself in hand now—and firm up, slim down and shape up!

And if the traditional idea of exercise turns you off, remember that exercise need not be the calisthenics that call for knee bends and toe touching. Choose a form of exercise you really enjoy and be sure you can fit it easily into your daily routine. The pleasurable options range from modern dancing, horseback riding and bowling to volleyball, swimming and tennis and bicycling, jogging and just plain walking.

No matter what your choice, be moderate but resolute in your approach. Build up to exercise gradually.

Walking can be a good start to get into proper condition. Map out some walking tours that will take you to interesting areas you've never explored on foot. Make up your mind to walk 10 to 20 blocks everday instead of driving or taking the bus. Walk, don't ride, at every chance you get.

Joining your local gym class is another way to get into blue ribbon form. The exercise momentum will increase little by little. And after a toning-up session, you can reward yourself with a refreshing plunge in the pool.

Bicycling has become a favorite sport for women concerned with keeping a slim, trim figure. Pedal pushing requires a lot of energy to keep going, but it has its payoff in health and beauty benefits. Experts recommend a smooth and steady pedaling, not the pedal-and-coast routine that will wear you out in no time. If you get tired, stop. Don't go too far the first times out, for the return trip looms ahead.

Tennis is increasingly popular with women—with more than three million amateur players at present—and it's splendid for running, jumping and stretching. Bowling is good for leg, arm and muscle coordination. Jogging is beneficial—and it has the approval of the American Medical association and the American Heart association. However, these groups caution you to be examined by your doctor before starting a jogging program. Running and swimming are both excellent conditioners.

Whatever sport you pursue, keep in mind that exercising regularly, preferably everyday, is of prime importance. Don't try to cram your sports activities into a big weekend effort. Medical authorities agree that excessive concentrated activity on the weekend can set you down the path to coronaries at worst, seriously strained muscles at least.

And whatever you do, stick to it. Set yourself realistic goals and meet them. Your reward will be more than that wonderful feeling of well-being and vitality—you'll be in top form for free-wheeling summer fashions, even hot pants!

Underinflating Tires Produces High-Speed Risk

Minnesota highway department was recently informed by the highway research board that underinflating your tires by 20 per cent is like increasing your speed by at least 30 per cent, producing the same effect as ultra high-speed driving.

The report, quoting Piero Sierra, head of Pirelli Tire Corp., stated that "If your conventional bias-ply tire is supposed to carry 30 pounds of pressure and you have only 24 pounds, and if you're driving at 70 miles per hour, your tires are being activated to the speed equivalent of 95 miles per hour!

"Thus the greater the percentage of underinflation," the Pirelli spokesman said, "the greater the accompanying 'speed intensity' for your tires. An important consequence," he added, "is that your tires are made vulnerable to all the road risks of high-speed driving."

Besides producing a speeding effect, another major by-product of under-inflated tires is "heat build-up." At 60 mph each section of the conventional tire flexes 855 times per minute. There is tremendous heat build-up due to the scissor-like movement between the plies.

In a report by the national bureau of standards it was noted that more than one out of four cars has at least one underinflated tire.

Loss Association Gives Check List For Storm Loss

John Carlson, president of the Northwest Loss association, suggests the following check list for property owners relative to storm loss prevention:

Pre Storm — (1) Tie down or move under cover all loose equipment, lawn furniture and machinery. (2) Secure all doors, windows, gates, awnings, etc. (3) When a severe storm approaches, listen to your radio. (Keep a transistor handy in the basement during the tornado season.)

Storm—(1) Remain inside—basement for tornado—until storm passes. If in the open lie flat in a low spot or ditch.

Post Storm—(1) If building is badly damaged, turn off all utilities. (2) Don't smoke or light a candle if there is a possibility of leaking gas. (3) Take steps—keep record of cost—to protect your property from additional damage. For example, fasten a tarp or plastic sheeting over section of damaged roof to protect contents from rain.

Also (4) If you have to leave your home, take important and easily moved valuables with you. (You may want to move other contents to the basement, another building or to neighbors, friends, etc.) (5) Notify your insurance agency of your loss. If your damage is minor and a major storm has struck, wait a few days and allow serious losses to be given first attention.

Also (6) Cooperate with local laws and civil defense authority. (7) Keep a record (including receipts) of your living expenses, meals, lodging, etc. If unable to [illegible] insurance covers specified additional living expenses. If you are not sure of what is and what isn't covered, check with your agent before renting a villa.)

Also (8) Don't sign a repair contract until your insurance company has seen the damage. (9) Check with your Better Business Bureau before dealing with an unknown supplier or repair operator.

Right Now—(1) Prepare an inventory of building or home contents—(photographs helpful). (2) Check your insurance. (a) Do you have adequate protection relative to replacement cost? (b) Are all buildings and their contents insured? (c) Do you know where your policy is?

The Northwest Loss association is an insurance industry group composed of property claims representatives.

Garden Valley To Send Checks For Tax Refunds

Garden Valley telephone company will send out 10,253 checks this week totaling more than $50,000 to the cooperative's subscribers who paid communications excise taxes in 1966, 1967, and 1968.

According to Harold W. Peterson, general manager, the checks represent federal excise tax refunds and interest received from the Internal Revenue Service for the 1966 through 1968 billing periods.

"Garden Valley filed refund claims on behalf of the cooperative's patrons," Peterson said, "on the premise that subscribers paid excessive taxes because the excise rates were applied to their gross charges for telephone rental and long distance service. Since the cooperative recorded surpluses in those three years, the refunds are based on each subscriber's proportionate share of the reduction in the cost of their service."

Subscribers who used more service from 1966 through 1968 will receive smaller checks.

"For accounting control purposes," Peterson said, "all checks, even those for just a few cents, will be sent out and should be cashed by subscribers. This procedure is more efficient for the company than attempting to make individual exceptions when handling more than 10,000 accounts."

Since the current refunds are limited to 1966, 1967, and 1968, only those individuals and organizations which were then Garden Valley subscribers and paid excise taxes will receive refund checks.

Garden Valley telephone company has also requested refunds totaling an additional $35,202 for 1969 and 1970. These claims are currently pending with the Internal Revenue Service and, if approved, will be distributed at a later date.

The company recommends that subscribers refer to their income tax advisers for information concerning the taxability of the refunds. In general, however, it is the company's understanding that the interest portion must be reported for tax purposes and that the excise tax refund is subject to income taxes if previously deducted as an expense.

Dates And Fees On Pesticides To Be Changed

Changes made by the 1971 Minnesota legislature in renewal dates and some fees for licensing and registration of fertilizer and pesticide operations and products will take effect on July 1, 1971, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald advised the two industries.

Adjustment from a fiscal to a calendar year basis will require collections of fees for an 18-month period on the current renewal. License and registration fees for this renewal are expected to approximate $140,000.

License renewals are expected from 500 resident and 125 out-of-state fertilizer manufacturers, blenders and manipulators. Although the fee remains $50 per year, the renewal date adjustment will require a $75 fee this July 1.

The fertilizer brand and grade registration fee is increased from $25 to $50 per year for specialty items labeled for non-agricultural uses. Nearly 400 products have been in this category, but some dealers have indicated they will drop some low volume and duplicating formula labels due to the increased fee.

Fertilizer manufacturers and distributors will continue to pay a state imposed fee of 10 cents per ton on all products manufactured, blended and sold for agricultural use.

Commissioner Wefald said that gross income from the registration of economic poisons and devices is expected to remain about the same, despite a major change in the fee schedule. Currently, 5,433 economic poisons and devices are registered for sale and use in Minnesota by nearly 500 companies.

The Legislature eliminated the former sliding scale fee schedule for economic poison and device registration and substituted an annual fee of $7 per product. The current renewal for 18 months requires a $10.50 fee. The old schedule required $9.50 each for the first five products, then only $2.50 each for additional products registered by the same firm.

Minnesota fertilizer and economic poison licenses and registrations now being renewed will expire December 31, 1972. Subsequent renewals will be for one year.

JOHN S. IHLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Les Ihle of Thief River Falls, was inducted into the United States Army at the Fargo induction station last Friday. He will receive his basic training at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Forage Machine Demonstration Day July 15

July 15 is the date of a forage machinery demonstration day to be held on the Curtis Skrutvold farm one mile west of Roseau on Highway 11. The event will start at 1:00 p.m.

On display and being demonstrated will be the latest haying equipment including conditioners, mowers and windrowers, balers, bale handling equipment, loose hay stacking equipment, and loose hay chopping and stacking wagons as well as the latest in haylage equipment.

Also on display will be a demonstration plot comparing mowed hay, mowed and conditioned hay, windrowed and conditioned hay, and over-conditioned hay. Present to explain the operation of the equipment will be field representatives of the machinery companies and Jack True, University of Minnesota extension agricultural engineer.

Prior to the machinery demonstration, at 12:30 visitors can see a comparison of alfalfa, trefoil, brome, timothy, bluegrass, tall fescue, orchardgrass and reed canary grass in a forage pasture plot trial. These plots will also be available for inspection following the machinery demonstration at about 4:00 p.m. A member of the University of Minnesota agronomy department will be present to discuss the plots. Everyone is invited to attend.

Withholding Tax May Be Adjusted

Take a moment today to estimate your 1971 federal income tax. Compare it with your present tax withholding. If you find that you will owe additional tax at the end of the year, now is the time to adjust your tax withholding—claiming fewer exemptions or having additional amounts withheld. It's more pleasant to owe no extra tax than to pay more when you file.

This is the IRS suggestion to married taxpayers when both husband and wife are working, or individuals who earn more than $11,500, and persons who itemize deductions that amount to less than 13 per cent of their income.

Withholding rates have been reduced this year, especially for single individuals, according to George Leihert, IRS district director. This could result in under withholding for many middle income taxpayers in Minnesota, he indicated.

"It is important to every taxpayer involved to take a look at his tax situation now", Leihert said. "Your employer may be willing to help you. If any adjustment is needed, it is not too late now to take steps to tip the tax scales in your favor now."

Wefald Elected As Farm Trade Group Secretary

Minnesota agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald has been elected secretary of the Mid-America International Agri-Trade Council (MIATCO) at its third annual meeting held last week in British Columbia, Canada.

MIATCO is the nation's pilot regional export marketing development organization, pooling the expertise and resources of the 12 midwest state departments of agriculture to increase foreign sales of agricultural products.

Commissioner Wefald reported the MIATCO directors are considering trade missions to Germany this fall, and to Japan and Switzerland in 1972, patterned after the successful initial Mid-America Foods Festival held this spring in Tokyo, Japan.

He said the marketing services division of the Minnesota department of agriculture is currently inviting inquiries about the food exposition in Cologne, Germany, Sept. 25 through Oct. 1, from in-state farm producer and food processor organizations that are in or desire to enter the export market.

Hospital Ass'n Urges Acceptance Of Alcoholics

Edwin L. Crosby, M.D., executive president of AHA, said the resistance by many hospitals to admitting acutely ill alcoholics as alcoholics, is still a serious problem.

The national institute on alcohol abuse and alcoholism with the national institute of mental health has awarded a three-year grant to AHA to develop and evaluate in-service training materials on hospital care of the alcoholic. The first-year funding is close to $155,000.

Dr. Crosby said that some professional health personnel share many of the popular prejudices about alcoholism, and that these must be dispelled.

"Many professionals believe the alcoholic patient will be disruptive, unmanageable, need special facilities, won't pay his bills and will require time-consuming and ultimately unsuccessful treatment," said Dr. Crosby. "These people need to know the facts about alcoholism so they can approach the alcoholic as a sick person, not as a nuisance."

Earlier studies of the AHA have shown that acutely ill alcoholics don't need special facilities—they can be cared for successfully in any hospital nursing unit, integrated with other patients. Community hospitals must educate their personnel to accept the alcoholic as a patient needing treatment and learn to deal with his disease as they deal with diabetes or a heart condition.

The AHA program will be directed toward making enlarged treatment resources available to alcoholics by bringing an education program directly into the hospital. The curriculum will include tapes, slides, self-tests, and other materials to be available to all hospitals in the country at a nominal cost, and will be used to train all personnel who might come in contact with alcoholic patients in the hospital environment.

This approach to in-service education on alcoholism treatment is the only one of its kind in the country, and AHA hopes it will result in a new "open-door" policy for many hospitals currently reluctant to admit the known alcoholic.

The program stresses treatment of the acute phase of alcoholism and provides information about rehabilitation resources that are available to the patient upon discharge.

Mrs. Helen D. McGuire, director of AHA's division of continuing health care, has been named project director.

The AHA recently completed a two-year grant [illegible] which was used to develop a workshop program for hospitals, providing an introduction to the alcoholic's situation and the responsibility of hospitals for care of the acutely ill alcoholic.

Mrs. McGuire said, "A combined effort between the hospital and other community facilities is needed if the alcoholic is ever to find his way into the health care system."

Independence Day Noted By Settlers

July 4th used to be one of the most celebrated holidays of the year, says Hermina Poatgieter, editor of Gopher Historian, junior historical magazine of the Minnesota Historical society. "I'm not sure why; maybe because the original occasion for the celebration was not so far in the past," she added.

From the library of the Historical society come glimpses of the observance of the Glorious Fourth by early day Minnesotans.

One of the first Independence Day celebrations in the whole upper Mississippi valley was at Fort Snelling in 1836. Major Taliaferro, Indian agent at the fort, planned the celebration in honor of George Catlin, famed artist of Indians and frontier days, then a guest at the fort. Both Chippewa and Sioux Indians gathered at the fort for a great game of lacrosse which Catlin portrayed in one of his most famous drawings. And after the two hour lacrosse contest played on a half mile long field, the Indians danced for their visitors, performing the exciting dance of the braves, and the buffalo, bear and eagle dances. As compensation the Indians were treated to a 21 gun salute.

Feasting marked the day in the tiny settlement of Rochester in the year 1855, according to an article on that city in the Fall 1967 "Gopher Historian". George Head and Robert H McReady were trying to attract settlers to their property and each man decided to stage a feast. Head announced that he would roast a sheep and invited all to partake. McReady spread the word that he would barbecue a young steer. One feast was held in the morning and one in the afternoon, so that the entire population could attend both. The men of the crowd furnished fireworks by shooting off their guns.

A speech by an "orator," usually a politician, was a must for old time July Fourths. It was in just such an oration that Dr. Thomas P. Foster described Duluth as the Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas. Later, according to the July 4, 1943 "Duluth News-Tribune", the oration was widely circulated, and "historians give it some of the credit for attracting hundreds of new settlers, capitalists and adventurers."

Another July Fourth orator was M. C. Chamberlain who described the 1875 festivities in his history of Lac qui Parle county. The following is an abridged version of his record. "In 1875 there was sufficient patriotism in the county to celebrate the Fourth. About ten a.m. there could be seen ox teams coming from every point on the compass, on which were men and women and children." The day's activities included reading of the Declaration of Independence, lunch basket march to the table and a rag muffin parade and concluded with fireworks. (Later in the piece he explained: "A sheet of brown paper with eye holes, a slit for the mouth and a hole for the nose was all that was required of each member to constitute a well equipped rag muffin.)

"I have stood before quite a number of Fourth of July gatherings and I never experienced a more attentive or orderly crowd. What they lacked in fine clothes was made up in observing good order. Directly in front of me was a man with a straw hat, a buffalo overcoat, pants of striped bed ticking, and barefooted. I noticed another man who had on his head a dilapidated Old Soldiers' cap, an old overcoat, with a pair of boot jacks on his feet." (Note: Boot jacks were a sort of prairie overshoe—a stiff, protective material, sometimes metal and sometimes wood, shaped like a length of rubber tire, moulded to the boot or shoe and tied on the boot or shoe to protect the sole, tied at the toe with a length of twine and on the calf of the leg to a height according to the wearer's fancy.)

Boating was a popular July 4 pastime, then and now. In the gay Nineties it was steamboating. In "Steamboating on Mississippi Headwaters," in Minnesota History, Spring, 1952, I. H. Hart writes:

"As late as 1910, a hundred and fifty persons joined in an excursion to Sandy Lake on the 'Oriole' to see the new dam and celebrate the national holiday. The boat left Aitkin at three o'clock in the morning of the Fourth, reached Sandy Lake about noon, and left the lake about two the next morning, returning to Aitkin about 8:00 a.m."

Playhouse At Bemidji Plans 8 Productions

Paul Bunyan Playhouse at Bemidji opened its 20th anniversary year on June 22 with the production of "Lilies of the Field," with Ken Williams, first black actor at the Playhouse, playing the role that brought Sidney Poitier an Academy award.

"Lilies," the 173rd production of the Playhouse, ran through Sunday, and Neil Simon's hilarious "Plaza Suite" opened for a week's run on Tuesday.

The Playhouse, located at Ruttger's Birchmont lodge, four miles north of Bemidji on Highway 71, begins nightly at 8:30 p.m. and runs from Tuesday through Sunday nights. Admission is $2.25 for adults, and $1.25 for students through high school.

Terry Markovich, the eighth director in 20 years of Playhouse history, returns for his second season as artistic director. Kathy Camara is again delighting theatre audiences. Al Reller is returning in "The Music Man," and 10 additional actors will appear with this year's professional company.

The season's 1971 productions are: "Lilies of the Field" June 22-27, "Plaza Suite" June 29-July 4; "Arsenic and Old Lace" July 6-11, "Cactus Flower" July 13-18, "Three Men on a Horse" July 20-25, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" July 27-August 1; "The Music Man" (musical) August 3-15, and "The Price" August 17-22.

Neil Simon's comedy "Plaza Suite" involves the personal lives of several occupants of suite 719 at the Plaza hotel.

The Paul Bunyan Playhouse is a community managed, non-profit organization which brings nine weeks of professional summer stock theater to the Bemidji area.

Bergland Happy With Provisions Of Welfare Bill

Congressman Bob Bergland has hailed welfare reform provisions of the social security amendments of 1971 (H.R. 1) passed by the U.S. House of Representatives this week and especially praised the "work incentive" provisions and the $1.56 to $2 billion in relief it offers state and local governments.

Supporting the bill, and defending it against critics of the so-called "guaranteed annual wage" provisions, Bergland said: "In effect, the old welfare program offered a guaranteed annual wage for not working. The new bill offers these benefits to people who seek employment."

"In the long run," Rep. Bergland added, "This effort to take people off the welfare rolls and put them on the payrolls will be less costly than the old program."

Bergland also noted that under the old program, "thousands of families would have been better off if the father abandoned the family and they went on welfare. Now incentives are offered to keep them together and to help the father provide adequately for his family's needs."

Bergland emphasized that welfare reform was "only one aspect" of the legislation and said: "Since coming to Congress, I have been working for an additional five per cent increase in social security benefits, over and above the 10 per cent increase voted earlier this year, plus automatic increases based on the cost of living. Both provisions are now a fact," he said. According to Bergland, "more reasonable benefits" for the blind and disabled are also included in the bill.

Bergland expressed the hope that the House amendments "would be improved" by the senate to allow state and local governments to provide "greater and more meaningful" property tax relief. "All in all, the new changes represent a greater stride toward solving the scandalous mess we call welfare," Bergland concluded.

Brochure Assists Truck Drivers To Check Vehicles

A new brochure has just been published to help truck drivers do a better job of safety-checking their vehicles, according to Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund.

The brochure has been published by the federal bureau of motor carrier safety in cooperation with two major trucking associations.

"The recommended procedure can be likened to a pilot performing his pre-flight check of the aircraft before takeoff," said motor carrier safety director Robert A. Kaye. "Much of the preflight check is a visual inspection, and the same type procedure can be equally effective in a truck precheck."

"We have found," said Hoaglund, "that many drivers are not familiar with the proper procedure for a pretrip check of their vehicle. This check must include more than just 'checking the lights and kicking the tires.' Drivers must use a systematic procedure, and more important, they must be trained in what to look for, not just what to look at."

Distribution of "Truck Drivers' Pretrip Checklist" will be made with the cooperation of the American Trucking association and the private truck council. Individual copies may also be obtained, without cost, by writing the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety, Federal Highway Administration, 400 Seventh Street S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591. Motor carriers or other interested parties may reproduce the checklist in any desired quantities.

A similar brochure was recently released for bus drivers.

'Can Avoid Illness', Says Chiropractor

According to Dr. Richard J. Hogan, 2nd Vice President of the Minnesota Chiropractic association, many illnesses could be avoided if people followed good health care practices.

"Human beings tend to put off until tomorrow what they should do today," the Duluth chiropractor said. "And although they may be puzzled by a pain, usually they don't seek health care until the condition has reached serious proportions."

He said that too many people try to diagnose their own illnesses. In so doing, they have a tendency to relate the illness to that part of the body at which it occurs. In many cases the cause may be elsewhere, such as the spine, and the problem may be more serious than the pain indicates. For example, many leg pains originate in the lower back and headaches often develop from neck injuries.

"Educating the public to the need for immediate action is the greatest task of the health care professions in the '70s," Dr. Hogan said.

"We have the modern technology to cure people, if they will only take advantage of it. Even more important, they should mark their calendars and make health examinations an integral part of their daily living schedule."

Bond Sales Increase In Minnesota

Series "E" and "H" bond sales in May increased 20 per cent compared with May, 1970, sales to give Minnesota a 15 per cent increase in total sales so far this year, according to figures released by George Dixon, state volunteer-chairman.

Sales in Pennington county totaled $21,110 in May. Sale of bonds in Marshall county in May was $10,367, while total sales in Polk county were $30,611. Total sales in Red Lake County amounted to $2,270, and total sales in Roseau county were $9,317.

Sale of bonds in Kittson county for May were $25,532, and United States savings bonds worth $9,001 were sold in Lake of the Woods county during May. Total bond sales for the entire state through May totaled $31,367,373.

New Code System Used To Identify Individual Tires

Chairman of the Tire Industry Safety council urges all motorists, tire dealers and distributors to familiarize themselves with the new tire identification and record keeping system and help make it work for safety's sake.

"The system is designed to give added safety benefits to the tire buyer," said Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the council. "In the unlikely event that a defect is discovered later in a certain lot of tires, the manufacturer will be able to notify everyone who bought one of those tires."

The new system of tire identification and record keeping went into effect May 22, under federal law. All tires manufactured after that date must carry a new type serial number which identifies the manufacturing plant, the tire size and type, and the week of manufacture.

The tire retailer is required by law to record the name and address of the person who buys each such tire, along with the new serial number, and return it to the manufacturer. The manufacturer then stores the information for later use, if necessary.

"The full cooperation of everyone in the chain of distribution is absolutely essential to make the system work," Ormsby said. "A great deal of expense and some inconvenience is involved, but it is the law."

The manufacturers have set up elaborate and costly programs, usually with computer help, to handle the huge volume of record keeping. The U.S. industry produces about 200,000,000 passenger car tires a year. Only a very tiny fraction of them have been involved in safety defect investigations.

Record keeping is not required by law for tires manufactured before May 22. As a result, registered and unregistered tires may be sold side by side for some months.

The new serial number will appear on the sidewall of the tire, near the rim of the wheel. It might look like this: DOT WYL9 ABC 201.

"DOT" means the tire meets or exceeds Department of Transportation safety standards. "WY" is the code number assigned by DOT to the manufacturing plant. "L9" is the tire size, in this case G78-14. "ABC" is a group of up to four symbols, optional with the manufacturer, to identify the brand or other significant characteristics of the tire. "201" means the tire was made during the 20th week of 1971.

The Tire Industry Safety council is made up of all U.S. manufacturers of passenger Tires.

Tips Given On Buying Freezer

If you're buying a home freezer to save money, you're on the wrong track.

On the other hand, if you buy a freezer because it's a time-saving convenience, you'll find it will pay off in such dividends, says Mrs. Shirley Munson, food scientist at the University of Minnesota.

Consumers frequently ask Mrs. Munson whether it's best to buy a chest type or an upright, whether a self-defrosting mechanism is a good investment and what size to choose.

The type you buy depends partly on personal preference, Mrs. Munson says. A chest-type freezer will hold more food than an upright, but it takes up more floor space. A chest freezer has the addition advantage of keeping the temperature low if there is a power failure.

An upright freezer will cost more to operate than a chest type, but many people find it more convenient for storing and locating the food. The upright is easier for children to open than the chest type, with the result that sometimes the door is left open and the food begins to defrost. If there is a mechanical failure, the upright will defrost more rapidly than the chest type. All of these factors should be weighed when deciding what type to buy, Mrs. Munson advises.

An automatic defrosting mechanism—more common in the upright than in the chest type—will save the homemaker the messy job of defrosting the freezer, but it also increases the cost of operation and shortens the life of the appliance. Even though the defrosting job is eliminated, the freezer still has to be cleaned at intervals. It is sometimes difficult to keep the temperature of the automatic defrost freezer down to zero degrees.

In deciding upon size, figure on three to five cubic feet per person unless the family is large and you expect to do a great deal of freezing. In that case, you may want eight cubic feet per person, she said.

Apartment dwellers and others with restricted space will usually find combination refrigerator-freezers perfectly satisfactory, Mrs. Munson says.

Sleeping Can Be Fatal If Done While Driving

Last year 215 persons were killed in Minnesota when cars ran off the road. "The question is," says department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund, "how many of these fell asleep at the wheel?"

"We also know, from coroners' reports, that over half the drivers killed had been drinking, and a high percentage of those had very high blood-alcohol levels. So, of the 215 who ran off the road, we can assume that a high number fell asleep from exhaustion or from the effects of too much alcohol.

"All of us who drive have had the experience of sleep pulling our eyes closed. Yet, some people try to fight it, just as a drunk insists upon driving.

"Normally, there are two types of drowsiness, excluding the effects of alcohol or drugs: One springs from a type of hypnotism caused by heat, monotony, lack of distraction. This can be combatted by rest stops, coffee, conversation with another, or by a radio program. It also helps to move the eyes occasionally to relieve the "fixed stare" on the road.

"The other comes from exhaustion and genuine need for sleep. The only cure for this is sleep, whether in a lodging place or in the car. Patrolmen welcome the sight of a driver taking a nap with his car parked safely off the road. They will stop by to see if you're all right. They advise to keep the car doors locked and at least one window open a crack for ventilation.

"But regardless of the type of drowsiness that affects the driver, he should do something positive about it immediately. It takes only a split second for him to leave the road and become a "ran off the road" casualty."

Farmers Using Computer Service In Management

Single most significant change ahead in farming probably won't involve equipment, livestock or seed. Instead, it will involve the way the farmer manages his resources, says Harlow O. Johnson, manager of the Production Credit association (PCA) of Thief River Falls.

Commenting on trends in farming, he said that the farmer of tomorrow will be a better manager because he will have better information on which to base his management decisions. The computer will play an increasingly important role in supplying this kind of information.

Already, the computer is being used to provide more than 4,600 farmers in Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin with financial statements, monthly reports on cash transactions and business analysis reports. Farmers are feeding information extracted from their farming operations into a computer located in St. Paul. The computer organizes and prints all of the reports mentioned previously, and more, on a monthly, semi-annual and annual basis.

From these, a farmer can decide which enterprises are most and least profitable. With this information in hand, he can see quickly which enterprises should be expanded and which should be cut back or eliminated.

The service is called AGRIFAX and is offered to farmers through their farmer-owned PCAs.

While there seems to be no direct correlation between size of farm operation and enrollment in AGRIFAX, there does seem to be greater interest in the service among younger farmers. For instance, 62 per cent of the farmers who are using AGRIFAX are under 50, 31 per cent are from 41 to 50, 34 per cent between 31 and 40. There also seems to be unusually keen interest among dairymen, with 58 per cent of the total AGRIFAX enrollment deriving a substantial part of its income from dairy, followed by crop and livestock operations with 18 per cent of the enrollment.

Once farmers become accustomed to the benefits of having detailed, accurate information on their farms, they stick with it. More than 90 per cent of the farmers who have enrolled in AGRIFAX have enrolled again and again.

Farm income for Minnesota's dairy industry in 1970 was a record $445,811,000, yielded by the sale of 9,473,000,000 pounds of milk.

Insist On Safety Lenses, Suggests State Society

Insist on safety lenses in your eyeglasses and sunglasses, warns the Minnesota Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

It points out that although the U. S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has passed a ruling which requires that all glasses sold in the United States must have impact-resistant lenses, the regulation does not go into effect until December 31. Until that time it is up to the individual to insist that the glasses he buys are made of safety materials.

Lauding the FDA's ruling, the society points out that currently 75 per cent of the Americans who wear glasses are using ordinary crown-glass lenses, accountable for innumerable tragedies when lenses have shattered into blinding slivers upon impact.

The ruling covers sunglasses or tinted lenses sold over-the-counter as well as prescription glasses and calls for lenses made of laminated glass, heat-tempered glass or plastic.

In making the ruling, the FDA noted that the regulation lenses "will not provide an unbreakable shield against eye injury." While providing greater protection than ordinary lenses, the regulated lenses will be impact-resistant but not "shatterproof."

The Minnesota Society, too, warns that the new regulation does not retire present stringent industrial requirements for employee safety eyewear nor the Minnesota law which requires protective eyewear for students and teachers in school lab and shop classes.

The Minnesota Society, in conjunction with the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has actively campaigned for impact-resistant lenses for the general public during the past 15 years.

Extend Sugar Act For Three Years

House Agriculture committee has approved a three-year extension of the sugar act which includes about 60,000 additional acres for sugar beet production during the first year of the program, according to U.S. Representative Bob Bergland.

Bergland said that additional 45,000 to 60,000 acre annual increases could be expected during the final two years of the program.

Bergland, who serves on the agriculture committee, said: "While working on this legislation, my top priority has been to guarantee substantial increases in sugar beet acreage. Now that these increases have been approved, beet growers and processors have the assurances they need to plan and finance the expansion of their industry. It is now up to our growers, processors and communities to take the initiative, and to insure that the industry grows to its fullest potential in the Red River Valley area."

Although foreign sugar quotas were rearranged "to increase the allotments to small, emerging nations" with a sugar producing potential, Bergland said that the ratio between quotas for domestic and foreign producers will remain the same. "This means that domestic producers will provide 7,055,000 tons, or about 62 per cent, of our annual consumption of 11.2 million tons," Bergland said.

Minn. Second In U.S. Sales Of Processed Eggs

Minnesota ranks second in the nation and figures importantly in sharply increased U.S. production and sales of processed egg products, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald announced today.

Processing adds to the value of Minnesota's total egg industry, which grossed the state's poultry farmers $55,479,000 for 1969. (The 1970 egg income figure is not yet available.)

Commissioner Wefald said that in 1970 Minnesota processors produced 79 million pounds of liquid, frozen and dried egg products, representing 11.3 per cent of the federally inspected U.S. output.

This year processed egg production is increasing at more than 20 per cent the comparable month's 1970 volume. In March, the latest report available, national production of egg products topped the same month of 1970 by 25 per cent.

Roy D. Carlson, director of the Minnesota department of agriculture poultry division, estimates that about 20 per cent of Minnesota's total egg production—197 million dozen in 1970—goes into processed egg products.

Minnesota processors also used eggs from Iowa, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin in the estimated 60 million dozen eggs frozen, dried or packaged in liquid form last year.

Processed eggs are growing in acceptance for home consumers, while principal markets are in the baking, confectionery and restaurant food service segments of the food industry and for the U.S. military services. Consumer packages of liquid and frozen eggs have been introduced in retail markets in the last year, supplementing the powdered egg products. Powdered eggs are a major export product because they require no refrigeration.

Propose Highway To Link Duluth, South America

When the Federal Highway Act of 1970 was signed into law earlier this year, among other things, it authorized $100 million in financial support for the Darien Gap project between Panama and Colombia. In commenting on the project, President Nixon said:

"I wish to commend you, Representatives Jim Wright, John Blatnik, John Klucynski and the other members of the House Public Works Committee for your sponsorship and diligent efforts in support of this historic legislation. Completion of the final link in the Pan American Highway system will be an historic symbol of the ties of friendship and solidarity that unite the peoples of the Americas."

Blatnik, Minnesota's congressman from Chisholm, is chairman of the House Public Works committee and was instrumental in getting the Darien Gap project going.

The Pan American Highway System, of which the Darian Gap project is a part has a long history. King Charles V of Spain first ordered it built in the 16th Century.

More than four centuries later, construction of the last segment in the Pan American Highway system, linking the Americas with good road, will be realized.

The last link is the Darian Gap section of Panama and Colombia, a jungle area that until recently was as frustrating to 20th century engineers as it was to the road builders of the Spanish emperor.

The modern conception of the Pan American Highway System was born at the Fifth International Conference of American States in Santiago, Chile, in 1923.

The conference recommended: "That an Automobile Road Conference be held at the time and place which the Governing Board of the Pan American Union may determine, which shall study measures best adapted to developing an efficient program for the construction of automobile highways within the different countries of America, and between such countries."

The first inter-American Highway Conference convened in Panama in 1929 to lay plans for the connecting road between the two continents through Central America.

The signing of the Pan American Highway Convention at the Inter-American Conference for the Maintenance of Peace in Buenos Aires in 1936 marked the first binding agreement entered into by the American Republics for completion of the highway.

By the close of 1940, 62 per cent of the highway between Laredo, Texas, and Panama had been completed. Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile and Argentina had completed, 8,000 miles of paved or all-weather road sections of the system by this time.

The Darien Gap project was formed in 1965 to push planning and construction of the missing link section of the Pan American Highway system in Panama and Colombia.

And when completed, you should be able to drive from the tip of South America, through Central America, and at Laredo, Texas hook onto Interstate 35 which will take you right on to Duluth.

And all of this, with direct involvement from a Minnesotan!

Bacteria Causes Off-Flavor And Odors In Foods

Sometimes milk, raw meat and other highly perishable foods develop strong, fruity odors or undesirable flavors after a few days' storage in the refrigerator.

Psychrophilic bacteria growing in the food in the refrigerator cause this spoilage, Edmund A. Zottola, extension food microbiologist at the University of Minnesota, said.

Psychrophilic bacteria are very heat sensitive and common cooking temperatures will destroy them as will treatments used to pasteurize milk. "The trick is to prevent recontamination after the food has been heated. Make sure that all surfaces or utensils that come in contact with the heated food are clean and sanitary. In the home, utensils washed in a dishwasher are clean and sanitary. If there is no dishwasher, the utensils should be cleaned with warm water and detergent or soap, rinsed with hot water and allowed to air dry," Zottola said.

For more information, see Food Science and Industries Fact Sheet No. 5, "Psychrophilic Bacteria Cause Food Spoilage," available from the Bulletin Room, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

Drivers Required To Report Most Traffic Mishaps

Drivers involved in traffic accidents in Minnesota are required in almost all cases to report those accidents to the department of public safety, W. R. Haaglund, commissioner, reminded motorists today.

An official state accident report must be filed on all accidents involving personal injury or where property damage suffered by all parties totals $100 or more.

"When a reportable accident occurs," he explained, "all parties to the accident must, within 30 days, report it to the department of public safety on official forms provided by the department and available from highway patrol district offices, police departments and sheriffs' departments.

"These reports are required whether or not the accident has been attended by an enforcement officer. Accidents involving personal injury or death must also be reported to local police if they occur in a municipality, or to the sheriff or highway patrol if in a rural area.

The driver involved in an accident, whether reportable or not, is required to stop at once and exchange identifying information with the other driver, or leave a memorandum of such information on the other vehicle if it is unattended, he pointed out. Damages to roadside property, such as highway lighting standards, fences and guard rails, must be considered in determining whether an accident is reportable. In any case, damages to roadside property on state highways must be reported to the highway department and on other roads to the local road authority, by the driver responsible.

The official accident report includes a question about liability insurance. The driver who does not indicate that he is insured becomes involved with the safety responsibility law and is required to file proof of ability to cover possible liability for damages arising out of an accident.

Experiment With Coolant In Tires

Minnesota highway department today received information that testing is being conducted with truck tires utilizing a coolant to preserve their life.

It is well known that heat is one of the prime factors in tire breakdown. To eliminate this problem it is proposed that a coolant which is vaporized by the heat of the tread and then condensed by the cooler steel rim will dissipate a large amount of this heat caused by the friction and flexing of the tire.

Controlled tests indicate that tires using this system have run up to 38 degrees cooler than normal truck tires.

Poultry Growers Are Reminded On Medicated Feed

Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald today called for "a maximum job of self-policing by Minnesota Livestock and poultry producers in the use of medicated feeding rations.

He said the recently disproven charge that some beef products may have contained residues of the growth-promoting feed additive Diethylstilbesterol (DES) "nevertheless has increased consumer and government regulatory scrutiny over the total meat industry.

"Medicated feeds must be used specifically according to label instructions and completely consistent with state and federal regulations for withdrawal prior to sale of livestock and poultry for slaughter," Commissioner Wefald warned.

Government regulations require withdrawal of specified medicated feeds from livestock and poultry a minimum of 48 hours and in some formulas as much as 60 days before slaughter.

Commissioner Wefald said self-policing is vital to Minnesota's economically important livestock and poultry industry, because of the logistics that inhibit total government regulation.

"We aren't funded or staffed to inspect actual feeding operations on more than 100,000 Minnesota livestock and poultry farms, nor do I consider such inspection necessary at this time," Commissioner Wefald stated.

Minnesota department of agriculture does regulate the production, labeling and authorized sale of livestock and poultry feeds within the state to assure compliance with state and federal laws and regulations.

Agronomy services director Gleason Disor reported that nearly 20,000 different livestock and poultry feed formulas are currently registered for sale in Minnesota, by 1,148 different companies, including 654 that are Minnesota based and whose manufacturing facilities are subject to state inspection.

Medicated feeds that must be withdrawn a specified number of days before livestock are slaughtered are principally those containing Diethylstilbesterol, organic arsenic compounds, certain antibiotics and antibiotic-combinations including those containing sulfamethazine, and formulations used as worming medicines.

Minnesota ranks second in the nation in production and sale of manufacturing milk, used in a wide variety of cheese, ice milk, powdered and other low and non-fat food products.

TRF Clobbers Hallock & RLF In Legion Baseball

Rocky Wilson's Thief River Falls American Legion baseball squad upped its season record to 6-2 with a pair of one-sided victories Monday and Tuesday over Red Lake Falls and Hallock.

The squad exploded for 36 runs in the two games with a 16-2 romp over Red Lake Falls in a game away from home Monday evening and coming back for a 20-8 drubbing of Hallock on the fairgrounds diamond Tuesday night.

Thief River Falls stands 2-2 in Northwest Conference action with its next action slated tomorrow night, July 1, on the fairgrounds diamond against East Grand Forks in a 7 p.m. contest.

The local club scored their season-high 20 runs against Hallock on just seven hits in a game played in a continuous rain. Hallock pitching issued a laughable 17 walks Tuesday night, including 10 free passes in the 13 run fourth inning.

Besides the 17 walks, Hallock committed seven errors, had two passed balls, tossed three wild pitches and had six stolen bases against them—all in the fourth inning.

Hallock started the game with a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning when the Thief River Falls infield decided to tag a runner caught in a run-down as the Hallock run scored from third base.

Thief River Falls came back with four runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead. Centerfielder Rob Almquist walked to lead off the inning and went to second on a passed ball. Second baseman Brian Peterson also walked before the first out was recorded on a fielder's choice at third base.

Dale Hanson rapped a hard double to left-center to drive in two runs and first baseman Tom Wurst doubled over the second baseman's head for another score. An error at third enabled Wurst to score his team's fourth run.

Hallock came back with three runs on just one hit in their half of the second inning for a 4-4 ball game which lasted until Thief River Falls scored a single run in the third for a 5-4 lead, which they never relinquished.

Thief River Falls scored their 13 runs in the fourth inning on just two base hits. Hallock pitching gave up 10 walks in the inning, including five in a row at one point. The first eight runs scored in the inning came without the benefit of a base hit.

Almquist, who walked all four times at bat, received the first free pass in the fourth and advanced to third when the catcher's throw to second on a stolen base attempt went into centerfield. Peterson walked and Tom Hanson's easy ground ball back to the pitcher was thrown low, allowing two runs to score and putting Hanson on third with no outs.

Dale Hanson walked and Thief River Falls scored its third run of the inning when Tom Wurst's ground ball to third was thrown high at first. Dale Hanson scored the fourth run from third on a wild pitch before a fielder's choice resulted in the first out of the inning although a run scored on the play.

Five straight walks were issued to Jon Jensen, Pete Sullivan, Almquist, Peterson and Tom Hanson before the second out was recorded on a strike out.

With eight runs already across in the inning, Wurst singled past third for two more scores and Tom Hanson crossed the plate with the 11th run on a wild pitch. Jensen's single to right scored the final two runs of the inning and an 18-4 lead.

Hallock scored four times in the top of the fifth but two runs by Thief River Falls accounted for the 20-8 final. The five-run rule went into effect at that point.

Pete Sullivan went the distance and recorded the win for Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls trounced Red Lake Falls 16-4 behind a nine-hit attack which was aided by 12 walks issued by Red Lake Falls. The two game total for walks by Thief River Falls batters was 29.

Right hander Dale Hanson picked up the win for the local club as he limited Red Lake Falls to four hits, although he did give up six walks in the seven-inning contest.

Thief River Falls scored five times in the first half of the first inning on just one hit. Walks to three of the first four batters set up the scoring for Thief River Falls in the first.

Wurst, the fifth batter in the Thief River Falls line-up, reached base on an error, scoring Almquist for the first run of the game while the second run scored just moments later when Bruce Johnson was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded.

Two runs scored in the top of the second inning for Thief River Falls as Almquist received his second walk and scored on Tom Hanson's single. Hanson scored from third on a passed ball for a 7-0 lead after two innings.

Almquist connected with a two-run homer in the third inning for a 9-0 contest before Red Lake Falls scored a single run in the bottom of the third.

Thief River Falls scored twice in the fourth and erupted for five runs in the top of the sixth for a 16-2 game. Red Lake Falls scored single runs in the sixth and seventh for the final 16-4 count.

State Hunting And Trapping Dates Set

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources today announced details of the fall hunting seasons.

Most significant change from last year's regulations is the closure of the entire state to the hunting of deer with firearms. A bow and arrow deer season is scheduled for western and southern Minnesota, but the "main range" of north central and northeastern Minnesota will be closed to both archery and firearms hunting.

Herbst said so few deer are taken by archery hunters that the impact on the herd in southern and western Minnesota will be minimal.

The archery season will open October 16 and close November 14. There will be no December season this year.

Herbst said careful study was given to opening a portion of the state for firearms hunting to a limited number of hunters selected by drawing.

"It was found, however, that huntable concentrations existed in relatively small widely scattered areas that could accommodate only a few hunters.

"In view of this, it was determined that the benefits of a complete firearms closure outweighed the limited recreational opportunities anticipated."

Minnesota will have its first scheduled bear season this year. The entire state will be open except for a 116 square mile research area in Lake County. The season will run from September 18—October 31.

The limit is one adult bear, cubs are protected. Bear may be hunted with firearms or bow and arrow under the same restriction as usually apply to deer. Bear may not be taken in dens. Hunting is prohibited within a quarter of a mile of a municipal dump.

Dogs may only be used for hunting bear during the legal season in the northeast. This zone will be detailed in the 1971 hunting regulations synopsis. Herbst reminded hunters that the bear are now protected big game animals and that they can be taken only during a legally established season and as authorized by Commissioner's Order.

Hunters will be required to register their bear with state game managers, conservation officers or foresters within 48 hours after being taken.

Game and Fish Director Milo (Mike) Casey said that Minnesota will have a 32 day season for pheasants this year after holding a 16 day season last year. Hunting will again be confined to southern Minnesota.

In this area, the May census showed a 43 per cent increase in the breeding hen population.

The open pheasant area will be south and east of the following line: State Highways 16, 4, 7, and 15, U.S. Highway 12, State Highway 25, U.S. Highways 10 and 169, and State Highway 95.

The limit will be 2 roosters daily and 4 in possession. Hunting hours will be sunrise to sunset except for a noon opening the first day of the season. In recent years, hunting hours have started at 10:00 a.m. after the first day. The change in the daily shooting hours will provide pheasant hunters more hunting opportunity.

Director Casey said that the ruffed grouse season (including spruce grouse) will run from September 18 to November 30 with limits of 5 and 10 (combined). The ruffed grouse populations continue at a high level and the breeding population is the highest in 23 consecutive years. A good season is anticipated.

The past seven winters generally provided good snow roosting conditions for grouse, helping to give the birds protection from severe cold and natural enemies.

Hunting dates for sharptailed grouse will be the same but limits are 4 and 6 and hunting is restricted to a zone north and east of U.S. Highways 2 and 75.

The season on Hungarian partridge will open September 18 in the sharptailed grouse zone and October 30 in the balance of the state. The season will end November 30. Limits are 5 and 6.

Seasons on rabbits and squirrels will open September 25. The squirrel season will close December 31 with limits of 7 and 14. The rabbit season will end March 1, 1972. Limits are 10 and 20.

Minnesota's moose season was announced last week. Waterfowl, woodcock and rail seasons will be announced following receipt of the federal regulations.

Mink and muskrat trapping will be zoned this year. The northeast zone will open October 30 and run through December 5. The zone in the south and western parts of the state will open later on November 6. Mink trapping in this zone will end December 5, but muskrat trapping will be allowed until December 31. A later opening in the south and west will help to improve the primeness of pelts and the longer season will help provide for a better harvest in the more productive muskrat marshes.

The boundary between the two zones is U.S. Highway 2 (starting at Duluth) State Highway 89 and the roads north from Fourtown to Warroad.

Trapping will be allowed in muskrat houses again this year.

Raccoon, badger, fox and wolves (except that the timber wolf is protected in the Superior National Forest) are unprotected and may be taken throughout the year.

Schmidts Scores 4-2 Softball Victory

Schmidts evened their men's fast-pitch softball league record at 2-2 Monday night with a 4-2 extra-inning win over St. Hilaire on the softball diamond.

Schmidts jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning and held the one-point margin until the fifth inning when Drury's triple and Dalager's single to center tied the contest 1-1.

The game remained tied after the regulation seven innings before Schmidts scored the go ahead run in the top of the ninth. However, Dalager's single up the middle evened the score once again in the last of the ninth.

Schmidts pulled out the victory in the top of the tenth on a wild pitch and Noreen's sacrifice fly for two runs and the win.

Melvirs continues to lead the league standings with a perfect 3-0 mark, followed by the VFW and L. B. Hartz with 2-1 records. Schmidts stands in fourth place with a 2-2 won-lost record while St. Hilaire is now 1-3 and Falls Diesel is in the cellar with an 0-3 record.

VFW will take on Falls Diesel tonight (Wednesday) on the softball diamond beginning at 7 p.m.

Tree Farms Needed To Provide Lumber

Thirty years ago this month, a tract of 120,000 acres of young trees in western Washington state were designated as the first American tree farm.

Today, more than 33,000 tree farmers are growing healthy forests on over 72 million acres.

But, according to American Forest Institute, (AFI), that tremendous increase isn't nearly good enough if the nation is to meet future needs for wood.

The institute says this is because the biggest portion of privately owned forest land is not being maintained to insure a future crop of growing trees.

The institute, which manages the American tree farm system on behalf of the forest products industry, points out that nearly 300 million acres of timber are owned by four million individuals, many of whom either can't afford to maintain their forestland or don't have the necessary knowledge.

Certified tree farmers are woodlands owners who have permanently dedicated their land to the growing and harvesting of trees. Tree farmers are encouraged to utilize their timberlands for recreation, watershed protection and scenic values as well.

AFI says that today the nation is growing more trees than it was just a decade ago. AFI states that tree farms have played a significant role in this improving situation.

The institute points out that in 1941, when the first tree farm was established, less wood was being grown on American forests than was being harvested. Today, that situation is reversed. For every eight cubic feet of wood fiber removed by harvesting, nine cubic feet are growing.

AFI says that demand for paper and wood building materials is increasing rapidly and that, despite the emergence of recycling and substitute materials, we will still need to have all our commercial forests scientifically managed in order to insure there will always be enough trees.

More woodlands owners must be convinced of the merits of managing their forest land areas to keep a healthy, thriving forest alive, AFI believes. The tree farm program costs nothing to join, the institute says, and can even make money for the landowner. But since trees are the only renewable natural resource, it is imperative that all the lands be kept as productive as possible for the greatest good of the greatest number of people.

Thirty years of tree farms have shown what we can do, AFI concludes. If we can continue to do as well in the next few years, we won't have nearly the problem, as a nation, in meeting the demand for wood fiber and keeping our forests growing and thriving.

Control of Dutch Elm Disease Is Goal of State

Announcing opening of the Minnesota department of agriculture Dutch Elm disease laboratory for the new season, Commissioner Jon Wefald invites citizens to submit proper samples to help control the rapidly spreading tree killer disease.

He said the department's plant industry division reports many calls indicating confusion this spring on symptoms of Dutch Elm disease because of the unusually heavy seed crop the trees are producing in many areas of the state.

"Care should be taken to examine trees for wilting and flagging that is characteristic of Dutch Elm disease, and only on elm trees," cautions director Clare Floyd.

Laboratory diagnosis is necessary to positively identify the Dutch Elm disease organism. Minnesota department of agriculture makes no charge for this service.

Director Floyd cited these specifications for proper laboratory samples from suspect elm trees:

"Cut four 6-inch sections of wilted branches measuring one-fourth to one-half inch in diameter and showing discoloration in the outer wood. Mail these, wrapped in waxed or heavy paper to prevent heating and drying of the samples, to Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, Division of Plant Industry, 970 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101. Enclose your complete name, address and tree location."

Dep't. Releases Safety Study Of Studded Tires

Minnesota highway department has studied the safety value of studded tires independently and through a special project conducted for it by Cornell aeronautical laboratory, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

The principal advantage of studded tires, as proclaimed by their proponents and by the studded tire industry, is the safety benefits that are claimed for them. The results of the studies by the highway department and by Cornell aeronautical laboratory as well as of similar studies in Canada have led to the conclusion that added safety benefits are slight at best. It is readily admitted that studded tires do have an advantage in providing shorter stopping distances than afforded by unstudded tires for vehicles traveling on icy roads.

The apparent advantage of studs on ice is deceptive when compared with stopping distance for regular tires on bare pavement, because studded tires on rear wheels require about five to six times the stopping distance needed for regular tires on the bare surface. A significant fact is that the application of sand on an icy surface can reduce the stopping distance for regular tires to half of that for studded tires on unsanded ice.

In addition, the application of salt on icy surfaces quickly produces bare pavement with the attendant improved stopping capabilities. On bare pavements, studded tires have no advantage, but require a longer stopping distance which, in fact, constitutes a hazard.

The Cornell aeronautical laboratory study analyzed the effects that various tire types and road conditions have upon involvement of automobiles in sliding accidents.

The study confirmed that on dry pavements studded tires tend to be more dangerous than snow tires.

In addition, troughs worn in the pavement surfaces by the studs create hazardous driving conditions such as concentration of water with resultant splash and possible hydroplaning, lateral displacement of vehicles in traffic lanes, destruction of pavement safety grooving where used for safety reasons on curves, destruction of the original built-in pavement surface texture, and reduced life of pavement lane markings. These conditions exist throughout the year and influence the driving of all motorists.

Trailer Towing Reduces Braking Ability Of Cars

Towing a trailer seriously reduces the braking ability of a passenger car and affects the car's ability to meet Minnesota's legal requirements for deceleration, Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

"Forty miles per hour is the top speed at which all late model cars with well maintained brakes can meet Minnesota's law when carrying four passengers and towing a trailer up to 1,500 pounds. At 50 miles per hour, 56 per cent of the cars fail the requirement and at 65 miles per hour 95 per cent fail. It is obvious that many cars towing trailers travel faster than they should."

With 2,800-pound trailers, which are permitted without brakes in most states, though not in Minnesota, the maximum safe speed for all cars is 35 miles per hour.

"Even without a trailer, 50 miles per hour with four passengers is the maximum speed at which some cars can meet Minnesota requirements, and at 65, only 42 per cent of all cars can meet Minnesota law.

"The comparison emphasizes that among late model cars there is wide variation in braking capacities, and that in all cars the braking performance is substantially changed by the addition of a trailer."

Hoaglund pointed out that with the growing popularity of camper trailers and the use of heavily loaded boat trailers, the hazards of inadequate brakes are becoming serious. "The hazards are increased by the influx of vehicles from other states which do not require brakes on trailers of under 5,000 pounds, but which nevertheless travel at highway speeds. It would appear that many cannot meet Minnesota braking requirements. Minnesota requires brakes on all trailers exceeding 1,500 pounds gross weight.

"For the driver who is in doubt about his own car's braking ability, a good source of information is the tables published by the department of transportation showing the braking capacity of each model of each manufacturer, for the year 1970 and 1971. The model which has limited excess braking capacity should be held to lower speeds while towing a trailer.

"Another rule that should be followed under all circumstances is to keep your trailer load within a reasonable ratio of the weight of the car. The car should not pull a load greater than 40 per cent of the weight of the towing vehicle. Many of the small foreign cars and the compacts do attempt to pull greater loads, at serious cost to their maneuverability and braking capacity."

Boaters on rivers, lakes and the open sea should save their soft drink cans for proper land disposal, urge the people at Pepsi-Cola.

One of nature's mysteries comes alive to these young people participating in a 4-H conservation of natural resources project. Conservation activities are among the most relevant in 4-H today, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H. John Deere supports the program nationally and provides incentives and recognition for more than 300,000 participants.

Dairy Product Volume Shifts In Minnesota

Cheese and powdered milk have joined butter as Minnesota's top volume dairy products, broadening the state's major dairy product mix since World War Two.

While continuing to lead the nation in butter production, Minnesota also has become among the states in powdered milk production since World War Two, according to E. Fred Koller, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota.

Output of powdered milk in Minnesota increased three-fold in 20 years—from 160.4 million pounds in 1950 to 482 million pounds in 1970.

The rapid increase in cheese production is a further indication of the changing dairy product mix of Minnesota plants. Output more than doubled from 1965 to 1970 and 1971 output is likely to be considerably larger as new cheese plants and expanded capacity come into production, Koller said.

Average cheese output per plant in 1970 in Minnesota was 10 million pounds compared with an average of 1.7 million pounds of 507 Wisconsin plants in 1969. "Most of the state's cheese plants are large, modernly equipped and operate very efficiently," he said.

The number of fluid milk plants in the state declined from 235 in 1940 to 63 in 1971 with the move toward larger scale plants. Economies resulting from larger size may lead to further concentration in the number of fluid milk plants in the 1970's, Koller added.

The rapidly increasing volume of Grade A milk in Minnesota is another significant change in the state's dairy industry. Grade A milk accounted for 14 per cent of the state's output in 1962 as compared to 25 per cent in 1970. Output of Grade A milk in the state included about 2.5 billion pounds in 1970 and 1.5 billion pounds in 1962.

Dairy farm returns are increasing gradually with the shift to Grade A milk, since Grade A prices received by farmers average about 50 cents per hundred-weight more than manufacturing grade milk prices.

Also changed in Minnesota's dairy industry is the market organization. In 1969 and 1970, more than 100 of the state's local and smaller regional dairy cooperatives were merged into three large regional cooperations—Associated Milk Producers, Inc., Land O' Lakes, Inc., and Mid-America Dairymen, Inc. With the mergers came the closure of local plants and a shift from plant to milk receiving station status as processing concentrated into fewer, larger plants. These changes are expected to continue in the 1970's, he added.

The merged and greatly revised market organization in the state may incur some problems, but in general it should bring significant net gains to dairy producers. Improved returns for milk are expected to result from the superior bargaining position of the large cooperatives in some fluid milk markets, making it possible to charge dealers higher than federal order prices for milk, Koller said.

"Land of the Noble Free"

Sunday — Proverbs 28:1-5
Monday — Isaiah 6:9-12
Tuesday — Isaiah 28:9-13
Wednesday — Jeremiah 9:12-16
Thursday — Hosea 14:1-9
Friday — Daniel 12:5-13
Saturday — Matthew 15:10-20

It's easy to become enamored of the "woods and templed hills" . . . to fall in love with the "rocks and rills" . . . to hear freedom ringing "from every mountain-side."

But look at the boy in our picture. See him not only silhouetted against a valley in the Great Smokies . . . see him in a Kansas cornfield . . . on a Brooklyn street.

The day has long passed when America could believe that her mountains and prairies were fitting evidence of her greatness.

Even the pride of the historic Pilgrims has little impact on this atomic age.

MEN — they make a nation great!

And this boy is one of them . . . young . . . eager . . . ready for destiny.

He's one of the free—yes! But one of the NOBLE free?

That depends — on the truths we teach him . . . on the Faith we share with him . . . on the part that God, the Author of Liberty, is to have in his life.

Dessert In Good Taste

Sometime soon, be sure that one of your menus includes Mocha Custards in individual custard cups. Made with sweetened condensed milk, this rich and creamy dessert is basically a baked custard with coffee and chocolate added to give a mocha taste. The results are certain to please.

Individual cups guarantee just the right size serving—not too much or too little. Garnish each with ever-popular whipped cream and a candy coffee bean for flair and added flavor.

Mocha Custards
(Makes eight 5-ounce servings)

- 4 (1-oz.) squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1⅓ cups Borden Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
- 1 tablespoon instant coffee, dry form
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups hot water
- 3 eggs, well beaten

In the top of a double boiler, melt chocolate over boiling water. Remove from heat. Blend in condensed milk, coffee and vanilla; mix well. Add hot water. In a medium-size bowl, pour hot chocolate mixture over eggs; stir until well blended. Pour mixture into eight 5-ounce custard cups. Set custard cups into a deep pan; fill pan with hot water to the depth of the custard. Bake in a slow (325°F.) oven, about 45 minutes or until firm. If desired, garnish with whipped cream.

"There are not many situations more incessantly uneasy than that in which the man is placed who is watching an opportunity to speak, without courage to take it." —Samuel Johnson

Lost Meeting

Monday night's session of the Thief River Falls board of education was the last meeting as members for Dr. George Martin, Mervin Prestebak and Charles Samuelson and for Supt. Lloyd M. Johnson. When the board reorganizes for the new year Thursday evening, three new members and a new superintendent will be directly involved in the direction of school affairs.

Dr. Martin has served two full terms on the board, and during those six years has seen school enrollment grow to cause existing buildings to spread at the seams. He served as chairman of the board at one time and was an eloquent spokesman in relating board action, policy and position to other groups or individuals.

Mervin Prestebak was appointed to the board four years ago and then elected to serve a three-year term which he is now completing. He served as board chairman this year in one of the most complex, frustrating and pressure-packed years in local school board history. Through it all his regard for the tax-payers' dollars was evident in his words and actions.

Charles Samuelson is completing his three-year term on the board. High on his list of priorities has been equal opportunity for all students in all schools, the best possible education in preparation for post high school years and safety of students as they go to and from school as well as in school.

Dr. Martin and Prestebak decided to call it quits this year and did not seek reelection. Samuelson was defeated in his bid for reelection in the largest school election ever held in the district—one in which the election judges actually ran out of ballots and had to prepare facsimilies.

Each of these men has made a valuable contribution to the continuation of quality education in School District 564 and is deserving of commendation by its residents. The hours were long, the times often inconvenient, the sacrifices many, the personal abuse disappointing and the financial return a net loss by more than a few dollars. All have looked past these side effects to the wider horizon of teaching children, and this is worthy of thanks.

New board members Edgar Naplin of St. Hilaire, Curtis L. Charlson and Rev. Paul Blegner of Thief River Falls will take positions on the board at the reorganizational meeting Thursday. We have no doubts that they will carry on in the tradition continued by their predecessors, and all have been attending board meetings since their election.

Supt. Lloyd Johnson left Tuesday morning for LaCrescent where he will assume a new superintendency, and undoubtedly new situations and new problems. Lloyd was strong on accountability and devoted much of his efforts to developing accounting procedures which would enable the board and administration to keep closer watch on expenditures. He demanded justification for expenditures and he kept the board in close contact with situations which occurred in the schools. We found him easy to work with as a news source and an individual and are pleased to have had the opportunity to know him.

Dr. William Corliss will now step into the superintendency and bring his experience with him to this district. We look forward to working with him in reporting action of the board and activities in the schools in the future.

Changes For Drivers

As a result of legislative action (yes, there was some action) this session, some specific changes will be in effect for drivers in Minnesota. Some of the changes will not go into effect until 1972, but it will take some time to become accustomed to them.

About a year from now—on July 1, 1972—drivers will be able to make a right turn (after a stop) on a red signal unless there is a sign specifically prohibiting such a turn on red. Under the present law, right turns are permitted only where a sign specifically says they are. We have one such intersection in Thief River Falls.

Beginning July 1, 1972, a new driver's license form will go into effect. Drivers getting their first license or having their license renewed will get one with a colored photograph. The license itself will be almost impossible to alter or forge in any way. A simple eye test will be given before renewal is granted for any age applicant, and persons with a vision problem will be asked to have it corrected before a new license is issued. Oh yes, the new license will cost $5 for four years instead of the current $3 for the same time.

When you buy your next car you will get a certificate of title which will be proof of ownership of the vehicle. If you have a mortgage on the car, the certificate of title will show that it is encumbered. If it's completely paid for, the certificate will show that there is no lien on it. The certificate is hoped to be a deterrend to car thieves and to sales of automobiles where the buyer unknowingly purchases a vehicle that is not really owned free and clear by the seller.

The "baggie bill" allows an officer to make a preliminary on-the-spot screening test of a person he suspects to be driving while under the influence of alcohol. The law makes .10 per cent of blood-alcohol content illegal, while under previous law .10 per cent was only prima facie evidence that the person was under the influence.

A driver—unless involved in an accident—can refuse to take the on-the-spot test as well as the regular drunkometer test at the station. If he refuses both tests, however, he loses his license for six months. Futhermore, a driver must be tested if he is in an accident and the officer on the scene has reason to believe that the driver is under the influence.

In general, we think the laws are probably good ones. The drinking driver is a menace on the highways and abuses his driving privilege. Anything which law can accomplish to keep the drinking driver off the road is good for everyone—including the driver himself.

Seasons Announced

Somewhat surprising to us, Minnesota conservation officials stuck to their earlier announcement and agreed that there shall be no firearms deer season in Minnesota this year. Hunting seasons announced by the department of natural resources this week indicate the statewide closed season.

We had fully expected the closing to be in effect in northeast Minnesota, but some type of restricted season elsewhere. From the reports we get, deer are plentiful in this northwest corner and further north and east into the Williams and Baudette area. We would strongly suspect that deer populations are as good as any other year in the more agriculturally-oriented areas to the south. Likely the decision to close the entire state was a bit of face-saving by the department's upper echelon, having announced the closing earlier.

In trade, the department gave the most liberal grouse season in a number of years. Sharptail and ruffed grouse seasons will open on September 18 and remain open until November 30. The hardy hunters will welcome this announcement, for it permits grouse hunting in the chilly weather when many, probably most, less hardy hunters have retired to their armchairs and television.

Pheasant hunters will also be given a chance for the gaudy-colored roosters in the southern area of the state. That season will run for 32 days with sunrise to sunset hours after a noon opening October 30. Daily and possession limits will be two and four.

Waterfowl seasons have not been announced, but we would suspect a point system is probably in the offing. The system would assign fewer points to the more plentiful species and to drakes in other species, with each hunter given a daily quota of total points for a bag limit. Proponents say it would encourage proper identification before shooting. We think it would encourage hunters to stomp a lot of "mistake" ducks into the mud. Time will tell about the waterfowl situation.

As for upland hunters, however, the department of natural resources has been exceedingly kind to us. Personally, we are tickled pink.

Department of Economic Development

A remarkable thing about important historic and archeological finds is that many are the result of happy chance.

Such as the discovery of the oldest known skeleton in America, found in 1931 near Pelican Rapids.

On a sunny June day that year, a highway crew was digging a road cut and exposed a shiny white shell. Further digging—by hand, this time—revealed a human skull, a broken tool made from an elk antler, and a marine shell pendant.

The men called Professor Albert Jenks at the University of Minnesota, who eventually recovered more than 300 additional bone fragments from the site. The reconstructed skeleton is now famous as "Minnesota Man."

Minnesota Man was really a teen-aged girl who accidentally drowned in Glacial Lake Pelican, a prehistoric lake bed adjoining that of Lake Agassiz. General estimates of her age hover around the 11,000 year mark.

Soon Minnesota Man will be exhibited in the Otter Tail County Historical Society's museum to be built at Fergus Falls. At present, it occupies a prominent area at the State Historical Society in St. Paul.

Another famous Minnesota skeleton turned up in 1933 when William Jensen, an amateur archeologist, noticed bone fragments in a load of gravel brought to his elevator from the Browns Valley municipal gravel pit.

Another call was made to Professor Jenks, who recovered the skeleton of an adult male plus various spear points and other artifacts. The age of Browns Valley Man is estimated to 6000 to 8000 years.

Similar happy accidents have resulted in the discoveries of other fabulous finds, such as the Kensington Runestone and, most recently, the Chokio Stone.

So when you're poking around in your garden, don't throw away those funny stones and bones. Something more interesting than rhubarb might be nearby.

- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup toasted wheat germ
- ⅔ cup California seedless raisins
- ½ cup butterscotch chips

Blend together butter, sugar, egg and vanilla. Add flour re-sifted with baking powder and salt. Mix well. Stir in wheat germ, raisins and butterscotch chips. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheets, about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderately hot oven (375°F) 10 to 12 minutes, until browned. Let stand a minute, then remove to racks to cool. Makes about 3½ dozen cookies.

Specialist Says Figure Cost Per Serving For Meat

Consumers who reject meat with bones removed because of the product's per pound purchase cost are overlooking an important consideration, according to Richard J. Epley, extension meat specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Boneless products are usually slightly higher in per pound purchase cost than meat with bones due to labor involved in removing bones. But there is little difference in the per pound serving cost of boneless meat as compared with meat with the bone left in, Epley said.

When buying meat, purchase one-half to one pound per serving per person for bone-in meat and one-third to one-half pound per serving for boneless meat.

Flavor differs little in boneless and bone-in products except where moist heat is used in cooking, as in the case of a pot roast, Epley added.

Another common misconception is that once frozen meat is thawed it cannot be re-frozen. There's nothing wrong with freezing, thawing and refreezing, but it may affect tenderness and some juices and water soluble constituents may be lost in the process, Epley said.

When freezing meats, use aluminum freezer foil or some other moisture-proof and oxygen-proof wrapping. Wrap the meat tightly, since air that enters the package allows moisture to be drawn from the meat's surface and results in a condition known as "freezer burn". When "freezer burn" occurs, meat turns white and is tough and tasteless.

Fresh beef can be kept up to nine months; pork, six months; and processed items, such as bacon, ham (cured and smoked) and frankfurters, one to two months.

It's best to thaw out frozen meat in the refrigerator or cook it frozen rather than thawing it out uncovered on the kitchen table. Although it takes longer to thaw out meat in the refrigerator, less moisture is lost and the product will be juicier this way than leaving it on the table, Epley said.

If meat is not frozen after bringing it home from the market, keep it in the coldest part of the refrigerator. If not used immediately meat can be kept in the refrigerator until it starts to turn brown, then it ought to be prepared or frozen. When storing meat above freezing temperatures, it's best to leave it in the store wrapper, he said.

Average Cost Of Hospital Care Is $81.01 Per Day

Cost of providing care for one hospital patient for one day in 1970 was $81.01, the American Hospital association reported today. This represents a 15.7 per cent increase over 1969.

Reports from the nation's 5,859 community hospitals showed total expenses at a new high of $19.6 billion. In 1969, the expenses totaled $16.6 billion. The complete report on trends in hospital utilization, personnel and finances will be contained in the annual Guide Issue of Hospitals, Journal of the American Hospital Association, which is published August 1.

Hospitals are feeling the inflated state of the national economy, according to Edwin L. Crosby, M.D., executive president of AHA.

"The inflationary spiral of the nation's economy has played a large part in the rise of hospital costs," Dr. Crosby said. "Everything hospitals buy costs more than it did a year ago, and wages and salaries continue to increase."

Payroll expense in hospitals continued an upward trend that started in 1961. Community hospitals reported $11.4 billion paid in wages and salaries in 1970, a 16.4 per cent increase over the $9.8 billion figure in 1969.

The 7,123 registered by AHA reported a total of 2,537,000 employees. The community hospital category listed 1,929,000 employees for a new high of 292 employees per 100 patients.

The 1970 occupancy rate for community hospitals showed a small drop from 78.8 per cent (in 1969) to 78 per cent (in 1970). Average length of stay decreased one-tenth of a day from 8.3 days to 8.2 days.

Budget Set For Bemidji State College

Minnesota state college board last Monday approved a budget of $6,849,684 for Bemidji state college, of which $4,814,300 is appropriated by the Minnesota legislature. Some $1,848,042 comes from tuition and fees and $187,342 is from reimbursements.

In addition to regular budget items awarded by state board formula, the Bemidji state college budget included an allotment of $45,500 for the operation of the laboratory school and teacher education.

This insures the college laboratory school of having 12 faculty positions in the kindergarten through the sixth grade and in specialized positions. The allocation of supplies and equipment for the laboratory school will be made on the basis of the number of pupils in attendance.

The budget also included $15,000 for small improvement projects which will be made through the college maintenance department.

Projects planned by and under the supervision of the state architect will be the air conditioning of the book store and post office area in Memorial hall at a cost of $16,000, repainting the tresses of the roof deck in the field house, $6,000 and replacement of stairs in Sattgast hall, $5,000.

The $400,000 allocated to the entire six-college system by the Minnesota legislature for academic innovations for the first year of the biennium was not allotted individual colleges at the meeting.

In other board action, it authorized members of the chancellor's office to work with individual colleges on a "delayed fee and tuition payment plan for veterans and other students on federal programs". Currently these students pay fees and tuition in advance, as do other students.

One idea presented Monday would have the veteran or student on a federal program pay one fourth of his fees in advance and the remainder as his monthly checks arrived.
